Soviets Charge U. S. Navy Fired Dummy Shells at Their Ships

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union charged today three U.S. warships fired dummy shells at a Russian fishing vessel last Friday in international waters about 70 miles east of Norfolk, Va.

A protest to Washington asserted two cruisers and a destroyer fired on the refrigerator trawler in "an act of sheer wantonness which could have grave consequences."

The U.S.S.R. government regards this shelling as a gross violation of generally accepted international law standards and of the principles of freedom of navigation in the open sea," an announcement by the Soviet news agency Tass declared.

The Russians said the trawler was engaged in fishing on the

$1.1 Million Libel Suit Against GT Is Dismissed

DENVER (AP)—A $1.1 million libel suit against the Colorado Springs Gazette-Telegraph was ordered dismissed Tuesday by a federal district court judge.

U.S. Dist. Judge Hatfield Chilson issued a direct verdict in favor of the newspaper after both sides had submitted evidence.

The suit was filed by Orvis Lee Houk, of Manitou Springs, and centered about his claim to be a grandson of Jesse James the famous Western outlaw. Houk said in his suit that the original James faked his own murder in 1882 and didn't die until 1951 at the age of 107.

Houk was absent from the trial, but his attorney, Robert E. McLean, introduced copies of the newspaper articles which he said exposed the plaintiff to "public contempt, ridicule and embarrassment."

J. Hartley Murray, the defense attorney, placed a psychiatrist on the stand who testified that he felt Houk was "mentally ill." Murray told the court that the newspaper articles were not false and did not damage Houk's reputation.

Houk still has a suit pending in Federal District Court at Albuquerque, N. M. The action is against a Santa Clara Pueblo Indian, Joe Suazo.

Houk says Suazo is withholding 14½ gold bars worth $600,000. He claims the gold belonged to James, the outlaw, and now belongs to him.

Suazo denies any knowledge of the gold.

No Danger Seen Immediately of Closing Carson

The plan to lease 350 homes in the area for use by U.S. Army personnel could cause some worry here, it was explained Tuesday night.

Gen. John A. Heintges, commanding general of Ft. Carson and the 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) mentioned that fact in a talk to the members of the Home Builders Association of Metropolitan Colorado Springs.

The general said that there has been a plan to build 280 permanent homes on the post, but that he does not know what will happen to that plan now that the Army is going to lease 350 more homes.

He pointed out that when the Defense Department asks the Army to make periodic checks of its installations to see which ones can be closed, the number of permanent housing units on a post helps determine the decision.

A post with a great amount of permanent housing is more likely to be retained than one with little permanent housing, he explained.

However, the general said he saw no immediate danger that Ft. Carson would be closed.

He said the climate and area here are good for operating troop training programs and that he had been one of the Army officers who had toured the country checking on installations a few years ago to determine which places should be kept in operation by the Army.

At that time, the Ft. Carson was one of the places selected for retention, he explained.

More Flexibility Seen in Army's Organization Plan

The Army's new ROAD concept for organization of its fighting divisions is a vast improvement over the Pentomic division theory which it replaces, members of the Home Builders Association of Metropolitan Colorado Springs were told Tuesday night.

The speaker was Maj. Gen. John A. Heintges, commanding general of Ft. Carson and the 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized).

He spoke to the home builders at their March meeting held in the Colorado Springs Country Club.

The 5th Division was one of two divisions which the Army used for experimental purposes in designing and perfecting the new ROAD concept, he pointed out.

ROAD stands for Reorganization Objective Army Division.

Sunday Closing Bill Killed in House Action

DENVER (UPI)— A legislative committee of the Colorado House of Representatives Tuesday voted unanimously to table indefinitely, and thus kill, a Sunday closing bill.

The action, which ended one of the most controversial questions before the 1963 Legislature, was before the State Business Affairs Committee for less than one minute. Monday, the committee sat and listened as scores of citizens spoke for or against the measure at a public hearing.

The bill would have forced certain businesses to close on Sunday.

Backers and opponents spent voluminous amounts of money trying to influence the lawmakers regarding the bill, which went unintroduced for a long period at the beginning of the legislative session.

Rep. John Kane, D-Northglenn, finally introduced the bill.

Following the committee's action Tuesday, Kane predicted the Sunday closing issue, also termed a Blue Law, would be taken before the people and be passed.

"After the general public gets a chance to vote on it, it'll win," Kane said.

The chairman of the Business Affairs Committee, Rep. Clarence Quinlan, R-Antonito, called for discussion as the committee took up the subject. There was a silence, and Rep. Vincent Massari, D-Pueblo, called for a vote on the tabling motion.

President Sees Downturn Unless Taxes Are Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said today the economy will face "downturn and and disaster" if Congress rejects proposed tax cuts, slashes the budget and puts a tight lid on the national debt.

In a significant attempt to broaden current debate over economic policy, Kennedy argued that tax cuts alone cannot insure the success of his ideas for juicing up the economy. He said it also

Floods Leave 30,000 Homeless in Kentucky

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Water rationing begins in Harlan, Ky., today as devastating floods and deadly tornadoes left more than 30,000 persons homeless in the South and property damage in the millions.

Seventeen persons were dead and six others missing. Twelve of the deaths were attributed to floods, and five to tornadoes.

A flash flood—one of several caused by torrential rain — knocked out the pumping station at Harlan about noon Tuesday, leaving the city and outlying communities without water.

Civil defense director Bill Haight made arrangements to truck water from fresh wells on a hillside and from a soft drink plant at nearby Baxter if the plant could distill river water for drinking.

Schools were closed in Harlan County and gasoline was limited to emergency vehicles. Many persons were trying to clean up the slime and mud.

An elderly miner said the flood water came as a surprise. "Lordy, we didn't hear no noise but here we are back in this mess again."

He was one of those who went through the 1957 flood which caused five deaths and more than $50 million in damages.

The American Red Cross opened disaster headquarters in Huntington, W. Va., to direct work in flood-stricken sections of Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia.

Southeastern area Red Cross workers helped cope with conditions created by widely scattered tornadoes and some flooding in portions of Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee.

The Red Cross said the twisters affected at least 58 families in Mississippi, 510 in Alabama and 472 in Tennessee. The tornado deaths occurred in those states Monday.

Major damage in Kentucky was caused by the flooding Big Sandy, Cumberland and Kentucky rivers. The swirling waters forced more than 25,000 persons to flee their homes.

Lt. Gov. Wilson W. Wyatt asked President Kennedy to designate 20 mountain counties as disaster areas. Helicopters were used to

Well-Dressed Bandit Robs Store of $115

A well-dressed bandit robbed a novelty shop of $115 Tuesday and forced the woman clerk to partially disrobe before he was frightened off by her screams.

Mrs. Rosemary Fisher, 3025 Drakestone Dr., told police the man took only the cash from the Ru-Jan Party Shop, 2223 N. Weber, and her billfold which contained $30.

Her description of the bandit matches that of the man who robbed Danny's Liquors, 2 S. Cascade, March 6 and escaped with $105 in cash.

Mrs. Fisher told police the man came in about 1 p.m. and began looking around the store. When asked if she could help him, the man replied that he "was just looking."

A short time later, another customer entered the store and the man left. He returned about 10 minutes later. The customer left and Mrs. Fisher said she answered the phone.

When she hung up, she said the man was standing right beside her with his hand in his right overcoat pocket.

"Get back quick," she said the man told her. "Get a sack quick and open the cash register."

Mrs. Fisher said the man ordered her to "take out the money and put it in a sack." He told her to forget the checks and silver. The man took the sack from her and ordered her to the rear of the store, Mrs. Fisher said.

On the way, he told her to stop and she said she heard him opening the drawers of a desk. He then ordered her into the storeroom at the rear of the shop and told her to hand over her bill-

Red Mountain Snow Slides to Be Shot Down

OURAY, Colo. (UPI)—Highway department crews planned new attempts today to shoot down potential snowslides on Red Mountain Pass where the bodies of two sisters have been entombed since March 3.

The search for the bodies was temporarily discontinued Tuesday because of a blinding snowstorm. The storm dumped heavy snow on the pass, forcing the State Patrol to close it to automobile traffic at 4:30 p.m. It still was closed at mid-morning today.

The patrol said whether the search for the bodies of Amelia Hudson, 17, and Pauline Hudson, 11, would be resumed today depended on whether crews were successful in shooting down the slides.

The bodies of the girls are believed buried in a car under the mass of snow and ice. The car and their father, the Rev. Marvin Hudson of Ouray, were swept off

'No Substitute for Printed Word,' News Prober Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., today opened an inquiry into the news industry with a pledge to seek ways "to protect, and if need be, expand our free market place for the exchange of news and ideas."

He said new antitrust exemptions for newspapers might be one such step.

Celler, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and its antitrust subcommittee, called Chairman Newton N. Minow of the Federal Communications Commission as the first witness.

Celler said while he believed "there is simply no substitute for the printed word" to inform and comment on current events, radio and television "form a part of our market place of news and views."

"Where local newspaper monopolies exist, broadcast stations can offer some variety of voices within a community," he said. "All the more reason, therefore, for the subcommittee to consider the extent and effect of cross-ownership by newspapers of broadcast stations."

He said such ownership "is not necessarily evil," and may be the means of keeping a competitive newspaper alive. But he said it also could act to block "the free flow of news and ideas" if the single newspaper in a community owns the only broadcast station.

Celler, in his opening statement, emphasized his intention to restrict the investigation to the economics of the industry.

"I have said before and I repeat here and now, we shall shun any form of censorship like the very plague, nor will we in any way undertake to judge the content of any newspaper," he said.

"It is the purpose of these hearings to find ways to protect, and if need be, expand our free market place for the exchange of news and ideas."

Celler said "our concern is with the proper application of the antitrust laws to the preservation of newspaper competition and our

Maytag, Faricy Compete for Top State Demo Post

The two leading candidates bucking for Colorado Democratic chairman locked horns in the Antlers Hotel Tuesday evening before 50 county Young Democrats of all ages. One of them will be elected to the post at the state convention later this month.

Pueblo automobile dealer Roland Faricy, 36, said that he viewed the job he seeks not as a "limelighted, policy pronouncing office" but as an organizational and promotional endeavor. Faricy had announced his candidacy the same day that incumbent Fred M. Betz, Lamar newspaper publisher, said he would not seek reelection.

Betz is now in the race for Democratic national committeeman.

Robert Maytag, 31, a rancher and mayor of Woodland Park, urged the appointment of a professional public relations man who could develop the image of the party and adequately advertise the "irresponsibility" of the Republicans.

Maytag, who announced his candidacy Monday, sought the same office two years ago, but ran second to Betz in a field of six. He served as chairman of the Kennedy birthday party at the Broadmoor last year.

Faricy saw his role as "mar-

State Democrat Chairman to Face Big Test in 1966

By GLEN URBAN

Robert Maytag, Woodland Park mayor and a rancher, and Roland Faricy, Pueblo auto dealer, are contesting for a job that ought to last for about two years, and maybe longer.

Fred M. Betz, Lamar newspaper publisher, held the job for about two years, but the Democratic misfortune last fall spelled the end of his job.

State chairmen are like baseball managers — when they get beaten badly, they have to go, and last fall's Republican sweep was a cinch to make Betz into an elder statesmen in the party.

Betz had the misfortune to be caught in the middle with other Democrats last year. Gov. Stephen L. R. McNichols ran his own campaign for reelection, U.S. Sen. John A. Carroll ran his own independent campaign for reelection, and Betz had to try to run the rest.

McNichols got beat, Carroll got beat, and generally speaking so did the rest of the Democrats in the state, with the Republicans grabbing healthy working majori-

Slow Sailing Seen for Red Troops as They Leave Cuba

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

U.S. sources said today Soviet troops are leaving Cuba at a relatively slow pace with only two days to go for Premier Khrushchev to honor his pledge to President Kennedy that "several thousand" would depart by mid-March.

In Moscow, the Communist party newspaper Pravda said the fourth ship carrying specialists who had been training Cubans in "powerful, up-to-date Soviet military techniques" sailed for home Sunday. It did not say how many were in Sunday's contingent or how many have left altogether.

This is the first time any such departure story has appeared in the Soviet press, indicating the beginning of a propaganda buildup.

The New York Times news service, in a Washington dispatch, said 560 Soviet servicemen sailed from Havana last Saturday on the Soviet liner Gruzia (Georgia), an 11,030-ton Black Sea cruise ship.

The Times said that the Admiral Nakhimov, the 15,000-ton Berlin taken from Germany after World War II, is due in Havana today to pick up more troops. It might take as many as 4,300.

Pravda's dispatch from Havana said that the jobs of the specialists who sailed Sunday were finished, and that Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government had agreed that the Soviet experts could go home.

U.S. experts in Washington estimated there were 11,300 Soviet military personnel in Cuba when the withdrawals began. This was 5,000 fewer than believed stationed there at the height of the Cuban crisis last October.

The Soviet liner Baltika, which brought Khrushchev to New York in 1960, sailed Feb. 21 with an unspecified number of soldiers and airmen aboard.

Havana dispatches said 2,000 sailed on a ship which reporters were forbidden to identify March 1. Washington was skeptical of the figure, but U.S. officials said it is difficult to count men aboard by aerial reconnaissance. This ship probably was the Kalinin, another cruise vessel.

President Kennedy told his news conference March 6 he was not satisfied with the withdrawal rate, but this apparently has been stepped up.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Tuesday the United States will continue to press for more troop withdrawals. He said a "complete report" will not be issued until after the middle of the month.

Rusk also told the National Advertising Council there are still "some highly dangerous elements in the Cuba situation today."

He listed them as:

1. The possibility the Soviets would send offensive weapons back to Cuba. This, he said, would bring on a new crisis far greater than last October's.

2. Any interference with the daily U.S. surveillance of Cuba.

3. Any Soviet military action against Cubans.

4. Any forays from Cuba against neighboring countries.

Bromley Oxnam Retired Methodist Bishop, Dies

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, retired Methodist bishop, died Tuesday night.

Bishop Oxnam, who held posts in Washington, New York, Boston and Omaha, was one of the first presidents of the World Council of Churches. He died at the Burke Rehabilitation Foundation here.

Bishop Oxnam also was president of De Pauw University, Greencastle, Ind., prior to his election as bishop in 1936.

Death followed complications from surgery last December, a spokesman for the Methodist church said.

Red Mountain Snow Slides to Be Shot Down

OURAY, Colo. (UPI)—Highway department crews planned new attempts today to shoot down potential snowslides on Red Mountain Pass where the bodies of two sisters have been entombed since March 3.

The search for the bodies was temporarily discontinued Tuesday because of a blinding snowstorm. The storm dumped heavy snow on the pass, forcing the State Patrol to close it to automobile traffic at 4:30 p.m. It still was closed at mid-morning today.

The patrol said whether the search for the bodies of Amelia Hudson, 17, and Pauline Hudson, 11, would be resumed today depended on whether crews were successful in shooting down the slides.

The bodies of the girls are believed buried in a car under the mass of snow and ice. The car and their father, the Rev. Marvin Hudson of Ouray, were swept off

'No Substitute for Printed Word,' News Prober Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., today opened an inquiry into the news industry with a pledge to seek ways "to protect, and if need be, expand our free market place for the exchange of news and ideas."

He said new antitrust exemptions for newspapers might be one such step.

Celler, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and its antitrust subcommittee, called Chairman Newton N. Minow of the Federal Communications Commission as the first witness.

Celler said while he believed "there is simply no substitute for the printed word" to inform and comment on current events, radio and television "form a part of our market place of news and views."

"Where local newspaper monopolies exist, broadcast stations can offer some variety of voices within a community," he said. "All the more reason, therefore, for the subcommittee to consider the extent and effect of cross-ownership by newspapers of broadcast stations."

He said such ownership "is not necessarily evil," and may be the means of keeping a competitive newspaper alive. But he said it also could act to block "the free flow of news and ideas" if the single newspaper in a community owns the only broadcast station.

Celler, in his opening statement, emphasized his intention to restrict the investigation to the economics of the industry.

"I have said before and I repeat here and now, we shall shun any form of censorship like the very plague, nor will we in any way undertake to judge the content of any newspaper," he said.

"It is the purpose of these hearings to find ways to protect, and if need be, expand our free market place for the exchange of news and ideas."

Celler said "our concern is with the proper application of the antitrust laws to the preservation of newspaper competition and our

Maytag, Faricy Compete for Top State Demo Post

The two leading candidates bucking for Colorado Democratic chairman locked horns in the Antlers Hotel Tuesday evening before 50 county Young Democrats of all ages. One of them will be elected to the post at the state convention later this month.

Pueblo automobile dealer Roland Faricy, 36, said that he viewed the job he seeks not as a "limelighted, policy pronouncing office" but as an organizational and promotional endeavor. Faricy had announced his candidacy the same day that incumbent Fred M. Betz, Lamar newspaper publisher, said he would not seek reelection.

Betz is now in the race for Democratic national committeeman.

Robert Maytag, 31, a rancher and mayor of Woodland Park, urged the appointment of a professional public relations man who could develop the image of the party and adequately advertise the "irresponsibility" of the Republicans.

Maytag, who announced his candidacy Monday, sought the same office two years ago, but ran second to Betz in a field of six. He served as chairman of the Kennedy birthday party at the Broadmoor last year.

Faricy saw his role as "mar-

President Sees Downturn Unless Taxes Are Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said today the economy will face "downturn and and disaster" if Congress rejects proposed tax cuts, slashes the budget and puts a tight lid on the national debt.

In a significant attempt to broaden current debate over economic policy, Kennedy argued that tax cuts alone cannot insure the success of his ideas for juicing up the economy. He said it also

More Flexibility Seen in Army's Organization Plan

The Army's new ROAD concept for organization of its fighting divisions is a vast improvement over the Pentomic division theory which it replaces, members of the Home Builders Association of Metropolitan Colorado Springs were told Tuesday night.

The speaker was Maj. Gen. John A. Heintges, commanding general of Ft. Carson and the 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized).

He spoke to the home builders at their March meeting held in the Colorado Springs Country Club.

The 5th Division was one of two divisions which the Army used for experimental purposes in designing and perfecting the new ROAD concept, he pointed out.

ROAD stands for Reorganization Objective Army Division.

Slow Sailing Seen for Red Troops as They Leave Cuba

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

U.S. sources said today Soviet troops are leaving Cuba at a relatively slow pace with only two days to go for Premier Khrushchev to honor his pledge to President Kennedy that "several thousand" would depart by mid-March.

In Moscow, the Communist party newspaper Pravda said the fourth ship carrying specialists who had been training Cubans in "powerful, up-to-date Soviet military techniques" sailed for home Sunday. It did not say how many were in Sunday's contingent or how many have left altogether.

This is the first time any such departure story has appeared in the Soviet press, indicating the beginning of a propaganda build-up.

The New York Times news service, in a Washington dispatch, said 560 Soviet servicemen sailed from Havana last Saturday on the Soviet liner Gruzia (Georgia), an 11,030-ton Black Sea cruise ship.

The Times said that the Admiral Nakhimov, the 15,000-ton Berlin taken from Germany after World War II, is due in Havana today to pick up more troops. It might take as many as 4,500.

Pravda's dispatch from Havana said that the jobs of the specialists who sailed Sunday were finished, and that Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government had agreed that the Soviet experts could go home.

U.S. experts in Washington estimated there were 17,500 Soviet military personnel in Cuba when the withdrawals began. This was 5,000 fewer than believed stationed there at the height of the Cuban crisis last October.

The Soviet liner Baltika, which brought Khrushchev to New York in 1960, sailed Feb. 21 with an unspecified number of soldiers and airmen aboard.

Havana dispatches said 2,000 sailed on a ship which reporters were forbidden to identify March 1. Washington was skeptical of the figure, but U.S. officials said it is difficult to count men aboard by aerial reconnaissance. This ship probably was the Kalinin, another cruise vessel.

President Kennedy told his news conference March 6 he was not satisfied with the withdrawal rate, but this apparently has been stepped up.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Tuesday the United States will continue to press for more troop withdrawals. He said a "complete report" will not be issued until after the middle of the month.

Rusk also told the National Advertising Council there are still "some highly dangerous elements in the Cuba situation today."

He listed them as:

1. The possibility the Soviets would send offensive weapons back to Cuba. This, he said, would bring on a new crisis far greater than last October's.

2. Any interference with the daily U.S. surveillance of Cuba.

3. Any Soviet military action against Cubans.

4. Any forays from Cuba against neighboring countries.

State Democrat Chairman to Face Big Test in 1966

By GLEN URBAN

Robert Maytag, Woodland Park mayor and a rancher, and Roland Faricy, Pueblo auto dealer, are contesting for a job that ought to last for about two years, and maybe longer.

Fred M. Betz, Lamar newspaper publisher, held the job for about two years, but the Democratic misfortune last fall spelled the end of his job.

State chairmen are like baseball managers — when they get beaten badly, they have to go, and last fall's Republican sweep was a cinch to make Betz into an elder statesmen in the party.

Betz had the misfortune to be caught in the middle with other Democrats last year. Gov. Stephen L. R. McNichols ran his own campaign for reelection, U.S. Sen. John A. Carroll ran his own independent campaign for reelection, and Betz had to try to run the rest.

McNichols got beat, Carroll got beat, and generally speaking so did the rest of the Democrats in the state, with the Republicans grabbing healthy working majori-

Bromley Oxnam Retired Methodist Bishop, Dies

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, retired Methodist bishop, died Tuesday night.

Bishop Oxnam, who held posts in Washington, New York, Boston and Omaha, was one of the first presidents of the World Council of Churches. He died at the Burke Rehabilitation Foundation here.

Bishop Oxnam also was president of De Pauw University, Greencastle, Ind., prior to his election as bishop in 1936.

Death followed complications from surgery last December, a spokesman for the Methodist church said.

Success Is Reported In Heart Operations

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Only 10 deaths have occurred in 235 open heart operations in three years at Stanford Medical Center.

Dr. Norman Shumway and his assistants achieved spectacular results in removing tumors, closing holes and opening stuck valves while a machine took over the patient's heart and lung functions.

Even the most simple operation requires the services of about 50 persons, including 15 blood donors.

The center's first surgery was performed Jan. 8, 1960.

Cascade News

By CAROLYN McADAMS — MU 7-9065

Members of the Cascade Cub Scout Pack 33, Dens 1 and 2, appeared on the Blinkey TV show on KKTV Tuesday afternoon. Den Mothers Mrs. Joyce Woolston, Mrs. Maxine Van Arsdale and Assistant Den Mother Mrs. Joan Hey drove cars picking up the Scouts at the Cascade School and from the School bus. Guests of the party were: Mrs. Joan Wilson and daughter Jennie, Mrs. Ann Rasner and son Ablert, David Mayfield, Den Chief; Francine Van Arsdale, Randy and David Hey, Kenny and Stephen Woolston. A total of 20 were at the show, which closed with a pinnata party.

Den No. 2 held its regular meeting Thursday after school, with Glenn Caldwell, denner, conducting the Flag cerremony. A discussion of all state birds was given, with their identification and habits. The Cubs are making "reminder" posters on feeding birds, care against forest fires and other precautionary subjects.

The Cub Scout pancake breakfast project held Saturday morning at the Community Building was considered a success. Some 50 persons were served. Cooks were Bill Rasner, Cubmaster, Frank Van Arsdale, Walt Peters, neighborhood Commissioners; Lenoy Anderson, committeeman. Mothers helping were Ann Rasner, Joan Hey, Maxine Van Arsdale Mrs. Harlan Howard and Georgia Anderson.

A buffet-style supper, dancing and a nine act floor show will be given Saturday night, March 16, in the Community Building, Green Mountain Falls, by the Cascade Volunteer Fire Department sponsoring its annual St. Patrick's Day fund raising project. The public is invited. The department is celebrating its tenth birthday in April.

Mrs. Doris Rerick, Mrs. Doris French, Mrs. Faye Hinkle Mrs. Hermine Bucher, Mrs. Margaret Quinn Mrs. Cecil Doyle, members of the Woodland Park Lioness Mothers Club, met at the home of Mrs. Linda Mills, Paint Pony Country Club, for a sewing session Monday afternoon, mending and patching for the Brockhurst Boys Ranch. One afternoon each month is given by members to this work for the boys at the ranch. Mrs. Helen Dugdale, chairman for March meetings of the Lions and Lioness Clubs, has planned the March 21 meeting at the Dawn Restaurant at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Irma Tesker and Mrs. Eleanor Behm, members of the Color Slide Club, will give a showing of their prize winning slides. Members of the Lioness Club and guests are cordially invited to attend.

The Sunday morning sermon topic at the Ute Pass Bible Church, held at the Cascade Firehouse, was, "How The Saviour Looks at 1963," presented by the Rev. Paul Hutchens. An evening worship service was begun last Sunday with the Rostvit Sisters presenting a sacred musical concert.

Snowflake Chapter No. 153, OES, held its stated meeting March 8 at the Masonic Temple, Woodland Park. The Martha Star point station was honored. Past Martha officers were: Mrs. Alice Flake, in 1930, also past grand matron of Colorado; Mrs. Carolyn McAdams, serving as Martha in 1931 and Junior Past Matron of Snowflake Chapter, and Mrs. Janet Hower, presently the Martha officer. Mrs. Helen Hoskins, Junior Past Matron of Ruxton Chapter No. 10 gave a film showing of the Eastern Star Home in Denver.

Mrs. Helen Dugdale and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dugdale Jr., attended the musical comedy show, "Most Happy Fella," sponsored by Colorado College, Friday night, at the Fine Arts Center.

Mrs. Betty Reasonover, Mrs. Alberta Stout and Mrs. Margaret Jackson were guests at the home of Mrs. Ruby Carroll for the Wednesday Bridge Lucheon Club of Woodland Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Weiman, Mr. and Mrs. James Pickett and Dick McConnell, advisory members of the Ute Pass Junior Saddle Club, were present at the monthly membership meeting March 4. The next Fun Day Gymkhana was set for March 31. A 25 cent fee to include all the events will be charged making it possible for more participation with less expense to riders. Six races will be held for the junior riders and nine for the senior group. All interested riders in the area are invited to take part. The event will be held at the Pickett Field in Green Mountain Falls beginning at 1:00 p.m.

Mrs. Jean Sanborn, teacher of the Littel Ute Nursery School, had 10 of her 12 pupils present at the Wednesday class last week. The morning session began with working a variety of picture, block and clock puzzles. A new action song was practiced and the Rythm Band rehearsed with a marching song. The three and four year old pupils learned how to draw the number 2. After cookie and grape juice refreshments, a poem about the Lion and Lamb in the month of March was read by teacher and pictures colored that accompanied the story. Mrs. Sanborn reports that all the children can draw within the lines of a picture now and have very nice results.

Mr. and Mrs. James Swim, residents of San Gulch, Highway 24, have returned from their more than three months travel in eleven different countries of Europe. Their tour was by Eurarail Pass, which allowed them to headquarters with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Ward, Munich, Germany. Mr. Ward is athletic director of Southern Area Commission. Mr. and Mrs. Swim returned by freighter, leaving Antwerp, Belgium, by train, and boarding the boat at La Harve, France. They had a stopover in Bermuda. Arriving at Huston, Tex., the boat was held in port for over three hours until all passports were cleared. Among the purchases Mrs. Swim brought home was a pair of walking shoes bought in Germany, sized 38 and costing 28 Marks or $7 of American money.

They just returned from a week's visit with their son Dr. Rex Swim and family in Cheyene, Wyo., where Mrs. Swim gave an account of their journeys and showed her souvenir's to five classes in the Andrew Jessop School in West Hills.

Cannel Reports Winter Suit Is Practical

By WARD CANNEL

NEW YORK (NEA)—As things turn out, it has been left to this reporter to save American Mankind from the tyranny of the men's fashion dictators.

The whole solution, after two seasons of daily field trial, is the Ward Cannel Winter Suit — the amazing, all-purpose, cold-weather garb for men, boys, travel, business, school, home and play.

A few of the Suit's remarkable features:

You can wear it without a top coat, even on freezing cold days, freeing you from the needless bulk of heavy overcoating.

It's cut like any other single-breasted suit, but it has three times the pocket space—designed for real pocket needs.

And, both the cloth maker and tailor assure me, this suit should be as functional in 10 years as it is today under normal conditions of wear.

You can't match that with most other $75 suits.

Besides, the Cannel Suit looks just about like any other. Strong men do not weep, nor do women and children swoon at its appearance on the thoroughfares of life. Not only does this reporter's wife approve, but so does her mother.

Now, as to the specifics:

"Fabric"—The Cannel Suit is made from American wool whipcord, a sturdy cloth, akin in weave to that used in hunting and riding clothes, postmen's uniforms and some arctic military wear.

The close whipcord weave effectively blocks the winter wind. The weight of the wool—18 ounces per yard—blocks the cold.

How does this compare with what you're wearing now? Well, the Cannel Suit with vest is about 23 ounces heavier. But when the temperature is 32 degrees, you're very likely wearing an additional four or five pounds of bulky overcoat.

At temepratures approaching zero, you can manage very nicely with only a light trim raincoat, leaving you still nearly three pounds lighter than your great-coated neighbor.

"Closures"—The secret of keeping warm lies in preventing the heat your body generates from escaping into the cold outside air. This means sealing off all the possible escape routes.

The Cannel Suit, therefore, has a five-button jacket. Four of the buttons close below the lapels. The fifth is on a tab at the collar which turns up to cover your neck to ear level.

On cold days, you button up to the neck. On very cold days you wear a scarf, keeping it under the jacket or—for a new Frontier look—draping it boyishly around your neck and letting the free fall bow out to the breeze. Frequently, it's not even necessary to button the neck tab over your scarf.

In addition to the five buttons, the jacket is also equipped with snaps inside the sleeve cuffs, sealing off two other routes through which body heat can escape.

To aid in heat preservation, the jacket is cut two inches longer than the additional suit. And the vest is made of the same wool whipcord, front and back.

"Pockets"—Pants pockets are standard except for the left front, which is considerably deeper than usual to hold a pair of gloves. The vest has only two pockets, both deep and wide, rather than the traditional four small pockets left over from the days of snuff, watches on chains, and cigar cutters.

The jacket pockets are most revolutionary. There are four outside breast pockets, two on either side, but styled to look like one. From left to right: a deep, narrow pocket for pencils or pens; a wide, shallow pocket for change which is kept closed by a press-to-close fabric; another wide but deep pocket for eyeglasses or sunglass case; and last a pocket for pipe or cigars.

The outside waist-high jacket pockets are extra wide and, because the jacket is longer, extra deep. They easily hold this reporter's camera, light meter, notebook, film and the other tools of the trade.

Inside the jacket are four more pockets—a deep and a shallow one on either side. They hold: billfold, keys, card case, passport case, old ticket stubs, reminders, matches, spare pipe, timetables, aspirins and the other necessities of daily life.

In the evening, they also hold the wife's cosmetics, leaving her hands free for signing autographs and spending money.

"Indoors"—Obviously, the kind of clothes for outdoor wear are not suitable for use inside the home or office. The Cannel Suit, however, is adaptable to both conditions.

For salesmen, newsmen and other itinerant consultants, simply opening the jacket on a brief visit indoors is sufficient for making the suit comfortable.

For students, office personnel and others who spend more time indoors than out, removing the jacket and opening the vest makes the suit perfectly comfortable.

For travel, the suit is a marvel, especially in the car where an overcoat is a nuisance. The small, outside breast pocket change compartment does away, at long last, with the contortions usually necessary for finding the proper change for toll agate and tunnel fare.

"Economy" — The American woolen industry points out that wool whipcord is one of the most durable fabrics made. A 10-year life pan for this suit is only a conservative estimate.

Now, if the suit is all these things, why hasn't it appeared on the market before this?

The man who made it cites two big reasons.
cites two big reasons.

"First," Delin says, "is the long trend toward overheating. Men's suits have been getting lighter and lighter in weight. And people have been spending more and more time indoors.

"And second, in terms of the men's fashion industry, it's not a happy prospect to think of suits that don't wear out and don't need overcoats.

"But," Delin says, "you've got a couple of pocket ideas that I may start using myself."

This suit inventor is undaunted. A place in history as the Cannel Pocket is better than no place at all.

Members of the Cascade Cub Scout Pack 33, Dens 1 and 2, appeared on the Blinkey TV show on KKTV Tuesday afternoon. Den Mothers Mrs. Joyce Woolston, Mrs. Maxine Van Arsdale and Assistant Den Mother Mrs. Joan Hey drove cars picking up the Scouts at the Cascade School and from the School bus. Guests of the party were: Mrs. Joan Wilson and daughter Jennie, Mrs. Ann Rasner and son Ablert, David Mayfield, Den Chief; Francine Van Arsdale, Randy and David Hey, Kenny and Stephen Woolston. A total of 20 were at the show, which closed with a pinnata party.

Den No. 2 held its regular meeting Thursday after school, with Glenn Caldwell, denner, conducting the Flag cerremony. A discussion of all state birds was given, with their identification and habits. The Cubs are making "reminder" posters on feeding birds, care against forest fires and other precautionary subjects.

The Cub Scout pancake breakfast project held Saturday morning at the Community Building was considered a success. Some 50 persons were served. Cooks were Bill Rasner, Cubmaster, Frank Van Arsdale, Walt Peters, neighborhood Commissioners; Lenoy Anderson, committeeman. Mothers helping were Ann Rasner, Joan Hey, Maxine Van Arsdale Mrs. Harlan Howard and Georgia Anderson.

A buffet-style supper, dancing and a nine act floor show will be given Saturday night, March 16, in the Community Building, Green Mountain Falls, by the Cascade Volunteer Fire Department sponsoring its annual St. Patrick's Day fund raising project. The public is invited. The department is celebrating its tenth birthday in April.

Mrs. Doris Rerick, Mrs. Doris French, Mrs. Faye Hinkle Mrs. Hermine Bucher, Mrs. Margaret Quinn Mrs. Cecil Doyle, members of the Woodland Park Lioness Mothers Club, met at the home of Mrs. Linda Mills, Paint Pony Country Club, for a sewing session Monday afternoon, mending and patching for the Brockhurst Boys Ranch. One afternoon each month is given by members to this work for the boys at the ranch. Mrs. Helen Dugdale, chairman for March meetings of the Lions and Lioness Clubs, has planned the March 21 meeting at the Dawn Restaurant at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Irma Tesker and Mrs. Eleanor Behm, members of the Color Slide Club, will give a showing of their prize winning slides. Members of the Lioness Club and guests are cordially invited to attend.

The Sunday morning sermon topic at the Ute Pass Bible Church, held at the Cascade Firehouse, was, "How The Saviour Looks at 1963," presented by the Rev. Paul Hutchens. An evening worship service was begun last Sunday with the Rostvit Sisters presenting a sacred musical concert.

Snowflake Chapter No. 153, OES, held its stated meeting March 8 at the Masonic Temple, Woodland Park. The Martha Star point station was honored. Past Martha officers were: Mrs. Alice Flake, in 1930, also past grand matron of Colorado; Mrs. Carolyn McAdams, serving as Martha in 1931 and Junior Past Matron of Snowflake Chapter, and Mrs. Janet Hower, presently the Martha officer. Mrs. Helen Hoskins, Junior Past Matron of Ruxton Chapter No. 10 gave a film showing of the Eastern Star Home in Denver.

Mrs. Helen Dugdale and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dugdale Jr., attended the musical comedy show, "Most Happy Fella," sponsored by Colorado College, Friday night, at the Fine Arts Center.

Mrs. Betty Reasonover, Mrs. Alberta Stout and Mrs. Margaret Jackson were guests at the home of Mrs. Ruby Carroll for the Wednesday Bridge Lucheon Club of Woodland Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Weiman, Mr. and Mrs. James Pickett and Dick McConnell, advisory members of the Ute Pass Junior Saddle Club, were present at the monthly membership meeting March 4. The next Fun Day Gymkhana was set for March 31. A 25 cent fee to include all the events will be charged making it possible for more participation with less expense to riders. Six races will be held for the junior riders and nine for the senior group. All interested riders in the area are invited to take part. The event will be held at the Pickett Field in Green Mountain Falls beginning at 1:00 p.m.

Mrs. Jean Sanborn, teacher of the Littel Ute Nursery School, had 10 of her 12 pupils present at the Wednesday class last week. The morning session began with working a variety of picture, block and clock puzzles. A new action song was practiced and the Rythm Band rehearsed with a marching song. The three and four year old pupils learned how to draw the number 2. After cookie and grape juice refreshments, a poem about the Lion and Lamb in the month of March was read by teacher and pictures colored that accompanied the story. Mrs. Sanborn reports that all the children can draw within the lines of a picture now and have very nice results.

Mr. and Mrs. James Swim, residents of San Gulch, Highway 24, have returned from their more than three months travel in eleven different countries of Europe. Their tour was by Eurarail Pass, which allowed them to headquarters with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Ward, Munich, Germany. Mr. Ward is athletic director of Southern Area Commission. Mr. and Mrs. Swim returned by freighter, leaving Antwerp, Belgium, by train, and boarding the boat at La Harve, France. They had a stopover in Bermuda. Arriving at Huston, Tex., the boat was held in port for over three hours until all passports were cleared. Among the purchases Mrs. Swim brought home was a pair of walking shoes bought in Germany, sized 38 and costing 28 Marks or $7 of American money.

They just returned from a week's visit with their son Dr. Rex Swim and family in Cheyene, Wyo., where Mrs. Swim gave an account of their journeys and showed her souvenir's to five classes in the Andrew Jessop School in West Hills.

Cannel Reports Winter Suit Is Practical

By WARD CANNEL

NEW YORK (NEA)—As things turn out, it has been left to this reporter to save American Mankind from the tyranny of the men's fashion dictators.

The whole solution, after two seasons of daily field trial, is the Ward Cannel Winter Suit — the amazing, all-purpose, cold-weather garb for men, boys, travel, business, school, home and play.

A few of the Suit's remarkable features:

You can wear it without a top coat, even on freezing cold days, freeing you from the needless bulk of heavy overcoating.

It's cut like any other single-breasted suit, but it has three times the pocket space—designed for real pocket needs.

And, both the cloth maker and tailor assure me, this suit should be as functional in 10 years as it is today under normal conditions of wear.

You can't match that with most other $75 suits.

Besides, the Cannel Suit looks just about like any other. Strong men do not weep, nor do women and children swoon at its appearance on the thoroughfares of life. Not only does this reporter's wife approve, but so does her mother.

Now, as to the specifics:

"Fabric"—The Cannel Suit is made from American wool whipcord, a sturdy cloth, akin in weave to that used in hunting and riding clothes, postmen's uniforms and some arctic military wear.

The close whipcord weave effectively blocks the winter wind. The weight of the wool—18 ounces per yard—blocks the cold.

How does this compare with what you're wearing now? Well, the Cannel Suit with vest is about 23 ounces heavier. But when the temperature is 32 degrees, you're very likely wearing an additional four or five pounds of bulky overcoat.

At temepratures approaching zero, you can manage very nicely with only a light trim raincoat, leaving you still nearly three pounds lighter than your great-coated neighbor.

"Closures"—The secret of keeping warm lies in preventing the heat your body generates from escaping into the cold outside air. This means sealing off all the possible escape routes.

The Cannel Suit, therefore, has a five-button jacket. Four of the buttons close below the lapels. The fifth is on a tab at the collar which turns up to cover your neck to ear level.

On cold days, you button up to the neck. On very cold days you wear a scarf, keeping it under the jacket or—for a new Frontier look—draping it boyishly around your neck and letting the free fall bow out to the breeze. Frequently, it's not even necessary to button the neck tab over your scarf.

In addition to the five buttons, the jacket is also equipped with snaps inside the sleeve cuffs, sealing off two other routes through which body heat can escape.

To aid in heat preservation, the jacket is cut two inches longer than the additional suit. And the vest is made of the same wool whipcord, front and back.

"Pockets"—Pants pockets are standard except for the left front which is considerably deeper than usual to hold a pair of gloves. The vest has only two pockets, both deep and wide, rather than the traditional four small pockets left over from the days of snuff, watches on chains, and cigar cutters.

The jacket pockets are most revolutionary. There are four outside breast pockets, two on either side, but styled to look like one. From left to right: a deep, narrow pocket for pencils or pens; a wide, shallow pocket for change which is kept closed by a press-to-close fabric; another wide but deep pocket for eyeglasses or sunglass case; and last a pocket for pipe or cigars.

The outside waist-high jacket pockets are extra wide and, because the jacket is longer, extra deep. They easily hold this reporter's camera, light meter, notebook, film and the other tools of the trade.

Inside the jacket are four more pockets—a deep and a shallow one on either side. They hold: billfold, keys, card case, passport case, old ticket stubs, reminders, matches, spare pipe, timetables, aspirins and the other necessities of daily life.

In the evening, they also hold the wife's cosmetics, leaving her hands free for signing autographs and spending money.

"Indoors"—Obviously, the kind of clothes for outdoor wear are not suitable for use inside the home or office. The Cannel Suit, however, is adaptable to both conditions.

For salesmen, newsmen and other itinerant consultants, simply opening the jacket on a brief visit indoors is sufficient for making the suit comfortable.

For students, office personnel and others who spend more time indoors than out, removing the jacket and opening the vest makes the suit perfectly comfortable.

For travel, the suit is a marvel, especially in the car where an overcoat is a nuisance. The small, outside breast pocket change compartment does away, at long last, with the contortions usually necessary for finding the proper change for toll agate and tunnel fare.

"Economy" — The American woolen industry points out that wool whipcord is one of the most durable fabrics made. A 10-year life pan for this suit is only a conservative estimate.

Now, if the suit is all these things, why hasn't it appeared on the market before this?

The man who made it cites two big reasons.

cites two big reasons.

"First," Delin says, "is the long trend toward overheating. Men's suits have been getting lighter and lighter in weight. And people have been spending more and more time indoors.

"And second, in terms of the men's fashion industry, it's not a happy prospect to think of suits that don't wear out and don't need overcoats.

"But," Delin says, "you've got a couple of pocket ideas that I may start using myself."

This suit inventor is undaunted. A place in history as the Cannel Pocket is better than no place at all.

Glenn Will Be Speaker at AP Meeting

NEW YORK (AP)—Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., first American to orbit the earth, will be the principal speaker at The Associated Press annual luncheon on April 22.

Paul Miller, president of The Associated Press and head of the Gannett group of newspapers, made the announcement Tuesday. He said Glenn would discuss the space program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the meaning of the program to the future of the United States.

Approximately 1,500 editors and publishers from the United States and Canada and guests are expected to attend the luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Glenn, 41, circled the earth three times on Feb. 20, 1962, in a Mercury space capsule named Friendship 7, which is now on display in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

He is in charge of developing the team of astronauts to land on the moon in Nasa's Apollo project.

Glenn, a native of Cambridge, Ohio, lives with his wife and their two children at Houston, Tex., where he is stationed at the NASA Manned Space Flight Center.

The Associated Press meeting and luncheon will inaugurate a week of meetings of newspaper executives, including the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Gene Archer, a member of the National Broadcasting Co. Washington staff and a Gridiron Club vocalist, will sing several of the best Gridiron Club songs of all times at the AP luncheon.

The annual meeting of The Associated Press will precede the luncheon. The meeting this year will start at 10 a.m. with a special program.

Soft Touch Is Sought For Landing on Moon

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Engineers are looking for a soft-touch way to land a space vehicle on the moon.

Engineers at the Bendix aerospace division here say the shock absorber used must cushion the impact but cannot contribute to rebound that will make the space vehicle bounce.

They now are testing an aluminum honeycomb that will crush under the impact of the space vehicle's landing.

six years ago when Gen. Maxwell Taylor, then Army Chief of Staff, and now Chief, Joint Chiefs of Staff, came to Colorado Springs to speak at a meeting of the local chapter of the Association of the United States Army.

At that time, Gen. Taylor explained that the Army was experimenting and trying to find new ways to make the Army fit into the nuclear world.

He added that the Pentomic (five-sided) division idea probably was an interim idea and would be succeeded by an idea formed from what the Army learned in its experiment.

Gen. Heintges was one of the Army's top generals who helped plan and implement the ROAD concept, which now that it has been tested is being adopted for all divisions, Infantry, Armored, Mechanized and Airborne.

The general explained that the ROAD concept allows the Army to tailor a division to met the needs of the area, and further allows a commanding general of a division to tailor smaller combat units to fit the objective before the division.

All Army ROAD divisions are built around a similar, and in some cases identical division base which supplies the command and support elements of the division.

Then the division is built up with three brigades which will vary battalions within them, the general said.

For instance, in Asia, the U.S. Army might want a division with 10 Infantry battalions to go along with the division base.

In Korea, a division might have eight Infantry battalions and two tank battalions.

In Europe, a division might have four Infantry battalions, and six tank battalions.

An Airborne division might have only one light tank battalion and nine Infantry battalions.

Under this plan, commanders can organize brigade and battalion units as required and use all weapons as well as being able to quickly use reserve forces when the time comes, Gen. Heintges said.

The new ROAD allows for:

1. Improved training of officers, especially field grade officers.
2. Provides much greater internal flexibility.
3. Allows effective use of resources.
4. Permits increased use of all weapons.
5. Gives improved mobility.

Gen. Heintges pointed out that today's division, such as the 5th Division, has at least three times as much fire power as a division of the days of World War II.

He is a veteran of African, Italian and Central European fighting in that war, winning the Silver Star twice, the Bronze Star six times, the Purple Heart, and the Legion of Merit twice.

The general, a 1936 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, also is a qualified parachutist.

The general explained that service support also has greatly improved under the new concept, as a service battalion can handle problems that formerly were handled, for instance, by Quartermaster, Signal and Ordnance.

Divisions built with battalion building blocks, as the ROAD divisions are, like machines with interchangeable parts, as battalions can be shifted from one division to another with no special problems for the commander, he explained.

The general received a check from the home builders to pay for 25 memberships of Ft. Carson men in the Association of the United States Army.

Mrs. Leaon Myles, Former Resident Died

A former resident of Colorado Springs, Mrs. Leaon Myles, died Monday at Chappell, Neb., where she had lived for the past 16 years.

Mrs. Myles was born June 20, 1913, in Canton, Mo., and moved to Colorado Springs in her early childhood. She attended grade schools here and was graduated from St. Mary's Roman Catholic High School.

A rosary service will be held Thursday and a Requiem High Mass will be sung at 9 a.m. Friday at St. Peter's Church in Chappell for Mrs. Myles who will be buried in Chappell.

Mrs. Myles is survived by her husband Edward J. Myles of Chappell; two daughters, Mrs. Harold Peterson and Martha Lee, both of Chappell; three sons, Michael and Pat Myles, Notre Dame, Ind., and Charles Myles, a student at Creighton Medical School in Omaha, Nebr.; two grandchildren; and Colorado Springs relatives Mrs. Joseph Graham, Mrs. Patrick Dawson, Charles Myles and several neices and Nephews here.

Today's Weather

(Reports furnished by U. S. Weather Bureau Station at Peterson Field as of 5:30 a.m. today!)

The severe thunderstorm activity which was reported over Georgia and South Carolina, Tuesday night has diminished in intensity with only a few scattered thundershowers present over these states this morning.

During the night, thunderstorms also struck across Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, and a pilot reported sighting a funnel cloud tornado near Martinsville, Ind.

These thunderstorms have diminished in intensity and moved on into Pennsylvania, western New York state, and West Virginia.

The moist air clinging to the northeast has produced a rather thick and bothersome fog along with drizzle from northern Indiana, eastward into Pennsylvania and the middle and north Atlantic coast states.

Fog also was widespread over the Gulf Coast states.

Meanwhile, light snow continued over the south central Rockies and the Plains from Colorado, northeastward into the upper Mississippi Valley and western Great Lakes region.

Light snow was also reported across the northern parts of New York state and New England.

Mild and humid air covered the Gulf Coast region and south Atlantic coast states, northeastward into Virginia.

Temperatures were mainly in the 60s here with low 70s reported in southern Florida and upper 50s over the Carolinas.

The remaining portions of the country were rather cool with below freezing temperatures covering all areas west of the Mississippi except the southern Plains and the southern interior deserts and points along the immediate Pacific coast.

City Fire Stations Get Many Visitors

A lot of people visited the six Colorado Springs fire stations last year, according to Fire Chief Fred H. Lausch.

He said that 385 Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts accompanied by 67 adults inspected the stations.

In addition, the chief said, 981 school children accompanied by 131 adults viewed the fire department operations during the year.

Many of the Boy Scouts were given examinations for merit badges, including 25 for safety, 59 for firemanship and five for first aid. Fourteen Boy and Girl couts were given instructions for merit badges.

Chief Lausch also reported that firemen at No. 5 station spent 1,742 hours repairing and painting toys for Christmas Unlimited.

In addition to fight fires, firemen also spent 14,340 man hours in instruction and drill at the drill fields and in the stations.

free press."

"Where practices have developed which raise questions under the antitrust laws, the subcommittee will consider whether these practices tend to promote or destroy newspaper competition," Celler said.

"Where the survival of newspapers appears to require it," he said, "limited antitrust exemptions may be considered."

Celler said he wanted to know if concentration was "good," bad or of no consequence," or inevitable under existing circumstances, and if certain industry practices were unreasonable restraints of trade and whether they should be exempted from the antitrust laws.

While newspaper circulation has increased faster than population in the last 50 years, he noted the number of daily newspapers has decreased from 2,200 in 1909 to 1,760 at present.

Celler said there were 689 cities with separately owned and published, editorially independent daily newspapers in 1909 and 52 today.

"Ours is a constructive purpose," Celler said. "We seek to determine the causes for the decline in the number of newspapers and newspaper competition, to explore the problems of the newspaper business which have produced so widespread a pattern of local newspaper monopoly, and to inquire what remedial action, if any, is needed to preserve newspaper competition where it still exists and to foster its emergence where monopoly now prevails."

Celler said it was the subcommittee's intention to look into the "cost squeeze" on newspapers, the effect of television on newspaper revenues and chain ownership.

"We shall consider too whether the concentration of ownership of the daily press has in fact diminished the variety of news and views, for there is distinguished authority which holds it has not," he said.

fold which he put in his coat pocket.

He then ordered Mrs. Fisher into a washroom at the rear. She said he told her to take off her sweater. Mrs. Fisher protested.

"I mean it," the man said, forcing the woman to remove her sweater.

"No," Mrs. Fisher said she told him.

"I'm not kidding," the man said. "Take if off."

Mrs. Fisher said she slammed the washroom door in his face and began screaming. She told police she didn't hear the man leave and continued screaming.

Finally, she broke out a window in the room with a broom and called to R. B. Reinville, who was in the shopping center and the man came and let her out of the room.

Mrs. Fisher described the man as about 18 years old, 5-feet 6-inches tall and weighing about 155 pounds. She said he wore a crew cut and horn-rimmed glasses and was well dressed.

She told police he seemed "wild-eyed, starey, scared and nervous."

high seas when the warships approached at 12:15 p.m.

"In all, four shots were fired, endangering the trawler and her crew," Tass said.

"The Soviet government expects that those guilty will be punished and the necessary measures taken to prevent such actions in the future."

Tass made no mention of dummy, or nonexplosive shells. But Moscow Radio referred to the shells as dummies.

"According to information received, two U.S. cruisers of the Boston type and a destroyer of the Frank type fired at the Soviet refrigerator trawler SRTR 8,000-T, engaged in fishing on the high seas," the radio said.

"At the time of the firing, the Soviet trawler was 70 miles east of Norfolk.

"The U.S. warships at 12:15, fired two artillery rounds with dummies from a range of five miles at the trawler. The shells fell about 130 meters (about 400 feet) from the vessel.

"Subsequently at 12:50 p.m. approaching to within one kilometer (.6 of a mile), they fired two more shots with dummies which fell 60 meters (about 190 feet) from the trawler.

"By their actions the U.S. warships created a threat to the safety of the Soviet trawler and her crew."

The Moscow announcement said the note was delivered in Washington, where there was no immediate comment.

Maytag, Faricy Compete for Top State Demo Post

rying" the different factions within the Democratic Party in order to get them "moving down the road together."

"No one group is going to achieve all the things it would like to achieve," he said. "But all will achieve some of the things." The alternative to unity, he added, "could be worse than 1962."

The meeting was not billed as a debate, but the candidates did clash on some issues. Faricy dismissed the need for the public relations man that Maytag urged, suggesting instead the appointment of an executive assistant well versed in Democratic politics who could work more effectively with the county organizations.

Maytag claimed that "certain counties need reorganization very badly," but exempted El Paso from this category. One of the problems, he said, is the suburbia vote. Whereas the party in the East has done very well with it, in Colorado it remains solidly Republican.

Maytag urged an increased subsidy for the party publication, the "Colorado Democrat," in order to enlarge it and make it more readable. He also suggested an overhaul of the annual Jefferson-Jackson Dinner, which last year, under his direction, barely met expenses. "Is it for fund raising, or party appreciation?" he asked.

A newcomer in the state organization, Faricy said, "Don't vote for me if you don't want to work. If I am elected more people are going to be called upon to do more things than ever before."

Most of those in attendance could not vote anyway. The state chairman will be elected by members of the Democratic State Central Committee and elected state officials, numbering about 250.

Faricy promised that if elected he would hold six regional meetings, drawing in county chairmen to discuss their problems and to develop plans for coming campaigns. The county workers are not "deadwood," he said, merely overwhelmed by the duties of covering the precinct. "Give them a track to run on," he concluded, "and they become effective."

Federal Tax Lien Filed Here Tuesday

A federal tax lien was filed Tuesday with the County Clerk against the House of Oscar, Inc. 308 N. Nevada Ave., for non-payment of withholding taxes and excise tax for the fourth quarter in 1962.

The delinquent taxes amounted to $1,129.01, according to V. Lee Phillips, district director of internal revenue.

A lien was also filed Tuesday against Floyd V. Byerly, 2818 Old Airport Road for non-payment of 1961 income tax totaling $975.34.

Council Rejects Fire Code Change

City Council Tuesday unanimously rejected proposed changes to the Colorado Springs Fire Prevention Code concerning delivery of gasoline to service stations by larger truck transports within the city limits. Weight limits will remain at 2,200 pounds rather than the proposed 9,000-pounds.

H. R. Grueskin, representing the Dividend Bonded Gas Company, who had requested the new suggestions, said, "I'm amazed that so many men can change their minds so completely, in so short a time, on an identical issue."

The councilmen voted Feb. 12 to adopt the revisions at Tuesday's meeting but apparently changed they minds after reviewing a study made by Fire Chief Fred Lausch on the proposed ordinance.

Council had denied Grueskin's first request on Jan. 8.

Speaking against the proposed ordinance Tuesday was Paul Bradley, general manager of the Hill Oil Company, who told the council that even tho it would be more economical for his company to allow the transports, he felt that established tankers within the city would be hurt by out-of-state operators.

Councilman Harold Hawks moved to reject the changes and the councilmen unanimously approved. They were Mayor William Henderson, Councilmen Hawks, Carl Decker, Harry Hoth, William Roe, Floyd Roberts, Robert Johnson and Melvin Olsen. Hugh Weed resigned at the last meeting in February to assume his new post as Colorado Revenue Director.

MORE TOURISTS

HONG KONG (AP)—More than a quarter million foreign tourists visited Hong Kong in 1962, the Hong Kong Tourist Association announced.

The number, not including those of Chinese nationality, passengers in direct transit and military personnel on rest and recreational visits, represented a 15 per cent increase over the previous year.

President Sees Downturn Unless Taxes Are Cut

is important to avoid "an unrealistic debt ceiling or budget cut."

Wrong decisions in these three policy areas would, he said, "spell downturn and disaster for the American economy as a whole."

In remarks prepared for the annual Washington conference of the Advertising Council, Kennedy said wrong decisions on all three points were made in 1957-1960 by "a Republican administration and a Democratic Congress."

As a result, he contended, the nation has been paying a high price ever since by slogging along with a below-par economy.

"I am hopeful," Kennedy said, "that the lessons of history will be remembered by us all—by those of us in the administration and the Congress, and those in this audience who are leaders of opinion in the business community."

The scope of Kennedy's argument, in what originally was expected to be a brief and rather routine appearance, seemed a measure of presidential concern over congressional criticism of the administration's record $98.8-billion budget and the request for a continuation of the record temporary debt ceiling of $308 billion. The White House is expected to ask a higher debt ceiling later.

By linking both these items with the attention-getting tax cut issue, the President seemed bent on seeking broader support for a more boldly stated plan of attack on the ills of the economy.

In essence, this was the argument, described as non-partisan, which Kennedy put forward:

—"The faults of the last five years" were attributed, in the President's words, to a bipartisan decision "in 1957 to keep the debt limit unrealistically low, to cut back and stretch out our budget expenditures, to tighten monetary policy and to reject all efforts at tax reduction." Kennedy contended the situation was aggravated in 1960 by further moves toward "tight money."

—"The harsh results" were described as a slowdown in contracts, a delay in federal payments to business, two costly recessions and bigger-than-ever budget deficits.

State Democrat Chairman to Face Big Test in 1966

ties in both houses of the state legislature.

This writer appeared on a panel of newsmen before the Young Democrats about a month after the election and predicted at that time that the Democrats would get a new state chairman, and that further the man would be of a younger generation.

Both Faricy and Maytag are of the younger generation.

Both men seem to be asking for a job that not many people want.

It could be a thankless job for it is tough to rebuild a beaten party when you hold very few offices.

Whatever the size of the task, there are not too many important challenges in the near future for the state chairman. U.S. House seats and seats in the state assembly will be up next year, but neither senatorship nor the governorship come up until 1966.

If the Democrats stage a strong comeback in the state assembly next year and get control of one house, or both, then the new state chairman—Maytag or Faricy—probably will be in a position to stay on the job until 1966 at least.

Next year being a presidential election year, the state chairman will have a hand in who goes to the national Democratic convention, in addition to himself.

However, in all likelihood, President John F. Kennedy will be unopposed for renomination and so Colorado's delegates to that convention won't help write much history.

While the state's Democrats are shooting to win everything they can in 1964, the man who is named state chairman just can't avoid looking toward 1966 when Gov. John A. Love and U.S. Sen. Gordon A. Allott must run again along with all the state assemblymen and the U.S. representatives.

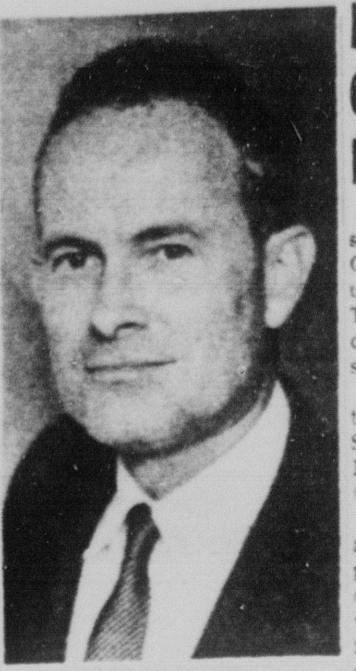
NANCY WOOD



MYRON WOOD

Local Couple Start New Publishing Business Here

"There was a need for a quality publisher in this part of the country so we formed Chaparral Press," said photographer Myron Wood of Colorado Springs who this week announced formation of a new pubishing house.

Partner in the venture is his writer-wife Nancy Wood who will handle book design and promotion. Secretary-treasurer is Grace A. Bennett, Colorado Springs accountant.

The first title by Chaparral Press will appear in early May. Titled "Central City: A Ballad of the West," it is an 80-page book of 100 photographs illustrating a vanishing part of the western civilization. It was photographed by Myron Wood and written and designed by Nancy Wood.

"Three publishers offered to do the book but it was a question of quality," said Wood. "We knew we were taking a chance publishing it ourselves but the whole thing centered on one point: will the reproduction of photographs be the best we can get? We were assured of that only by watching it every step of the way like a couple of mother hens.

"We talked to printers everywhere, even two in the east and finally decided on Neilsen Litho, a small, quality Denver firm. Hoflund-Schmidt did the typography. Don't get the notion we're a vanity press-we're not.

"We have several non-Wood items under consideration for next year. We'd like to do only one or two titles a year in almost any field. The only prerequisite is that the material must stack up against anything published anywhere in the world."

The name "Chaparral" comes from the southwest and means "roadrunner." "He's a funny little bird who looks like he will never get off the ground," said Wood. "We hope the opposite will be true for our publishing company."

Asked if he thought there were too many publishers in the west, Wood replied, "On the contrary, there aren't enough. There are several specialty firms. One does primarily music, another primarily text books. The largest one is general and very good. We aren't competing with any of these. We've spent a great deal of time with booksellers for we have no other way of knowing what sells and what doesn't. I was amazed at the great voids in certain categories of books. This is what we hope to fill."

Myron Wood's work has appeared in Harvester World, Business Week, Time, Fortune, Woman's Day, Redbook, Craft Horizons, and he will have a spread in the April issue of the Cyanamid Magazine, the mass circulation publication of the American Cyanamid Company. He also works for the Ford Foundation.

Wood has exhibited in Colorado Springs, Denver, California, New York City, and thru the United States Information Agency has presented his work in Europe and Asia.

Regionally, he has aquired a reputation as a photographer of children and employs the unusual technique of photographing them in their homes over a period of several sittings. He has taught photography for several years on a part-time basis.

He won his degree in music from Oklahoma A & M, decided on a career in photography while studying at Yale University. He is a member of the American Society of Magazine Photographers.

Nancy Wood worked as a correspondent for the Philadelphia Bulletin, the Philadelphia Inquirer, and the Associated Press. She is an alumna of Bucknell University. She worked in advertising sales for KSSS and KFMH before publishing a fine arts magazine for the Pikes Peak region.

She is the editor of "The Record," the quarterly publication of the Episcopal Church in Colorado Springs. At present, Mrs. Wood is writing a novel which will not be published by Chaparral Press.

Floods Leave 30,000 Homeless in Kentucky ferry food into isolated communities while refugees were quartered in public buildings, schools, courthouses or moved in with relatives.

Water was four feet deep in the business district of Pikeville but was receding. Big Sandy crested there at 50 feet, 15 feet above flood stage.

A railroad fireman died when a Chesapeake & Ohio coal train slammed into a landslide and then plunged into the river near Pikeville. Another man drowned in Kentucky and a third was missing and presumed drowned.

Five persons died as the result of severe flooding in southern West Virginia. Two of the victims drowned and three others suffered heart attacks while trying to escape the high water.

Gov. W. W. Barron asked the President to declare 11 hard-hit West Virginia counties a disaster area as residents attempted to salvage household possessions.

Several thousand persons were driven from their homes temporarily by the flooding Guyandotte and Tug rivers and U.S. Army engineers estimated damage would run into millions of dollars.

In mountainous western Virginia, streams spilling over their banks drove nearly 5,000 persons from their homes. Property damage in a nine-county area was estimated at $5.2 million.

Four persons were listed as missing, including an elderly widow believed buried under tons of slate in the shattered remains of her home in the tiny mountain village of Arno in Wis County. Three men have not been seen since they started a canoe trip on a flood-swollen river near Covington.

Rampaging waters of the Sequatchie River in east Tennessee swept away the home of Mr. and Mrs. Georgia Dixon. They drowned as did their two children.

Streams in the state were still rising but the Tennessee Valley Authority began a major flood control operation by spilling vast amounts of water from dams along the Tennessee River to create space for new runoffs from tributaries.

Three Southern Railway passenger trains bound for Birmingham, Ala., Washington and Jacksonville, Fla., were halted in east Tennessee towns until the water receded.

Eight young Atlanta campers from Westminster School were removed by canoe from a cave near South Pittsburg about 20 miles west of Chattanooga. The approach to the cave was flooded.

A tornado stormed through Tallapoosa County in central Alabama, wrecking buildings, churches and utility lines and causing damage estimated at $50,000.

The twister struck the day after tornadoes roared across a three-state area, killing two persons in Alabama, two in Mississippi and one in Tennessee.

An Alabama woman drowned when a car plunged through a bridge into a stream near Huntsville. Water damage was estimated at $4 million for soil erosion alone.

High wind and heavy rain lashed portions of Georgia and South Carolina. A porch was swept off a house in La Grange, Ga., and two Atlanta filling station attendants were buried temporarily when a retaining wall gave way. They were rescued an hour and a half later.

Vern Collier Elected Alumni Group Head

Vern Collier was elected president of the Colorado College Sigma Chi Alumni Association at a meeting at the Sigma Chi House at 7 p.m., March 6. Other officers elected are:

Tom Pelican, vice-president; James Bower, secretary; Robert Price, treasurer; Larry Doolen, chapter advisor; Dale Dalby, director; Lou Slothower, director; Merve Zeller, director, and Fred Funk, director. The next meeting of the association will be held Wednesday, March 20, at 7 p.m. at the Sigma Chi House, 1117 N. Nevada Ave.

Heavy Schedule Of Items Faces Planning Board

A score of items will be considered by the City Planning Commission when it meets in regular session starting at 4 p.m. Thursday in the City Council chambers. Requests to be considered are:

Herbert L. Goldstein to change the east side of the 200 block of South Wahsatch Avenue from the R-5, C-5 and M-1 to the M-1 (light industrial) zone.

Theodosia E. Demetry for an amendment to the development plan of the Golf Club Acres group dwelling project. The block involved is bounded by Columbia Street on the north, Hancock Avenue on the west, San Miguel Street on the south and Foote Avenue on the east.

Craig Weaver to change to an R-5 (multi-family residential) zone a block bounded by Monument Creek on the west, Monument Street on the south and Mesa Road on the north. The area is now in the R-2 and R-5 zones.

Pikes Peak Lodge No. 5, AF & AM, to change the east side of the 800 block of North Royer Street from the R-3 (two-family residential) to the R-5 (multi-family residential) zone.

B. H. Smartt to change a 1.64-acre tract west of the freeway and south of Mill Street (extended west) from the R-2 to the C-4 (general business) zone. It lies on the east side of Fountain Creek Boulevard.

James Bobbitt and Wayne Banks to change 2918 thru 2932 N. Chestnut St. from the R-2 to the C-5 (intermediate business) zone.

Preliminary replat of Rudd's Subdivision by E. B. Sasnett, which involves a 3.36-acre tract lying on the west side of the 400 and 500 blocks of North Echo Lane.

Final replat of a 40-acre tract lying north of the Rock Island Railroad right-of-way and east of Galley Road extended north. This is to be considered in accordance with SB 154.

Final replat of a 9-acre tract lying southeast of the intersection of Parkview Boulevard with Cresta Road. This also will be considered under provisions of SB 154.

Petition by nine and owners requesting annexation of 12.89 acres lying southwest of the intersection of San Miguel Street and Academy Boulevard.

Petition by B. H. Smartt and Son requesting annexation of 57 acres located 300 feet south of U. S. Highway 24, southwest of the intersection of Academy Boulevard and Highway 24.

Preliminary plat of Austin Acres Subdivision by B. H. Smartt and Son. This involves a 30-acre tract lying southwest of the intersection of Academy Boulevard with U. S. Highway 24.

Arthur J. Haussman requesting annexation of a 64.7 acre tract lying between Maizeland Road and Brady Boulevard west of the proposed Academy Boulevard.

Final replat of Glen Oaks Subdivision Filing No. 5 by A. J. Lanza, which involves a 33.65 acre tract located north of Templeton Gap Road about three quarters of a mile west of the intersection of Academy Boulevard and Templeton Gap Road.

A. J. Lanza requesting annexation of a .66 acre tract lying northwest of the intersection of Flintridge Drive and Anitra Circle.

Preliminary plat of Rustic Hills Industrial Park Subdivision by B. H. Smartt. This involves a tract located one and a half miles east of Academy Boulevard and one half mile north of U. S. Highway 24.

Robert P. Day for vacation of a north-south, 16-foot alley located between 526 and 522 Mona Place.

Discussion about the east side of the 2200 and 2300 blocks of North Weber Street relative to curb, gutter and paving.

Water Pipeline Work to Close Intersection

The intersection at Nevada Avenue and Uintah Street will be closed during the next few days because of a water pipeline being laid by the Northwestern Engineering Co.

City Traffic Engineer Don Smith said he anticipated the closure of the intersection would remain in effect for about five days. Detours around the intersection will be necessary.

The $767,659 pipeline project calls for the laying of 10,165 feet of 42-inch, 5,642 feet of 36-inch and 4,528 feet of 30-inch pre-stressed concrete main from the Mesa filter plant to Hancock Avenue and Yampa Street. The job should be finished about May 1.

six years ago when Gen. Maxwell Taylor, then Army Chief of Staff, and now Chief, Joint Chiefs of Staff, came to Colorado Springs to speak at a meeting of the local chapter of the Association of the United States Army.

At that time, Gen. Taylor explained that the Army was experimenting and trying to find new ways to make the Army fit into the nuclear world.

He added that the Pentomic (five-sided) division idea probably was an interim idea and would be succeeded by an idea formed from what the Army learned in its experiment.

Gen. Heintges was one of the Army's top generals who helped plan and implement the ROAD concept, which now that it has been tested is being adopted for all divisions, Infantry, Armored, Mechanized and Airborne.

The general explained that the ROAD concept allows the Army to tailor a division to met the needs of the area, and further allows a commanding general of a division to tailor smaller combat units to fit the objective before the division.

All Army ROAD divisions are built around a similar, and in some cases identical division base which supplies the command and support elements of the division.

Then the division is built up with three brigades which will vary battalions within them, the general said.

For instance, in Asia, the U.S. Army might want a division with 10 Infantry battalions to go along with the division base.

In Korea, a division might have eight Infantry battalions and two tank battalions.

In Europe, a division might have four Infantry battalions, and six tank battalions.

An Airborne division might have only one light tank battalion and nine Infantry battalions.

Under this plan, commanders can organize brigade and battalion units as required and use all weapons as well as being able to quickly use reserve forces when the time comes, Gen. Heintges said.

The new ROAD allows for:

1. Improved training of officers, especially field grade officers.
2. Provides much greater internal flexibility.
3. Allows effective use of resources.
4. Permits increased use of all weapons.
5. Gives improved mobility.

Gen. Heintges pointed out that today's division, such as the 5th Division, has at least three times as much fire power as a division of the days of World War II.

He is a veteran of African, Italian and Central European fighting in that war, winning the Silver Star twice, the Bronze Star six times, the Purple Heart, and the Legion of Merit twice.

The general, a 1936 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, also is a qualified parachutist.

The general explained that service support also has greatly improved under the new concept, as a service battalion can handle problems that formerly were handled, for instance, by Quartermaster, Signal and Ordnance.

Divisions built with battalion building blocks, as the ROAD divisions are, like machines with interchangeable parts, as battalions can be shifted from one division to another with no special problems for the commander, he explained.

The general received a check from the home builders to pay for 25 memberships of Ft. Carson men in the Association of the United States Army.

Mrs. Leaon Myles, Former Resident Died

A former resident of Colorado Springs, Mrs. Leaon Myles, died Monday at Chappell, Neb., where she had lived for the past 16 years.

Mrs. Myles was born June 20, 1913, in Canton, Mo., and moved to Colorado Springs in her early childhood. She attended grade schools here and was graduated from St. Mary's Roman Catholic High School.

A rosary service will be held Thursday and a Requiem High Mass will be sung at 9 a.m. Friday at St. Peter's Church in Chappell for Mrs. Myles who will be buried in Chappell.

Mrs. Myles is survived by her husband Edward J. Myles of Chappell; two daughters, Mrs. Harold Peterson and Martha Lee, both of Chappell; three sons, Michael and Pat Myles, Notre Dame, Ind., and Charles Myles, a student at Creighton Medical School in Omaha, Nebr.; two grandchildren; and Colorado Springs relatives Mrs. Joseph Graham, Mrs. Patrick Dawson, Charles Myles and several neices and Nephews here.

Today's Weather

(Reports furnished by U. S. Weather Bureau Station at Peterson Field as of 5:30 a.m. today!)

The severe thunderstorm activity which was reported over Georgia and South Carolina, Tuesday night has diminished in intensity with only a few scattered thundershowers present over these states this morning.

During the night, thunderstorms also struck across Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, and a pilot reported sighting a funnel cloud tornado near Martinsville, Ind.

These thunderstorms have diminished in intensity and moved on into Pennsylvania, western New York state, and West Virginia.

The moist air clinging to the northeast has produced a rather thick and bothersome fog along with drizzle from northern Indiana, eastward into Pennsylvania and the middle and north Atlantic coast states.

Fog also was widespread over the Gulf Coast states.

Meanwhile, light snow continued over the south central Rockies and the Plains from Colorado, northeastward into the upper Mississippi Valley and western Great Lakes region.

Light snow was also reported across the northern parts of New York state and New England.

Mild and humid air covered the Gulf Coast region and south Atlantic coast states, northeastward into Virginia.

Temperatures were mainly in the 60s here with low 70s reported in southern Florida and upper 50s over the Carolinas.

The remaining portions of the country were rather cool with below freezing temperatures covering all areas west of the Mississippi except the southern Plains and the southern interior deserts and points along the immediate Pacific coast.

City Fire Stations Get Many Visitors

A lot of people visited the six Colorado Springs fire stations last year, according to Fire Chief Fred H. Lausch.

He said that 385 Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts accompanied by 67 adults inspected the stations.

In addition, the chief said, 981 school children accompanied by 131 adults viewed the fire department operations during the year.

Many of the Boy Scouts were given examinations for merit badges, including 25 for safety, 59 for firemanship and five for first aid. Fourteen Boy and Girl couts were given instructions for merit badges.

Chief Lausch also reported that firemen at No. 5 station spent 1,742 hours repairing and painting toys for Christmas Unlimited.

In addition to fight fires, firemen also spent 14,340 man hours in instruction and drill at the drill fields and in the stations.

free press."

"Where practices have developed which raise questions under the antitrust laws, the subcommittee will consider whether these practices tend to promote or destroy newspaper competition," Celler said.

"Where the survival of newspapers appears to require it," he said, "limited antitrust exemptions may be considered."

Celler said he wanted to know if concentration was "good," bad or of no consequence," or inevitable under existing circumstances, and if certain industry practices were unreasonable restraints of trade and whether they should be exempted from the antitrust laws.

While newspaper circulation has increased faster than population in the last 50 years, he noted the number of daily newspapers has decreased from 2,200 in 1909 to 1,760 at present.

Celler said there were 689 cities with separately owned and published, editorially independent daily newspapers in 1909 and 52 today.

"Ours is a constructive purpose," Celler said. "We seek to determine the causes for the decline in the number of newspapers and newspaper competition, to explore the problems of the newspaper business which have produced so widespread a pattern of local newspaper monopoly, and to inquire what remedial action, if any, is needed to preserve newspaper competition where it still exists and to foster its emergence where monopoly now prevails."

Celler said it was the subcommittee's intention to look into the "cost squeeze" on newspapers, the effect of television on newspaper revenues and chain ownership.

"We shall consider too whether the concentration of ownership of the daily press has in fact diminished the variety of news and views, for there is distinguished authority which holds it has not," he said.

Tass made no mention of dummy, or nonexplosive shells. But Moscow Radio referred to the shells as dummies.

"According to information received, two U.S. cruisers of the Boston type and a destroyer of the Frank type fired at the Soviet refrigerator trawler SRTR 9,000-7, engaged in fishing on the high seas," the radio said.

"At the time of the firing, the Soviet trawler was 70 miles east of Norfolk.

"The U.S. warships at 12:15, fired two artillery rounds with dummies from a range of five miles at the trawler. The shells fell about 130 meters (about 400 feet) from the vessel.

"Subsequently at 12:50 p.m. approaching to within one kilometer (.6 of a mile), they fired two more shots with dummies which fell 60 meters (about 190 feet) from the trawler.

"By their actions the U.S. warships created a threat to the safety of the Soviet trawler and her crew."

The Moscow announcement said the note was delivered in Washington, where there was no immediate comment.

Maytag, Faricy Compete for Top State Demo Post

rying" the different factions within the Democratic Party in order to get them "moving down the road together.

"No one group is going to achieve all the things it would like to achieve," he said. "But all will achieve some of the things." The alternative to unity, he added, "could be worse than 1962."

The meeting was not billed as a debate, but the candidates did clash on some issues. Faricy dismissed the need for the public relations man that Maytag urged, suggesting instead the appointment of an executive assistant well versed in Democratic politics who could work more effectively with the county organizations.

Maytag claimed that "certain counties need reorganization very badly," but exempted El Paso from this category. One of the problems, he said, is the suburbia vote. Whereas the party in the East has done very well with it, in Colorado it remains solidly Republican.

Maytag urged an increased subsidy for the party publication, the "Colorado Democrat," in order to enlarge it and make it more readable. He also suggested an overhaul of the annual Jefferson-Jackson Dinner, which last year, under his direction, barely met expenses. "Is it for fund raising, or party appreciation?" he asked.

A newcomer in the state organization, Faricy said, "Don't vote for me if you don't want to work. If I am elected more people are going to be called upon to do more things than ever before."

Most of those in attendance could not vote anyway. The state chairman will be elected by members of the Democratic State Central Committee and elected state officials, numbering about 250.

Faricy promised that if elected he would hold six regional meetings, drawing in county chairmen to discuss their problems and to develop plans for coming campaigns. The county workers are not "deadwood," he said, merely overwhelmed by the duties of covering the precinct. "Give them a track to run on," he concluded, "and they become effective."

Federal Tax Lien Filed Here Tuesday

A federal tax lien was filed Tuesday with the County Clerk against the House of Oscar, Inc. 308 N. Nevada Ave., for nonpayment of withholding taxes and excise tax for the fourth quarter in 1962.

The delinquent taxes amounted to $1,129.01, according to V. Lee Phillips, district director of internal revenue.

Council Rejects Fire Code Change

City Council Tuesday unanimously rejected proposed changes to the Colorado Springs Fire Prevention Code concerning delivery of gasoline to service stations by larger truck transports within the city limits. Weight limits will remain at 2,200 pounds rather than the proposed 9,000-pounds.

H. R. Grueskin, representing the Dividend Bonded Gas Company, who had requested the new suggestions, said, "I'm amazed that so many men can change their minds so completely, in so short a time, on an identical issue."

The councilmen voted Feb. 12 to adopt the revisions at Tuesday's meeting but apparently changed they minds after reviewing a study made by Fire Chief Fred Lausch on the proposed ordinance.

Council had denied Grueskin's first request on Jan. 8.

Speaking against the proposed ordinance Tuesday was Paul Bradley, general manager of the Hill Oil Company, who told the council that even tho it would be more economical for his company to allow the transports, he felt that established tankers within the city would be hurt by out-of-state operators.

Councilman Harold Hawks moved to reject the changes and the councilmen unanimously approved. They were Mayor William Henderson, Councilmen Hawks, Carl Decker, Harry Hoth, William Roe, Floyd Roberts, Robert Johnson and Melvin Olsen. Hugh Weed resigned at the last meeting in February to assume his new post as Colorado Revenue Director.

MORE TOURISTS

HONG KONG (AP)—More than a quarter million foreign tourists visited Hong Kong in 1962, the Hong Kong Tourist Association announced.

The number, not including those of Chinese nationality, passengers in direct transit and military personnel on rest and recreational visits, represented a 15 per cent increase over the previous year.

President Sees Downturn Unless Taxes Are Cut

is important to avoid "an unrealistic debt ceiling or budget cut."

Wrong decisions in these three policy areas would, he said, "spell downturn and disaster for the American economy as a whole."

In remarks prepared for the annual Washington conference of the Advertising Council, Kennedy said wrong decisions on all three points were made in 1957-1960 by "a Republican administration and a Democratic Congress."

As a result, he contended, the nation has been paying a high price ever since by slogging along with a below-par economy.

"I am hopeful," Kennedy said, "that the lessons of history will be remembered by us all—by those of us in the administration and the Congress, and those in this audience who are leaders of opinion in the business community."

The scope of Kennedy's argument, in what originally was expected to be a brief and rather routine appearance, seemed a measure of presidential concern over congressional criticism of the administration's record $98.8-billion budget and the request for a continuation of the record temporary debt ceiling of $308 billion. The White House is expected to ask a higher debt ceiling later.

By linking both these items with the attention-getting tax cut issue, the President seemed bent on seeking broader support for a more boldly stated plan of attack on the ills of the economy.

In essence, this was the argument, described as non-partisan, which Kennedy put forward:

—"The faults of the last five years" were attributed, in the President's words, to a bipartisan decision "in 1957 to keep the debt limit unrealistically low, to cut back and stretch out our budget expenditures, to tighten monetary policy and to reject all efforts at tax reduction." Kennedy concended the situation was aggravated in 1960 by further moves toward "tight money."

—"The harsh results" were described as a slowdown in contracts, a delay in federal payments to business, two costly recessions and bigger-than-ever budget deficits.

State Democrat Chairman to Face Big Test in 1966

ties in both houses of the state legislature.

This writer appeared on a panel of newsmen before the Young Democrats about a month after the election and predicted at that time that the Democrats would get a new state chairman, and that further the man would be of a younger generation.

Both Faricy and Maytag are of the younger generation.

Both men seem to be asking for a job that not many people want.

It could be a thankless job for it is tough to rebuild a beaten party when you hold very few offices.

Whatever the size of the task, there are not too many important challenges in the near future for the state chairman. U.S. House seats and seats in the state assembly will be up next year, but neither senatorship nor the governorship come up until 1966.

If the Democrats stage a strong comeback in the state assembly next year and get control of one house, or both, then the new state chairman—Maytag or Faricy—probably will be in a position to stay on the job until 1966 at least.

Next year being a presidential election year, the state chairman will have a hand in who goes to the national Democratic convention, in addition to himself.

However, in all likelihood, President John F. Kennedy will be unopposed for renomination and so Colorado's delegates to that convention won't help write much history.

While the state's Democrats are shooting to win everything they can in 1964, the man who is named state chairman just can't avoid looking toward 1966 when Gov. John A. Love and U.S. Sen. Gordon A. Allott must run again along with all the state assemblymen and the U.S. representatives.

Truck Stolen From School Lot

Joe Frei of 447 Marion Dr. reported to the sheriff's office Tuesday that his 1954 Ford pickup had been stolen from the Harrison School parking lot.

Deputy Sheriff Bob Walters said Frei's son parked the vehicle at 8:30 Tuesday morning and that the keys were not in it. The missing pickup is grey, has a Zing horizontal forced air furnace in the rear and black and gold decals and Security Plumbing Co. on the side.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy will not hold a news conference this week. He will hold one next week on Thursday at 4 p.m. EST.

NANCY WOOD

MYRON WOOD

Local Couple Start New Publishing Business Here

"There was a need for a quality publisher in this part of the country so we formed Chaparral Press," said photographer Myron Wood of Colorado Springs who this week announced formation of a new pubishing house.

Partner in the venture is his writer-wife Nancy Wood who will handle book design and promotion. Secretary-treasurer is Grace A. Bennett, Colorado Springs accountant.

The first title by Chaparral Press will appear in early May. Titled "Central City: A Ballad of the West," it is an 80-page book of 100 photographs illustrating a vanishing part of the western civilization. It was photographed by Myron Wood and written and designed by Nancy Wood.

"Three publishers offered to do the book but it was a question of quality," said Wood. "We knew we were taking a chance publishing it ourselves but the whole thing centered on one point: will the reproduction of photographs be the best we can get? We were assured of that only by watching it every step of the way like a couple of mother hens.

"We talked to printers everywhere, even two in the east and finally decided on Neilsen Litho, a small, quality Denver firm. Hoflund-Schmidt did the typography. Don't get the notion we're a vanity press-we're not.

"We have several non-Wood items under consideration for next year. We'd like to do only one or two titles a year in almost any field. The only prerequisite is that the material must stack up against anything published anywhere in the world."

The name "Chaparral" comes from the southwest and means "roadrunner." "He's a funnly little bird who looks like he will never get off the ground," said Wood. "We hope the opposite will be true for our publishing company."

Asked if he thought there were too many publishers in the west, Wood replied, "On the contrary, there aren't enough. There are several specialty firms. One does primarily music, another primarily text books. The largest one is general and very good. We aren't competing with any of these. We've spent a great deal of time with booksellers for we have no other way of knowing what sells and what doesn't. I was amazed at the great voids in certain categories of books. This is what we hope to fill."

Myron Wood's work has appeared in Harvester World, Business Week, Time, Fortune, Woman's Day, Redbook, Craft Horizons, and he will have a spread in the April issue of the Cyanamid Magazine, the mass circulation publication of the American Cyanamid Company. He also works for the Ford Foundation.

Wood has exhibited in Colorado Springs, Denver, California, New York City, and thru the United States Information Agency has presented his work in Europe and Asia.

Regionally, he has aquired a reputation as a photographer of children and employs the unusual technique of photographing them in their homes over a period of several sittings. He has taught photography for several years on a part-time basis.

He won his degree in music from Oklahoma A & M, decided on a career in photography while studying at Yale University. He is a member of the American Society of Magazine Photographers.

Nancy Wood worked as a correspondent for the Philadelphia Bulletin, the Philadelphia Inquirer, and the Associated Press. She is an alumna of Bucknell University. She worked in advertising sales for KSSS and KFMH before publishing a fine arts magazine for the Pikes Peak region.

She is the editor of "The Record," the quarterly publication of the Episcopal Church in Colorado Springs. At present, Mrs. Wood is writing a novel which will not be published by Chaparral Press.

Floods Leave 30,000 Homeless in Kentucky

ferry food into isolated communities while refugees were quartered in public buildings, schools, courthouses or moved in with relatives.

Water was four feet deep in the business district of Pikeville but was receding. Big Sandy crested there at 50 feet, 15 feet above flood stage.

A railroad fireman died when a Chesapeake & Ohio coal train slammed into a landslide and then plunged into the river near Pikeville. Another man drowned in Kentucky and a third was missing and presumed drowned.

Five persons died as the result of severe flooding in southern West Virginia. Two of the victims drowned and three others suffered heart attacks while trying to escape the high water.

Gov. W. W. Barron asked the President to declare 11 hard-hit West Virginia counties a disaster area as residents attempted to salvage household possessions.

Several thousand persons were driven from their homes temporarily by the flooding Guyandotte and Tug rivers and U.S. Army engineers estimated damage would run into millions of dollars.

In mountainous western Virginia, streams spilling over their banks drove nearly 5,000 persons from their homes. Property damage in a nine-county area was estimated at $5.2 million.

Four persons were listed as missing, including an elderly widow believed buried under tons of slate in the shattered remains of her home in the tiny mountain village of Arno in Wis County. Three men have not been seen since they started a canoe trip on a flood-swollen river near Covington.

Rampaging waters of the Sequatchie River in east Tennessee swept away the home of Mr. and Mrs. Georgia Dixon. They drowned as did their two children.

Streams in the state were still rising but the Tennessee Valley Authority began a major flood control operation by spilling vast amounts of water from dams along the Tennessee River to create space for new runoffs from tributaries.

Three Southern Railway passenger trains bound for Birmingham, Ala., Washington and Jacksonville, Fla., were halted in east Tennessee towns until the water receded.

Eight young Atlanta campers from Westminster School were removed by canoe from a cave near South Pittsburg about 20 miles west of Chattanooga. The approach to the cave was flooded.

A tornado stormed through Tallapoosa County in central Alabama, wrecking buildings, churches and utility lines and causing damage estimated at $50,000.

The twister struck the day after tornadoes roared across a three-state area, killing two persons in Alabama, two in Mississippi and one in Tennessee.

An Alabama woman drowned when a car plunged through a bridge into a stream near Huntsville. Water damage was estimated at $4 million for soil erosion alone.

High wind and heavy rain lashed portions of Georgia and South Carolina. A porch was swept off a house in La Grange, Ga., and two Atlanta filling station attendants were buried temporarily when a retaining wall gave way. They were rescued an hour and a half later.

Vern Collier Elected Alumni Group Head

Vern Collier was elected president of the Colorado College Sigma Chi Alumni Association at a meeting at the Sigma Chi House at 7 p.m., March 6. Other officers elected are:

Tom Pelican, vice-president; James Bower, secretary; Robert Price, treasurer; Larry Doolen, chapter advisor; Dale Dalby, director; Lou Slothower, director; Merve Zeiler, director, and Fred Funk, director. The next meeting of the association will be held Wednesday, March 20, at 7 p.m. at the Sigma Chi House, 1117 N. Nevada Ave.

Heavy Schedule Of Items Faces Planning Board

A score of items will be considered by the City Planning Commission when it meets in regular session starting at 4 p.m. Thursday in the City Council chambers. Requests to be considered are:

Herbert L. Goldstein to change the east side of the 200 block of South Wahsatch Avenue from the R-5, C-5 and M-1 to the M-1 (light industrial) zone.

Theodosia E. Demetry for an amendment to the development plan of the Golf Club Acres group dwelling project. The block involved is bounded by Columbia Street on the north, Hancock Avenue on the west, San Miguel Street on the south and Foote Avenue on the east.

Craig Weaver to change to an R-5 (multi-family residential) zone a block bounded by Monument Creek on the west, Monument Street on the south and Mesa Road on the north. The area is now in the R-2 and R-5 zones.

Pikes Peak Lodge No. 5, AF & AM, to change the east side of the 800 block of North Royer Street from the R-3 (two-family residential) to the R-5 (multi-family residential) zone.

B. H. Smartt to change a 1.64-acre tract west of the freeway and south of Mill Street (extended west) from the R-2 to the C-4 (general business) zone. It lies on the east side of Fountain Creek Boulevard.

James Bobbitt and Wayne Banks to change 2918 thru 2922 N. Chestnut St. from the R-2 to the C-5 (intermediate business) zone.

Preliminary replat of Rudd's Subdivision by E. B. Sasnett, which involves a 3.36-acre tract lying on the west side of the 400 and 500 blocks of North Echo Lane.

Final replat of a 40-acre tract lying north of the Rock Island Railroad right-of-way and east of Galley Road extended north. This is to be considered in accordance with SB 154.

Final replat of a 9-acre tract lying southeast of the intersection of Parkview Boulevard with Cresta Road. This also will be considered under provisions of SB 154.

Petition by nine and owners requesting annexation of 12.89 acres lying southwest of the intersection of San Miguel Street and Academy Boulevard.

Petition by B. H. Smartt and Son requesting annexation of 57 acres located 300 feet south of U. S. Highway 24, southwest of the intersection of Academy Boulevard and Highway 24.

Preliminary plat of Austin Acres Subdivision by B. H. Smartt and Son. This involves a 30-acre tract lying southwest of the intersection of Academy Boulevard with U. S. Highway 24.

Arthur J. Haussman requesting annexation of a 64.7 acre tract lying between Maizeland Road and Brady Boulevard west of the proposed Academy Boulevard.

Final replat of Glen Oaks Subdivision Filing No. 5 by A. J. Lanza, which involves a 33.65 acre tract located north of Templeton Gap Road about three quarters of a mile west of the intersection of Academy Boulevard and Templeton Gap Road.

A. J. Lanza requesting annexation of a .66 acre tract lying northwest of the intersection of Flintridge Drive and Anitra Circle.

Preliminary plat of Rustic Hills Industrial Park Subdivision by B. H. Smartt. This involves a tract located one and a half miles east of Academy Boulevard and one half mile north of U. S. Highway 24.

Robert P. Day for vacation of a north-south, 16-foot alley located between 526 and 522 Mona Place.

Discussion about the east side of the 2200 and 2300 blocks of North Weber Street relative to curb, gutter and paving.

Water Pipeline Work to Close Intersection

The intersection at Nevada Avenue and Uintah Street will be closed during the next few days because of a water pipeline being laid by the Northwestern Engineering Co.

City Traffic Engineer Don Smith said he anticipated the closure of the intersection would remain in effect for about five days. Detours around the intersection will be necessary.

The $767,659 pipeline project calls for the laying of 10,165 feet of 42-inch, 5,642 feet of 36-inch and 4,528 feet of 30-inch pre-stressed concrete main from the Mesa filter plant to Hancock Avenue and Yampa Street. The job should be finished about May 1.

MY ANSWER

N.Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

QUESTION: I have been going to a church I like, but the people are very strict and have puritanical ideas which I cannot subscribe to. Should I join a church which sets so high a standard? —H. L.

ANSWER: The word 'puritanical' has fallen into disrepute among us moderns. But, whatever our revolt against 'puritanism', one thing is sure: impuritanism will never save us. The word 'puritanical' means "strict in morals and religion" — we could use a little of that. In a world in which there is too little differentiation between a Christian and a pagan, I think it is wholesome to be 'strict on morals'. I wouldn't want to ride in a jet where the pilot was so 'liberal' that he paid more attention to the stewardess than he did to the controls. I wouldn't want to be a member of a church which loved my goodwill and contributions more than they loved my soul.

My advice: join that church! There are too few of them left, and I believe that in an age that plays 'footsie' with the world, it is good to have a standard so high that it stretches us to our full stature to live up to it.

California Oil Co. Opens Bulk Plant in Springs

California Oil Co., Denver-based marketers of Chevron products in the Rocky Mountain Region, the Southwest and certain plains states, will hold a public grand opening of its new Chevron wholesale bulk plant at Moreno Avenue and Sahwatch Street Friday and Saturday, C. M. Tuller, vice president and general manager of marketing, announced today in Denver.

Tuller also announced the appointment of W. D. (Bill) Leonard as wholesale distributor of Chevron products in Colorado Springs.

"The new Chevron Bulk Plant, which is of the latest design and construction, together with the eleven modern Chevron Service Stations presently operated within the Colorado and Manitou Springs area, will allow the company to keep pace with the rapid growth of the community by continuing to offer quality products together with expanded and dependable services," Tuller said.

"California Oil Company," he continued, "is a fully integrated oil company with facilities not only for Marketing but also for Exploration, Production, Pipe Lines and Refineries."

He said that the company has more than 2,400 employes with an annual payroll of more than $19 million, of which over 4 million is in the State of Colorado.

He said that expansion is the credo of California Oil Company and that the blueprint calls for more Chevron Stations, more exploration and production and more efficiency for 1963.

A major expansion of the Company's 2,000 Chevron Service Stations and other marketing facilities in 13 states is presently being conducted to keep abreast of the continuing growth of the area, he added.

Leonard, a native of Cowan, Colo., comes to Colorado Springs from Pueblo, where he was district sales manager for California Oil Co. Leonard started his career in the oil industry some 15 years ago and has held various sales positions in Denver and other Colorado points. He attended the Missouri School of Mines in Engineering and served four years in the U. S. Army.

While in Pueblo, Leonard was active in civic affairs. He belonged to the Rotary Club, the Elks Club, the American Legion and the 40 et 8. He also holds a private flying license and his hobby is photography.

Mrs. Leonard, a native of Leadville, also was active in civic affairs in Pueblo, having served as president of the League of Women Voters, president of the Crippled Children's Society and as a member of the board of the YWCA.

The Leonards have purchased a home at 2047 Patrician Way.

Plastic Film Will Disappear in Space

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — A plastic film that disappears when exposed to ultraviolet rays in space has been developed by Goodyear Aircraft Corporation for use in space exploration. Resembling household packaging wrap, it can be used as a bladder for inflation and erection of space structures.

After it has served its purpose as a foam for a satellite, space antenna or whatever, it disappears — or "photolyzes," to use the technical term.

Federal Pavilion To Be Monumental

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Federal Pavilion at the New York 1964-65 World's Fair will be a monumental structure more than a city block square which seemingly "floats" 18 feet above the ground on four supporting columns.

With the theme "Challenge to Greatness," the Federal exhibit will "dramatize the benefits mankind derives from the cultural and economic advances possible under a democratic society, an announcement said.

KYOTO, Japan (AP) — American residents here who try to vary their almost-constant fish diet, occasionally are able to buy some Japanese pork. Unfortunately, the pork often tastes almost exactly like fish, because pigs in Japan—like humans—have fish as their main food item.

Widefield High Windup

By SHARON LOVELESS

Members of the WHS chorus are planning to start a drive for robes. Since these robes are expensive, it is planned that the money-making projects will be started this spring to be continued next year when the robes are bought.

One of the projects will be a performance open to the public consisting of skits and acts, not all of which will be musical.

Because of the importance of the robe drive, new officers have been elected in the chorus. Carolyn Byerly is the president with Lloyd Wright as vice-president. Cathy Utley and Barbara Thomas are secretary-treasurer and librarian, respectively.

Colorado Springs businessmen visited Widefield school district during Education Day, Feb. 27. During the tours, guests were allowed to sit in on various classes in order that they might see first hand how the classrooms operate and what teaching techniques are being used.

Student council members Lynda Hanson, Donna Holzinger, Carol Williamson, Carolyn Byerly, Billie Posey, Rusty Henninger and Art Barr acted as guides for the visitors.

WHS students Larry Rawlinson and Tom Shaw joined the "45" club by walking from Security to Monument and back. They meant to go 50 miles, but through a miscalulation went only 45. The trip took 16 hours.

Varsity football players and wrestlers received their letters in an awards assembly March 1. Coaches Frank Stancato and Gary Richardson presented the football letters. The wrestlers' letters were given by Coach Roland Rounds.

Life Problem classes have divided into groups to study various social problems in America today. Some of these groups plan to present films and speakers after they present a preliminary panel.

MY ANSWER

by Billy Graham

N.Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

QUESTION: I have been going to a church I like, but the people are very strict and have puritanical ideas which I cannot subscribe to. Should I join a church which sets so high a standard? —H. L.

ANSWER: The word 'puritanical' has fallen into disrepute among us moderns. But, whatever our revolt against 'puritanism', one thing is sure: impuritanism will never save us. The word 'puritanical' means "strict in morals and religion" — we could use a little of that. In a world in which there is too little differentiation between a Christian and a pagan, I think it is wholesome to be 'strict on morals'. I wouldn't want to ride in a jet where the pilot was so 'liberal' that he paid more attention to the stewardess than he did to the controls. I wouldn't want to be a member of a church which loved my goodwill and contributions more than they loved my soul.

My advice: join that church! There are too few of them left, and I believe that in an age that plays 'footsie' with the world, it is good to have a standard so high that it stretches us to our full stature to live up to it.

CALIFORNIA OIL PLANT — W. D. (Bill) Leonard, newly named wholesale distributor here for Chevron products, stands in front of the new California Oil Co. bulk plant, Moreno Avenue and Sahwatch Street, where open house will be held Friday and Saturday.

California Oil Co. Opens Bulk Plant in Springs

California Oil Co., Denver-based marketers of Chevron products in the Rocky Mountain Region, the Southwest and certain plains states, will hold a public grand opening of its new Chevron wholesale bulk plant at Moreno Avenue and Sahwatch Street Friday and Saturday, C. M. Tuller, vice president and general manager of marketing, announced today in Denver.

Tuller also announced the appointment of W. D. (Bill) Leonard as wholesale distributor of Chevron products in Colorado Springs.

"The new Chevron Bulk Plant, which is of the latest design and construction, together with the eleven modern Chevron Service Stations presently operated within the Colorado and Manitou Springs area, will allow the company to keep pace with the rapid growth of the community by continuing to offer quality products together with expanded and dependable services," Tuller said.

"California Oil Company," he continued, "is a fully integrated oil company with facilities not only for Marketing but also for Exploration, Production, Pipe Lines and Refineries."

He said that the company has more than 2,400 employes with an annual payroll of more than $19 million, of which over 4 million is in the State of Colorado.

He said that expansion is the credo of California Oil Company and that the blueprint calls for more Chevron Stations, more exploration and production and more efficiency for 1963.

A major expansion of the Company's 2,000 Chevron Service Stations and other marketing facilities in 13 states is presently being conducted to keep abreast of the continuing growth of the area, he added.

Leonard, a native of Cowan, Colo., comes to Colorado Springs from Pueblo, where he was district sales manager for California Oil Co. Leonard started his career in the oil industry some 15 years ago and has held various sales positions in Denver and other Colorado points. He attended the Missouri School of Mines in Engineering and served four years in the U. S. Army.

While in Pueblo, Leonard was active in civic affairs. He belonged to the Rotary Club, the Elks Club, the American Legion and the 40 et 8. He also holds a private flying license and his hobby is photography.

Mrs. Leonard, a native of Leadville, also was active in civic affairs in Pueblo, having served as president of the League of Women Voters, president of the Crippled Children's Society and as a member of the board of the YWCA.

The Leonards have purchased a home at 2047 Patrician Way.

Plastic Film Will Disappear in Space

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — A plastic film that disappears when exposed to ultraviolet rays in space has been developed by Goodyear Aircraft Corporation for use in space exploration. Resembling household packaging wrap, it can be used as a bladder for inflation and erection of space structures.

After it has served its purpose as a foam for a satellite, space antenna or whatever, it disappears — or "photolyzes," to use the technical term.

Federal Pavilion To Be Monumental

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Federal Pavilion at the New York 1964-65 World's Fair will be a monumental structure more than a city block square which seemingly "floats" 18 feet above the ground on four supporting columns.

With the theme "Challenge to Greatness," the Federal exhibit will "dramatize the benefits mankind derives from the cultural and economic advances possible under a democratic society, an announcement said.

CAN'T ESCAPE THE FISH

KYOTO, Japan (AP) — American residents here who try to vary their almost-constant fish diet, occasionally are able to buy some Japanese pork. Unfortunately, the pork often tastes almost exactly like fish, because pigs in Japan—like humans—have fish as their main food item.

Widefield High Windup

Members of the WHS chorus are planning to start a drive for robes. Since these robes are expensive, it is planned that the money-making projects will be started this spring to be continued next year when the robes are bought.

One of the projects will be a performance open to the public consisting of skits and acts, not all of which will be musical.

Because of the importance of the robe drive, new officers have been elected in the chorus. Carolyn Byerly is the president with Lloyd Wright as vice-president. Cathy Utley and Barbara Thomas are secretary-treasurer and librarian, respectively.

Colorado Springs businessmen visited Widefield school district during Education Day, Feb. 27. During the tours, guests were allowed to sit in on various classes in order that they might see first hand how the classrooms operate and what teaching techniques are being used.

Student council members Lynda Hanson, Donna Holzinger, Carol Williamson, Carolyn Byerly, Billie Posey, Rusty Henninger and Art Barr acted as guides for the visitors.

WHS students Larry Rawlinson and Tom Shaw joined the "45" club by walking from Security to Monument and back. They meant to go 50 miles, but through a miscalulation went only 45. The trip took 16 hours.

Varsity football players and wrestlers received their letters in an awards assembly March 1. Coaches Frank Stancato and Gary Richardson presented the football letters. The wrestlers' letters were given by Coach Roland Rounds.

Life Problem classes have divided into groups to study various social problems in America today. Some of these groups plan to present films and speakers after they present a preliminary panel.

COLORADO SPRINGS
GAZETTE TELEGRAPH
Your Freedom Newspaper

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

The Bogey-Man of Monopoly

Reader Donohue, again with us in Open Parliament, provides about as good evidence as one could find as to the serious lack of understanding of our economic system. Presumably Sgt. Donohue is the product of our compulsive government school system and hence should be forgiven for what he does not know.

The classic instance he cites, in which a giant chain store was seeking to obtain a monopoly, is the same kind of story which nursemaids used to tell their children on dark and wintry nights in an effort to terrify them and send them quietly to bed. The big bad bogey man of monopoly will get you if you don't watch out!

As C. Northcote Parkinson was astute enough to point out in one of his books ("In Laws and Out Laws"), it is astonishing how people who fear monopoly will invoke the power of monopoly (government) to prevent monopoly.

This yarn of the giant chain store squeezing out the little fellow is no longer creditable where people have even a rudimentary knowledge of capitalism and how it works.

First of all, no business flourishes particularly well if it obtains a monopoly position. It flourishes only when it has a large number of satisfied customers. To obtain a large number of satisfied customers it must offer good merchandise at low prices.

Assuming a free market, one in which there is no government interference of any kind, let us conjure up the terrifying picture of this truculent giant of Donohue's mythology and see what would happen to it.

Here is town A, served by a couple of small grocers. Prices are high. Products are not varied. Quality is not particularly high. This was normal in 1890.

In comes the Giant. A fine new store is put in. (Construction employs local men, salaries rise, the town has a better appearance). When the store is opened, local men are employed. A vast array of merchandise is brought in, varied, skillfully displayed and at low prices.

Customers flock to the store. The two old-fashioned stores which had limited merchandise and high prices are NOT forced out of business, but they may decide to change their methods of operation in order NOT to be forced out. If they do, they can compete. They cannot compete price-wise. But prices are only one factor of the competitive picture. They may be able to offer better service. They may provide certain specialties the larger store cannot manage to do as well.

But, to continue with Donohue's myth, let us suppose the two old-fashioned stores decide they cannot compete and they do go out of business. They have been injured then, not by the new store, but by their own inability to cope with the changed market.

But who has been helped? Everyone in Town A. The town has a larger payroll. It has a better appearance. And thousands of people can now buy merchandise at lower prices than before.

But, let us suppose, as Donohue has it, that AFTER the small stores are closed, the BIG GIANT now raises its prices! That puts us back to the condition that existed before the Big Giant came in. Prices were high then and merchandise was limited. Now prices are high again and merchandise is less limited. Meanwhile, everything in town has improved.

We challenge Sgt. Donohue to provide us a single verifiable example in which a large, new store, operated by a chain, raised prices to a point HIGHER than the normal average prices pertaining in the same community prior to the chain's beginnings.

We believe the good sergeant is merely the victim of the old wives' tales taught in so many government schools. We want no generalization, now; we want a specific and verifiable account.

The history of chain store operations, similar to the histories of other large businesses, is a history in which more and more goods and services were provided at less and less cost to more and more people.

The intrusion of the Sherman anti-trust legislation, contrary to popular superstition, did NOT prevent monopoly. On the contary, it has aided in making monopoly possible.

Talent or Genius

If you can do with ease what others do with great difficulty, you have talent. If you can do what people of talent cannot do at all, you are a genius.

Direct Competition

Let us consider monopoly.

There are very few of us today who would favor such a condition.

But before we become terrified of it and commit the hopeless error of assuming that government can prevent monopoly, it would pay us to study the subject and try to understand just what monopoly is.

For purposes of defining meanings and to minimize misunderstanding, we are going to say that a condition of monopoly is one in which competition does not exist and cannot be made to exist.

Therefore, if competition does exist or if it can readily be made to exist, a condition of monopoly will not pertain.

Thus, to understand monopoly, we will first have to understand competition.

In the market place there are always four kinds of competition. All four of these kinds of competition WILL exist as a natural fact, UNLESS some agency of force (government, government-backed unions, etc.) exists.

Persons having only meager knowledge of the workings of the market usually tend to view competition in an autistic manner. They assume that competition is ONLY competition when it is DIRECT competition.

Direct competition is, of course, one kind of competition. Almost everyone knows what it is. A given firm manufactures straight pins, let us suppose. NO OTHER FIRMS EXIST which are presently engaged in the manufacture of straight pins.

Assuming that a second firm does begin to manufacture straight pins, then direct competition exists in the manufacture of this product.

Examples of direct competition exist on every hand. There are two drug stores; two motion picture theaters; two department stores; two banks; two canneries; two of anything engaged in the manufacture or distribution of a product or products which are virtually identical.

To conform to the definition precisely, for direct competition to exist, the product or service offered must be virtually identical.

Actually, there is very little purely DIRECT competition.

For instance, take two drug stores. In theory, they are direct competitors. In practice, each management will strive to avoid as much direct competition as possible. One drug store, for instance, may actually specialize in pharmaceutical supplies and the second will specialize in merchandising other, tho kindred, items. One will have a magazine rack. The other will have a lunch counter. And so on. Even tho both are called "drug stores" the effort will be made in both cases to avoid as much absolute direct competition as possible.

Here are two motion picture theaters. To be DIRECTLY competitive, both must show the same picture at the same time. This rarely happens. Each will compete with the other by trying to exhibit something the other one cannot exhibit.

The same is universally true thruout the direct competition picture. Still, we call this kind of competition, DIRECT. But it is far from being the only kind of competition.

It is important, too, to grasp the fact that location, price, quality of service, terms offered, and so on, all reflect on competition and tend to minimize the DIRECT nature of competition.

For instance, two retail outlets in a given community may both offer steam-irons made by the same manufacturer. Insofar as the product is concerned, direct competition exists.

But one store will be open on Sunday. The other will offer convenient terms. One will deliver. The other will have such courteous help that it builds a great amount of good will. This does not change or eliminate the direct competition concept. But it is important that we reflect on the fact that what often appears to be direct competition has been or may be altered by merchandising methods.

Nation's Press

U.N. Bites the U.S. Hand

From Ft. Lauderdale (Fla.) Daily News

We wonder today how many more kicks in the teeth this country is going to have to take from the United Nations before our Washington dreamers wake up to the fact this international organization isn't worth the vast amount of taxpayer money we are lavishing upon it.

Disillusionment, admittedly, is slow to come to many of the people who go about parroting that the U. N. is the world's last hope for peace and this country must support it at all costs. But this week even many U.N. supporters were somewhat shocked and disgusted over the blatant way this outfit is taking our money with one hand and sticking a veritable knife in our back with the other.

The first shocker was an announcement from Paul G. Hoffman, managing director of the U. N. Special Fund, that a $1.5 million agricultural aid project for Cuba had been revived and would get under way in the next few months. The U. S. contributes 40 per cent of the funds that finance this particular U.N. activity and ever since this Cuban aid project was first broached our U.N. representatives have strongly objected to going ahead with this deal under the present circumstances in Cuba.

For a while our objections served to put the aid project on ice but now the 18-nation governing council that controls the use of the U.N. Special Fund has decided to more or less ignore our objections and get started on the Cuban project just as soon as it can recruit enough foreign experts to oversee the program.

As a sop to us, Hoffman has declared that not one single American dollar will be used on the Cuban project. But even should this pledge be carried out it is still incredible that an organization which draws 40 per cent of its support from us should sidetrack our objections and proceed to give aid and comfort to a Communist dictatorship we are trying to drive out of this hemisphere.

As if this announcement were not bad enough, at about the same time there came word that another U. N. agency, good old UNESCO, which stands for the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, had published a booklet praising the Soviet Union as a "brotherhood of free and equal people" and denouncing "colonialist oppression" by Western nations.

According to this enlightenng booklet "it was the Communist party which showed the peoples of Russia the true way to free themselves from social and national oppression."

UNESCO has an annual budget of some $39 million of which the United States contributes nearly one-third while Russia contributes only about 15 per cent.

Under these circumstances it is no wonder that some congressmen hit the ceiling when they found out about these things. Rep. William E. Miller of New York called the UNESCO booklet "a gratuitous insult to Americans and the free world" and he declared the "administration should demand the U. N. repudiate this publication and order its withdrawal from circulation."

On the subject of the Cuban aid deal, Florida Congressman Robert L. B. Sikes declared that U.N. approval of such a project should make the United States resolve "to make no contribution to any United Nations fund which is used to thwart the foreign policies of the United States."

Other congressmen were equally vehement as well they should be. In polite circles it is hardly considered proper to bite the hand that feeds you, yet we seem to be continually feeding the U.N. and getting our fingers bitten in return.

It was the U.N., it will be recalled, that was primarily responsible for our "no win" policy in Korea where 125,000 Americans died almost in vain. It was the U.N., we are told, whose refusal to go along with our on-site inspection demands in Cuba gave Fidel Castro all the support he needed to hold fast. It was the U.N. which conveniently looked the other way when India committed a blatant act of aggression against Portuguese Goa but which promptly got up an army and marched upon a Congolese province which wanted to maintain its independence.

The United States, of course, can't expect to have everythng its own way in the U.N. But it certainly can expect that its U.N. contributions won't be used to knock down and defeat the basic principles for which it stands.

When this happens it is surely time for a re-examination of our policy towards an organizaton which acts in this fashion. Expressing regrets over these U.N. actions isn't enough. The way to stop them is to stop being so free-handed with our money and if this doesn't do the job, other and more drastic measures might well be in order.

The U.N. may have a place in this world but the way things are going today we're not at all certain the United States is getting any bargain by being stuck with a disproportionate cost of keeping the organization afloat and particularly when we find our own money is being used against us.

ROSY-HUED

To the Editor:

This letter is not directed to the editor for I doubt very seriously that he would give it the slightest attention, but rather to those readers who may possibly take seriously the editorials of the Gazette Telegraph.

Two editorials appeared in the March 1 issue. The first of these seemed to be written by a character out of "Little Orphan Annie," and proposed such ridiculous reasons for ceasing public supported schools that rebuttal would only be a matter of restating obvious truths. The second, however, a rosy-hued presentation of the world of laissez-faire capitalism may sway some uninformed individuals toward the philosophy (?) of the "Freedom" paper. To counter this eventuality, I would like to present the facts of an event which occurred about twenty years ago. These facts were taken from the records of the district court of the United States, Eastern District of Illinois.

For many years, the nation's largest chain store had been selecting smaller towns and coldly forcing out any and all competition from small business concerns. This action was accomplished by slashing prices far below cost, and leaving them down until smaller competitors went bankrupt. When competition no longer existed, prices were raised to any level the national chain wished, and the process was reactivated in another location. The reason the chain was able to do this was because it could afford to take a loss, such as an operation of this sort would entail, in one area, paying for it with the profits from other locations. It also had forced wholesalers into collusion using threats of blackballing. There would have been no end to this undercutting (which the editor of the Gazette Telegraph calls freedom) until a complete monopoly existed.

Luckily for the small businesses, however, the United States Congress in 1890 had decided to restrict such freedom by passing a law commonly known as the Sherman Act. Use of this restriction was made and the practice ordered ceased.

This is merely one of hundreds of examples of how a monopoly begins and works. There is nothing fair about it and no attempts are made to give anyone a fighting chance for survival.

Please give this case some thought, do some research of your own, no matter what your occupation. This could happen again in more fields than can be enumerated here if the wishes in the Gazette Telegraph are ever realized.

A—Rubber. It contracts when heated.

Q—What breed of dog cannot bark?

A—The Basenji.

Question Box

Question No. 165: The confiscation of gold (theft) in 1933 devalued all private money at the same time that it devalued government-made money.

Question 1. What would have been the result if no gold had been stolen; if a simply order had been issued to redeem no government paper in gold?

Question 2. If foreign gold as well as domestic had been stolen?

Question 3. If only gold in mines and to be mined had been stolen?

Question 4. If only foreign gold had been stolen?

Answer: If the federal government had issued an order that no government paper could be redeemed in gold, but at the same time, gold had been permitted to remain in circulation, the result would have been a flight from all government paper and a turning of all market and investment procedures into the private area by the use of private money. This might very well have caused the government to fail. It would have revealed the basic dishonesty of the government in going back on its pledges to redeem in gold. It would have made private money more valuable.

It is not possible to know for certain what would have happened for history cannot be re-written with accuracy. It is highly possible, however, that a black-market would have opened for government paper and that private redemption of government paper would have proceeded. This would have depended on the extent of the general disillusionment relating to the reliability of the government.

Presumably, the 2nd question relates to the idea that government commitments outside the United States might also have been taken off the gold standard. Had this been done, the American dollar would have been rapidly devalued in all other nations and its effectiveness in international exchange would have deteriorated. How far cannot be known. Such a move would undoubtedly have aided the countries basing their exchange upon sterling.

The 3rd question, we suppose, presumes some legal fiat which would have prevented further mining of gold. Had this occurred by itself, the result would have been to make existing gold coin more valuable. Also, a black market might have opened wherein gold mined in other nations would have been smuggled into the United States. Gold, like any commodity, will tend to flow in the direction of the highest price.

If only foreign payments in gold had been halted, and at the same time domestic redemption in gold had continued, a reverse black market might have resulted. In other words, American gold, made illegal in foreign exchange, would have tended to leave the United States at the hands of those who are always willing to defy legal fiats.

The action of the federal government in 1933 made it possible for the domestic economy to experience a war-time inflationary spiral, while at the same time, foreign payments remained about where they were. This provided for a gradual attrition of our gold supplies, which has been occurring since then up until the present time.

The length of time for this attrition to be experienced related to the boost of the legal price of gold up to $35 per ounce. At the time this price was pegged, open market prices for gold were considerably below $35 per ounce.

Since then, market prices for gold have increased generally and in a few instances have gone as high as $40 per ounce in some foreign countries.

This has been particularly true where some reverse black markets have come into existence. As prices for gold in foreign countries have gone above the fixed $35 limit, the flow of gold out of the country has increased.

Cases in Point

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph.D.

A couple of years ago a young Kansas architect was doing very well in his profession. His income taxes were extremely high and he decided to try to get some of his tax money back by working on government jobs. From this point on his life became complicated and unhappy, as he tried to play both ends and both political parties against the middle. His earnings increased, his taxes soared and his cost of doing business climbed to the point of diminishing returns, on a net profit basis. On a particular day, a particular bureaucrat began to throw his weight around at the wrong time and at that instant the architect went out of business and government lost its cut out of his high earnings.

For the past couple of years, the owners of a factory have been on the verge of trying to sell their business. A few months ago, a bureaucrat picked the wrong day to say the wrong thing to the operators of the factory. They are now in the process of liquidating their holdings.

Quite recently, we heard of another manufacturer who was planning to move into the Kingman area to spend about $100,000 to get a new plant on the road. Fortunately the government of the small city acted before and not after the manufacturer's plans had matured. The city government passed a set of building ordinances and the potential new business will not materialize. The man says he will not get mixed up with bureaucrats who want to tell him what to build and how to build it, so his $100,000 remains on deposit in building and loan associations which provide him with almost $5,000 a year for the use of his money.

The county tax assessor has stated he intends to ask the county board of supervisors to enact a law which will force property owners to obtain a license or permit before they build. His reason? The permits will provide him with information concerning improvement of property and to this I must add, while he sits on his fat, thinking about his self-assumed proprietary interest in the property of others.

If the county board of supervisors are so shortsighted and foolish as to enact such a law, they will immediately discourage at least 20 per cent of the people who have bought land in this vast county because government seemed willing to let them breathe.

I could recite a hundred or more such cases without stopping to take a deep breath but there's a point to be made. The individuals mentioned here were deeply rooted in their communities before government went one step too far. The uprooting was painful. In the midst of the uprooting, the people involved arrived at a conclusion: The next time, they'd move the instant government began to get out of line instead of waiting and trying to fight off the encroachments. From personal experience and personal contacts I know exactly how serious these people are and just how quickly they will move, and move again and again.

Politicians, blind to everything but their own fight for more and more power, do not understand what's going on. Sure, the majority of the sheep remain for further shearing but for the most part, they are simply sheep and make no independent contribution to anything including their own lives.

A few half-smart politicians in any relatively undeveloped area could make a great deal of hay if they not only held the line against further increases in the size and cost and power of government, but began to reduce the oppression which has killed initiative and creative individuality all over the country. It should be obvious by now that half - smart politicians are either hiding out or do not exist.

The tremendous mobile population of the country, moving here and there and back again, indicates exactly what happens when people pull up their roots. Don't let anyone try to fool you; they are not all weathy, retired elderly people just following the sun. At least one half are doing their best to stay out from under the oppressive influence of tyranny even if many of them have not put words to their problem.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Allen-Scott Report

Power Grab For Party Funds

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Robert Kennedy has a neat scheme to extend still further his considerable rule over the Democratic National Committee.

Aim of this new backstage power grab is not only to center all fund - raising activities for Democratic congressional candidates in the national committee, but also to vest it with control over how and for whom these campaign funds will be spent.

In other words, Bobby and the White House would have complete sway over the Democratic party's campaign purse strings.

So far, this stratagem is encountering strenuous dissent.

Senator Warren Magnuson, Wash., new chairman of the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee, and Representative Michael Kirwan, Ohio, head of the House Campaign Committee, are emphatically balking. They don't like this inner party maneuver, and are making no bones about it.

They are countering with a demand of their own.

The two campaign leaders want the national committee to double its monthly payments to their committees — with no strings attached on how the money is spent.

Magnuson wants his committee to get $18,500 a month instead of the 10,000 it is now receiving, and Kirwan is insisting on a $5,000 increase to $10,000 monthly. Above all, both demand a completey free hand on how these funds are spent.

They bluntly do not want Bobby and the White House calling the turn on that.

The two veteran lawmakers have indicated willingness to make one concession — to center fund-raising in the national committee. This formula would bar money-raising affairs, such as lunches, "teas," receptions, etc., by individual members of Congress and their partisans.

Last year, more than 50 of these events were held in Washington, netting from a paltry $100 to thousands.

Attorney General Kennedy is manipulating the wires at the national committee thru Treasurer Richard Maguire, former member of the White House staff who still has a desk and secretary there.

National Chairman John Bailey is largely a figurehead.

The real boss is Maguire, who in turn is "Bobby's man," as he is widely known in inner Democratic circles.

In obvious preparation for next year's crucial presidential and congressional elections, with the seats of 24 Democratic senators at stake, the 37-year-old brother of the President is steadily tightening his grip on the national committee. Directly tied in with that is the backstage move to get the purse strings of the Senate and House campaign committees securely in his hands.

At a secret conference on this with Magnuson and Kirwan, Maguire urged that their committees set up two-year budgets — $600,000 for the Senate and $300,000 for the House. But, on careful examination, this turned out much less aluring than it appeared.

Actually, the two congressional campaign committee would each get only $5,000 and $10,000 a month this year ($120,000 for the Senate and $60,000 for the House), and the remainder next year, with the national committee — meaning Bobby and the White House — deciding which Democrats would be helped with these campaign funds.

With the full backing of top Democratic leaders in Congress, Magnuson and Kirwan flatly rejected this attempted power grab.

For one thing, they pointed out, it would enable the Kennedys to withhold campaign funds from lawmakers who balked at supporting their bills and policies. Also, the suspicion was frankly voiced that the money would be spent mainly for the national ticket and not senators and representatives.

In an interview in the Albuquerque Tribune, Bobby Kennedy denied he is now an aspirant for the White House. The question asked him was, "Are you planning to run for President after your brother leaves office?" Bobby replied, "I have no plans to run at this time." . . . Dallas and Boston have been added to the Democratic National Committee's unannounced list of cities where $1,000-a-plate fund-raising dinners are to be held. Others are Los Angeles in April, Chicago, New York and possibly Miami. Dates for the latter are still undetermined. . . . Former Senator Homer Capehart, Ind., whose defeat for a fourth term last year was a GOP upset, is one politician who is not staying on in Washington. He has closed his apartment and is moving back to Indianapolis. Before departing, Capehart called on Democratic Senators Vance Hartke and Birch Bayh, who licked him, and told them, "I am now a private citizen and one of your constituents. I am grateful to the people of Indiana who elected me three times to the Senate, and I am happy to go back to them as a private citizen."

McGeorge Bundy, wily, ambitious and powerful special White House assistant on foreign affairs, is up to his old tricks again — planting headline-making time-bombs.

This time the former Harvard dean's targets are the Air Force and Central Intelligence Agency.

In a series of private talks with pro-administration newsmen and members of Congress, Bundy blamed an alleged dispute between the Air Force and CIA for the "intelligence gap" that enabled Russia to sneak nuclear-armed ballistic missiles and IL-28 bombers into Cuba last fall.

According to Bundy, he personally authorized the Stategic Air Command to fly U - 2 reconnaissance missions over Cuba after the wrangle between the CIA and Air Force grounded them. As he relates it, the CIA wanted to use civilian pilots for these hazardous flights, while the Air Force insisted on its pilots making them.

Significantly, Bundy's tale confirms what has not been officially admitted — that there was an "intelligence gap" on Cuba between early September and the middle of October.

In Defense Secretary McNamara's nationally televised briefing, no air photos were shown during that six-week period. Also, he was completely silent about it. Since then, members of Congress have been told that reconnaissance flights were prohibited by McNamara at the insistence of the State Department, on the grounds they might cause an "incident."

But from Bundy's account, the real reason was a row between the Air Force and CIA over how these flights should be made.

Air Force and CIA authorities flatly deny that. They point the finger at McNamara and the White House. According to the Air Force and CIA, McNamara barred U-2 and other reconnaissance flights over Cuba on direct orders from the President.

They also point out that neither the Air Force nor CIA has authority to cancel such reconnaissance missions. Only the President and McNamara can do that.

It is further stressed that a shipment of crated Soviet bombers was spotted on September 5 by an "unauthorized" Air Force reconnaissance mission. That air photo was shown by McNamara in his TV briefing, altho it was obtained without his knowledge or permission.

Bundy has a penchant for planting turbulent time-bombs.

He played an important role in that magazine article early this year which charged U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson with advocating an appeasement policy in the Cuban showdown. Another who had a big hand in that noisy affair was former Secretary Dean Acheson, whose daughter is married to Bundy's brother — a deputy assistant defense secretary.

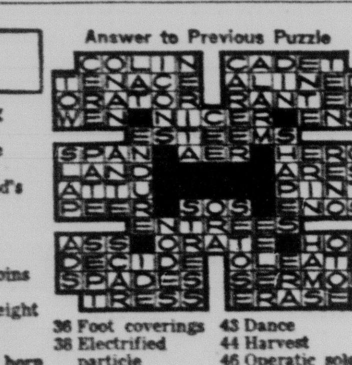
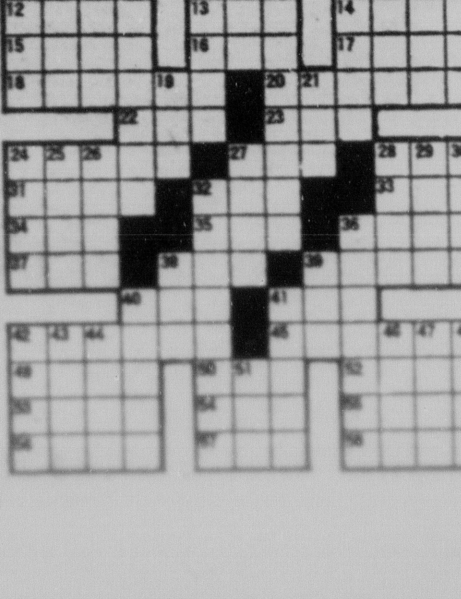
Answer to Previous Puzzle





COLORADO SPRINGS
GAZETTE TELEGRAPH
Your Freedom Newspaper

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

The Bogey-Man of Monopoly

Reader Donohue, again with us in Open Parliament, provides about as good evidence as one could find as to the serious lack of understanding of our economic system. Presumably Sgt. Donohue is the product of our compulsive government school system and hence should be forgiven for what he does not know.

The classic instance he cites, in which a giant chain store was seeking to obtain a monopoly, is the same kind of story which nursemaids used to tell their children on dark and wintry nights in an effort to terrify them and send them quietly to bed. The big bad bogey man of monopoly will get you if you don't watch out!

As C. Northcote Parkinson was astute enough to point out in one of his books ("In Laws and Out Laws"), it is astonishing how people who fear monopoly will invoke the power of monopoly (government) to prevent monopoly.

This yarn of the giant chain store squeezing out the little fellow is no longer creditable where people have even a rudimentary knowledge of capitalism and how it works.

First of all, no business flourishes particularly well if it obtains a monopoly position. It flourishes only when it has a large number of satisfied customers. To obtain a large number of satisfied customers it must offer good merchandise at low prices.

Assuming a free market, one in which there is no government interference of any kind, let us conjure up the terrifying picture of this truculent giant of Donohue's mythology and see what would happen to it.

Here is town A, served by a couple of small grocers. Prices are high. Products are not varied. Quality is not particularly high. This was normal in 1890.

In comes the Giant. A fine new store is put in. (Construction employs local men, salaries rise, the town has a better appearance). When the store is opened, local men are employed. A vast array of merchandise is brought in, varied, skillfully displayed and at low prices.

Customers flock to the store. The two old-fashioned stores which had limited merchandise and high prices are NOT forced out of business, but they may decide to change their methods of operation in order NOT to be forced out. If they do, they can compete. They cannot compete price-wise. But prices are only one factor of the competitive picture. They may be able to offer better service. They may provide certain specialties the larger store cannot manage to do as well.

But, to continue with Donohue's myth, let us suppose the two old-fashioned stores decide they cannot compete and they do go out of business. They have been injured then, not by the new store, but by their own inability to cope with the changed market.

But who has been helped? Everyone in Town A. The town has a larger payroll. It has a better appearance. And thousands of people can now buy merchandise at lower prices than before.

But, let us suppose, as Donohue has it, that AFTER the small stores are closed, the BIG GIANT now raises its prices! That puts us back to the condition that existed before the Big Giant came in. Prices were high then and merchandise was limited. Now prices are high again and merchandise is less limited. Meanwhile, everything in town has improved.

We challenge Sgt. Donohue to provide us a single verifiable example in which a large, new store, operated by a chain, raised prices to a point HIGHER than the normal average prices pertaining in the same community prior to the chain's beginnings.

We believe the good sergeant is merely the victim of the old wives' tales taught in so many government schools. We want no generalization, now; we want a specific and verifiable account.

The history of chain store operations, similar to the histories of other large businesses, is a history in which more and more goods and services were provided at less and less cost to more and more people.

The intrusion of the Sherman anti-trust legislation, contrary to popular superstition, did NOT prevent monopoly. On the contary, it has aided in making monopoly possible.

Talent or Genius

If you can do with ease what others do with great difficulty, you have talent. If you can do what people of talent cannot do at all, you are a genius.

Direct Competition

Let us consider monopoly.

There are very few of us today who would favor such a condition.

But before we become terrified of it and commit the hopeless error of assuming that government can prevent monopoly, it would pay us to study the subject and try to understand just what monopoly is.

For purposes of defining meanings and to minimize misunderstanding, we are going to say that a condition of monopoly is one in which competition does not exist and cannot be made to exist.

Therefore, if competition does exist or if it can readily be made to exist, a condition of monopoly will not pertain.

Thus, to understand monopoly, we will first have to understand competition.

In the market place there are always four kinds of competition. All four of these kinds of competition WILL exist as a natural fact, UNLESS some agency of force (government, government-backed unions, etc.) exists.

Persons having only meager knowledge of the workings of the market usually tend to view competition in an autistic manner. They assume that competition is ONLY competition when it is DIRECT competition.

Direct competition is, of course, one kind of competition. Almost everyone knows what it is. A given firm manufactures straight pins, let us suppose. NO OTHER FIRMS EXIST which are presently engaged in the manufacture of straight pins.

Assuming that a second firm does begin to manufacture straight pins, then direct competition exists in the manufacture of this product.

Examples of direct competition exist on every hand. There are two drug stores; two motion picture theaters; two department stores; two banks; two canneries; two of anything engaged in the manufacture or distribution of a product or products which are virtually identical.

To conform to the definition precisely, for direct competition to exist, the product or service offered must be virtually identical.

Actually, there is very little purely DIRECT competition.

For instance, take two drug stores. In theory, they are direct competitors. In practice, each management will strive to avoid as much direct competition as possible. One drug store, for instance, may actually specialize in pharmaceutical supplies and the second will specialize in merchandising other, tho kindred, items. One will have a magazine rack. The other will have a lunch counter. And so on. Even tho both are called "drug stores" the effort will be made in both cases to avoid as much absolute direct competition as possible.

Here are two motion picture theaters. To be DIRECTLY competitive, both must show the same picture at the same time. This rarely happens. Each will compete with the other by trying to exhibit something the other one cannot exhibit.

The same is universally true thruout the direct competition picture. Still, we call this kind of competition, DIRECT. But it is far from being the only kind of competition.

It is important, too, to grasp the fact that location, price, quality of service, terms offered, and so on, all reflect on competition and tend to minimize the DIRECT nature of competition.

For instance, two retail outlets in a given community may both offer steam-irons made by the same manufacturer. Insofar as the product is concerned, direct competition exists.

But one store will be open on Sunday. The other will offer convenient terms. One will deliver. The other will have such courteous help that it builds a great amount of good will.

This does not change or eliminate the direct competition concept. But it is important that we reflect on the fact that what often appears to be direct competition has been or may be altered by merchandising methods.

Nation's Press

U.N. Bites the U.S. Hand

From Ft. Lauderdale (Fla.) Daily News

We wonder today how many more kicks in the teeth this country is going to have to take from the United Nations before our Washington dreamers wake up to the fact this international organization isn't worth the vast amount of taxpayer money we are lavishing upon it.

Disillusionment, admittedly, is slow to come to many of the people who go about parroting that the U. N. is the world's last hope for peace and this country must support it at all costs. But this week even many U.N. supporters were somewhat shocked and disgusted over the blatant way this outfit is taking our money with one hand and sticking a veritable knife in our back with the other.

The first shocker was an announcement from Paul G. Hoffman, managing director of the U. N. Special Fund, that a $1.5 million agricultural aid project for Cuba had been revived and would get under way in the next few months. The U. S. contributes 40 per cent of the funds that finance this particular U.N. activity and ever since this Cuban aid project was first broached our U.N. representatives have strongly objected to going ahead with this deal under the present circumstances in Cuba.

For a while our objections served to put the aid project on ice but now the 18-nation governing council that controls the use of the U.N. Special Fund has decided to more or less ignore our objections and get started on the Cuban project just as soon as it can recruit enough foreign experts to oversee the program.

As a sop to us, Hoffman has declared that not one single American dollar will be used on the Cuban project. But even should this pledge be carried out it is still incredible that an organization which draws 40 per cent of its support from us should sidetrack our objections and proceed to give aid and comfort to a Communist dictatorship we are trying to drive out of this hemisphere.

As if this announcement were not bad enough, at about the same time there came word that another U. N. agency, good old UNESCO, which stands for the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, had published a booklet praising the Soviet Union as a "brotherhood of free and equal people" and denouncing "colonialist oppression" by Western nations.

According to this enlightenng booklet "it was the Communist party which showed the peoples of Russia the true way to free themselves from social and national oppression."

UNESCO has an annual budget of some $39 million of which the United States contributes nearly one-third while Russia contributes only about 15 per cent.

Under these circumstances it is no wonder that some congressmen hit the ceiling when they found out about these things. Rep. William E. Miller of New York called the UNESCO booklet "a gratuitous insult to Americans and the free world" and he declared the "administration should demand the U. N. repudiate this publication and order its withdrawal from circulation."

On the subject of the Cuban aid deal, Florida Congressman Robert L. B. Sikes declared that U.N. approval of such a project should make the United States resolve "to make no contribution to any United Nations fund which is used to thwart the foreign policies of the United States."

Other congressmen were equally vehement as well they should be. In polite circles it is hardly considered proper to bite the hand that feeds you, yet we seem to be continually feeding the U.N. and getting our fingers bitten in return.

It was the U.N., it will be recalled, that was primarily responsible for our "no win" policy in Korea where 125,000 Americans died almost in vain. It was the U.N., we are told, whose refusal to go along with our on-site inspection demands in Cuba gave Fidel Castro all the support he needed to hold fast. It was the U.N. which conveniently looked the other way when India committed a blatant act of aggression against Portuguese Goa but which promptly got up an army and marched upon a Congolese province which wanted to maintain its independence.

The United States, of course, can't expect to have everythng its own way in the U.N. But it certainly can expect that its U.N. contributions won't be used to knock down and defeat the basic principles for which it stands.

When this happens it is surely time for a re-examination of our policy towards an organizaton which acts in this fashion. Expressing regrets over these U.N. actions isn't enough. The way to stop them is to stop being so free-handed with our money and if this doesn't do the job, other and more drastic measures might well be in order.

The U.N. may have a place in this world but the way things are going today we're not at all certain the United States is getting any bargain by being stuck with a disproportionate cost of keeping the organization afloat and particularly when we find our own money is being used against us.

ROSY-HUED

To the Editor:

This letter is not directed to the editor for I doubt very seriously that he would give it the slightest attention, but rather to those readers who may possibly take seriously the editorials of the Gazette Telegraph.

Two editorials appeared in the March 1 issue. The first of these seemed to be written by a character out of "Little Orphan Annie," and proposed such ridiculous reasons for ceasing public supported schools that rebuttal would only be a matter of restating obvious truths. The second, however, a rosy-hued presentation of the world of laissez-faire capitalism may sway some uninformed individuals toward the philosophy (?) of the "Freedom" paper. To counter this eventuality, I would like to present the facts of an event which occurred about twenty years ago. These facts were taken from the records of the district court of the United States, Eastern District of Illinois.

For many years, the nation's largest chain store had been selecting smaller towns and coldly forcing out any and all competition from small business concerns. This action was accomplished by slashing prices far below cost, and leaving them down until smaller competitors went bankrupt. When competition no longer existed, prices were raised to any level the national chain wished, and the process was reactivated in another location. The reason the chain was able to do this was because it could afford to take a loss, such as an operation of this sort would entail, in one area, paying for it with the profits from other locations. It also had forced wholesalers into collusion using threats of blackballing. There would have been no end to this undercutting (which the editor of the Gazette Telegraph calls freedom) until a complete monopoly existed.

Luckily for the small businesses, however, the United States Congress in 1890 had decided to restrict such freedom by passing a law commonly known as the Sherman Act. Use of this restriction was made and the practice ordered ceased.

This is merely one of hundreds of examples of how a monopoly begins and works. There is nothing fair about it and no attempts are made to give anyone a fighting chance for survival.

Please give this case some thought, do some research of your own, no matter what your occupation. This could happen again in more fields than can be enumerated here if the wishes in the Gazette Telegraph are ever realized.

NEW SUBSCRIBER

To the Editor:

I should like to start my subscription to your paper as I understand it is one of the very few truly conservative papers published in Colorado.

Please tell me what your subscription rates are by the month, six months, and the year. We will probably want to pay six months at a time.

FIESTA

To the Editor:

I could not wrap up my 1963 Mardi Gras Fiesta and place it in the file of memories without expressing my personal appreciation for the great help you gave us and the generous coverage you gave in your wonderful paper.

I realize that the success of a charity project depends on news coverage to stimulate community interest. With gratitude and every assurance of my high regard and esteem.

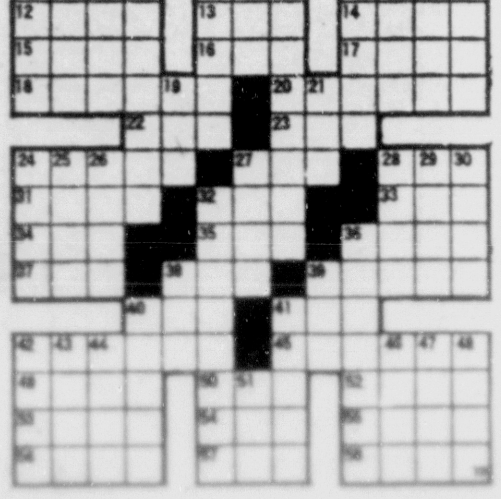
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Question Box

Question No. 165: The confiscation of gold (theft) in 1933 devalued all private money at the same time that it devalued government-made money.

Question 1. What would have been the result if no gold had been stolen; if a simply order had been issued to redeem no government paper in gold?

Question 2. If foreign gold as well as domestic had been stolen?

Question 3. If only gold in mines and to be mined had been stolen?

Question 4. If only foreign gold had been stolen?

Answer: If the federal government had issued an order that no government paper could be redeemed in gold, but at the same time, gold had been permitted to remain in circulation, the result would have been a flight from all government paper and a turning of all market and investment procedures into the private area by the use of private money. This might very well have caused the government to fail. It would have revealed the basic dishonesty of the government in going back on its pledges to redeem in gold. It would have made private money more valuable.

It is not possible to know for certain what would have happened for history cannot be re-written with accuracy. It is highly possible, however, that a black-market would have opened for government paper and that private redemption of government paper would have proceeded. This would have depended on the extent of the general disillusionment relating to the reliability of the government.

Presumably, the 2nd question relates to the idea that government commitments outside the United States might also have been taken off the gold standard. Had this been done, the American dollar would have been rapidly devalued in all other nations and its effectiveness in international exchange would have deteriorated. How far cannot be known. Such a move would undoubtedly have aided the countries basing their exchange upon sterling.

The 3rd question, we suppose, presumes some legal fiat which would have prevented further mining of gold. Had this occurred by itself, the result would have been to make existing gold coin more valuable. Also, a black market might have opened wherein gold mined in other nations would have been smuggled into the United States. Gold, like any commodity, will tend to flow in the direction of the highest price.

If only foreign payments in gold had been halted, and at the same time domestic redemption in gold had continued, a reverse black market might have resulted. In other words, American gold, made illegal in foreign exchange, would have tended to leave the United States at the hands of those who are always willing to defy legal fiats.

The action of the federal government in 1933 made it possible for the domestic economy to experience a war-time inflationary spiral, while at the same time, foreign payments remained about where they were. This provided for a gradual attrition of our gold supplies, which has been occurring since then up until the present time.

The length of time for this attrition to be experienced related to the boost of the legal price of gold up to $35 per ounce. At the time this price was pegged, open market prices for gold were considerably below $35 per ounce.

Since then, market prices for gold have increased generally and in a few instances have gone as high as $40 per ounce in some foreign countries.

This has been particularly true where some reverse black markets have come into existence. As prices for gold in foreign countries have gone above the fixed $35 limit, the flow of gold out of the country has increased.

Cases in Point

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph.D.

A couple of years ago a young Kansas architect was doing very well in his profession. His income taxes were extremely high and he decided to try to get some of his tax money back by working on government jobs. From this point on his life became complicated and unhappy, as he tried to play both ends and both political parties against the middle. His earnings increased, his taxes soared and his cost of doing business climbed to the point of diminishing returns, on a net profit basis. On a particular day, a particular bureaucrat began to throw his weight around at the wrong time and at that instant the architect went out of business and government lost its cut out of his high earnings.

For the past couple of years, the owners of a factory have been on the verge of trying to sell their business. A few months ago, a bureaucrat picked the wrong day to say the wrong thing to the operators of the factory. They are now in the process of liquidating their holdings.

Quite recently, we heard of another manufacturer who was planning to move into the Kingman area to spend about $100,000 to get a new plant on the road. Fortunately the government of the small city acted before and not after the manufacturer's plans had matured. The city government passed a set of building ordinances and the potential new business will not materialize. The man says he will not get mixed up with bureaucrats who want to tell him what to build and how to build it, so his $100,000 remains on deposit in building and loan associations which provide him with almost $5,000 a year for the use of his money.

The county tax assessor has stated he intends to ask the county board of supervisors to enact a law which will force property owners to obtain a license or permit before they build. His reason? The permits will provide him with information concerning improvement of property and to this I must add, while he sits on his fat, thinking about his self-assumed proprietary interest in the property of others.

If the county board of supervisors are so shortsighted and foolish as to enact such a law, they will immediately discourage at least 20 per cent of the people who have bought land in this vast county because government seemed willing to let them breathe.

I could recite a hundred or more such cases without stopping to take a deep breath but there's a point to be made. The individuals mentioned here were deeply rooted in their communities before government went one step too far. The uprooting was painful. In the midst of the uprooting, the people involved arrived at a conclusion: The next time, they'd move the instant government began to get out of line instead of waiting and trying to fight off the encroachments. From personal experience and personal contacts I know exactly how serious these people are and just how quickly they will move, and move again and again.

Politicians, blind to everything but their own fight for more and more power, do not understand what's going on. Sure, the majority of the sheep remain for further shearing but for the most part, they are simply sheep and make no independent contribution to anything including their own lives.

A few half-smart politicians in any relatively undeveloped area could make a great deal of hay if they not only held the line against further increases in the size and cost and power of government, but began to reduce the oppression which has killed initiative and creative individuality all over the country. It should be obvious by now that half-smart politicians are either hiding out or do not exist.

The tremendous mobile population of the country, moving here and there and back again, indicates exactly what happens when people pull up their roots. Don't let anyone try to fool you; they are not all weathy, retired elderly people just following the sun. At least one half are doing their best to stay out from under the oppressive influence of tyranny even if many of them have not put words to their problem.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Allen-Scott Report

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Robert Kennedy has a neat scheme to extend still further his considerable rule over the Democratic National Committee.

Aim of this new backstage power grab is not only to center all fund-raising activities for Democratic congressional candidates in the national committee, but also to vest it with control over how and for whom these campaign funds will be spent.

In other words, Bobby and the White House would have complete sway over the Democratic party's campaign purse strings.

So far, this stratagem is encountering strenuous dissent.

Senator Warren Magnuson, Wash., new chairman of the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee, and Representative Michael Kirwan, Ohio, head of the House Campaign Committee, are emphatically balking. They don't like this inner party maneuver, and are making no bones about it.

They are countering with a demand of their own.

The two campaign leaders want the national committee to double its monthly payments to their committees — with no strings attached on how the money is spent.

Magnuson wants his committee to get $18,500 a month instead of the 10,000 it is now receiving, and Kirwan is insisting on a $5,000 increase to $10,000 monthly. Above all, both demand a completey free hand on how these funds are spent.

They bluntly do not want Bobby and the White House calling the turn on that.

The two veteran lawmakers have indicated willingness to make one concession — to center fund-raising in the national committee. This formula would bar money-raising affairs, such as lunches, "teas," receptions, etc., by individual members of Congress and their partisans.

Last year, more than 50 of these events were held in Washington, netting from a paltry $100 to thousands.

Attorney General Kennedy is manipulating the wires at the national committee thru Treasurer Richard Maguire, former member of the White House staff who still has a desk and secretary there.

National Chairman John Bailey is largely a figurehead.

The real boss is Maguire, who in turn is "Bobby's man," as he is widely known in inner Democratic circles.

In obvious preparation for next year's crucial presidential and congressional elections, with the seats of 24 Democratic senators at stake, the 37-year-old brother of the President is steadily tightening his grip on the national committee. Directly tied in with that is the backstage move to get the purse strings of the Senate and House campaign committees securely in his hands.

At a secret conference on this with Magnuson and Kirwan, Maguire urged that their committees set up two-year budgets — $600,000 for the Senate and $300,000 for the House. But, on careful examination, this turned out much less aluring than it appeared.

Actually, the two congressional campaign committee would each get only $5,000 and $10,000 a month this year ($120,000 for the Senate and $60,000 for the House), and the remainder next year, with the national committee — meaning Bobby and the White House — deciding which Democrats would be helped with these campaign funds.

With the full backing of top Democratic leaders in Congress, Magnuson and Kirwan flatly rejected this attempted power grab.

For one thing, they pointed out, it would enable the Kennedys to withhold campaign funds from lawmakers who balked at supporting their bills and policies. Also, the suspicion was frankly voiced that the money would be spent mainly for the national ticket and not senators and representatives.

In an interview in the Albuquerque Tribune, Bobby Kennedy denied he is now an aspirant for the White House. The question asked him was, "Are you planning to run for President after your brother leaves office?" Bobby replied, "I have no plans to run at this time." . . . Dallas and Boston have been added to the Democratic National Committee's unannounced list of cities where $1,000-a-plate fund-raising dinners are to be held. Others are Los Angeles in April, Chicago, New York and possibly Miami. Dates for the latter are still undetermined. . . Former Senator Homer Capehart, Ind., whose defeat for a fourth term last year was a GOP upset, is one politician who is not staying on in Washington. He has closed his apartment and is moving back to Indianapolis. Before departing, Capehart called on Democratic Senators Vance Hartke and Birch Bayh, who licked him, and told them, "I am now a private citizen and one of your constituents. I am grateful to the people of Indiana who elected me three times to the Senate, and I am happy to go back to them as a private citizen."

McGeorge Bundy, wily, ambitious and powerful special White House assistant on foreign affairs, is up to his old tricks again — planting headline-making time-bombs.

This time the former Harvard dean's targets are the Air Force and Central Intelligence Agency.

In a series of private talks with pro-administration newsmen and members of Congress, Bundy blamed an alleged dispute between the Air Force and CIA for the "intelligence gap" that enabled Russia to sneak nuclear-armed ballistic missiles and IL-28 bombers into Cuba last fall.

According to Bundy, he personally authorized the Stategic Air Command to fly U-2 reconnaissance missions over Cuba after the wrangle between the CIA and Air Force grounded them. As he relates it, the CIA wanted to use civilian pilots for these hazardous flights, while the Air Force insisted on its pilots making them.

Significantly, Bundy's tale confirms what has not been officially admitted — that there was an "intelligence gap" on Cuba between early September and the middle of October.

In Defense Secretary McNamara's nationally televised briefing, no air photos were shown during that six-week period. Also, he was completely silent about it. Since then, members of Congress have been told that reconnaissance flights were prohibited by McNamara at the insistence of the State Department, on the grounds they might cause an "incident."

But from Bundy's account, the real reason was a row between the Air Force and CIA over how these flights should be made.

Air Force and CIA authorities flatly deny that. They point the finger at McNamara and the White House. According to the Air Force and CIA, McNamara barred U-2 and other reconnaissance flights over Cuba on direct orders from the President.

They also point out that neither the Air Force nor CIA has authority to cancel such reconnaissance missions. Only the President and McNamara can do that.

It is further stressed that a shipment of crated Soviet bombers was spotted on September 5 by an "unauthorized" Air Force reconnaissance mission. That air photo was shown by McNamara in his TV briefing, altho it was obtained without his knowledge or permission.

Bundy has a penchant for planting turbulent time-bombs.

He played an important role in that magazine article early this year which charged U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson with advocating an appeasement policy in the Cuban showdown. Another who had a big hand in that noisy affair was former Secretary Dean Acheson, whose daughter is married to Bundy's brother — a deputy assistant defense secretary.

South Viet Nam Girls Trained As Guerrillas

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Phu is a slim, 19-year-old college girl with warm, wide eyes and a bashful smile. She wears her long, black hair in a pony tail and dresses in shimmering, white silk.

She also is a good shot with a U.S. Army carbine and is trained to kill silently with daggers and other weapons.

Phu and her sister, Minh, are among 19,000 South Vietnamese girls who have been trained during the past year to defend themselves and kill Communist guerrillas.

Each received a month of training at the women's military school in Saigon, and spent a few weeks at a strategic hamlet in the Mekong River delta to learn the finer points.

Why does a delicate, 5-foot Asian girl volunteer for military training?

Minh explains:

"Our brother was a helicopter pilot in the Vietnamese Air Force. His helicopter disappeared and probably crashed a year ago. Maybe he was captured by the Viet Cong.

"Also, being in the para-military force makes it easier to go to college."

Woman students who volunteer for military training receive special assistance from the Saigon government.

Several of the para-military girls have been killed or captured in Viet Cong ambushes. Combat may be in the cards for at least me of thegirls.Fivehundso some of the girls. Five hundred are undergoing advanced comba training at the Thu Duc military school, complete with U.S. military advisors.

Among the trainees is Miss Ngo Dinh Thi Le Thuy, 18, daughter of South Viet Nam's first lady. The first lady, Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, founded the Para-Military Women's Corps, and has pushed to gain recognition for it as an authentic fighting organization.

Girls in blue, toting rifles and pistols, generally march and drill at important parades. Miss Le Thuy gave an impressive marksmanship display at a drill this month.

Some of the girls have outshot their male counterparts, Vietnamese and American, on rifle and pistol ranges.

Many of the girls are civil servants who keep up their military training with one session a week. Some are learning English, which they practice on American military advisors. Many come from refugee families from North Viet Nam, and have a real grudge against the Communists.

In training, the girls sleep in wooden bunks with straw mats. They work hard. Hand to hand combat training includes judo and bayonet drill. Some are qualified paratroopers.

Off duty, the girls look as gentle and faminine as any of their nonmilitary sisters.

Crop Production Hike Is Demanded by Nikita

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev told newly appointed Soviet farm bosses Tuesday to boost lagging crop production.

He spoke at the end of a two-day conference of agricultural chiefs at the Kremlin. The text was not made public.

History Is Repeated In Arizona Daily

On Jan. 10, 1877, Hand noted that Lew Davis and some others left on the stage for Phoenix.

On Jan. 10, 1963, Lew Davis, mayor of Tucson, and some others left for Phoenix to confer with city officials there.

South Viet Nam Girls Trained As Guerrillas

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Phu is a slim, 19-year-old college girl with warm, wide eyes and a bashful smile. She wears her long, black hair in a pony tail and dresses in shimmering, white silk.

She also is a good shot with a U.S. Army carbine and is trained to kill silently with daggers and other weapons.

Phu and her sister, Minh, are among 19,000 South Vietnamese girls who have been trained during the past year to defend themselves and kill Communist guerrillas.

Each received a month of training at the women's military school in Saigon, and spent a few weeks at a strategic hamlet in the Mekong River delta to learn the finer points.

Why does a delicate, 5-foot Asian girl volunteer for military training?

Minh explains:

"Our brother was a helicopter pilot in the Vietnamese Air Force. His helicopter disappeared and probably crashed a year ago. Maybe he was captured by the Viet Cong.

"Also, being in the para-military force makes it easier to go to college."

Woman students who volunteer for military training receive special assistance from the Saigon government.

Several of the para-military girls have been killed or captured in Viet Cong ambushes. Combat may be in the cards for at least me of thegirls.Fivehundso some of the girls. Five hundred are undergoing advanced comba training at the Thu Duc military school, complete with U.S. military advisors.

Among the trainees is Miss Ngo Dinh Thi Le Thuy, 18, daughter of South Viet Nam's first lady. The first lady, Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, founded the Para-Military Women's Corps, and has pushed to gain recognition for it as an authentic fighting organization.

Girls in blue, toting rifles and pistols, generally march and drill at important parades. Miss Le Thuy gave an impressive marksmanship display at a drill this month.

Some of the girls have outshot their male counterparts, Vietnamese and American, on rifle and pistol ranges.

Many of the girls are civil servants who keep up their military training with one session a week. Some are learning English, which they practice on American military advisors. Many come from refugee families from North Viet Nam, and have a real grudge against the Communists.

In training, the girls sleep in wooden bunks with straw mats. They work hard. Hand to hand combat training includes judo and bayonet drill. Some are qualified paratroopers.

Off duty, the girls look as gentle and faminine as any of their nonmilitary sisters.

Crop Production Hike Is Demanded by Nikita

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev told newly appointed Soviet farm bosses Tuesday to boost lagging crop production.

He spoke at the end of a two-day conference of agricultural chiefs at the Kremlin. The text was not made public.

The Kremlin meeting was attended by about 800 chiefs of the new directorates for collective and state farms of the Russian federation, the largest by far of the 15 Soviet republics.

Rusk Criticizes 'Public Debate' Of U.S. Policies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Monday negotiations for a nuclear test ban with the Soviet Union are made more difficult by "public debate" in this country over U.S. proposals.

He told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, under sometimes critical questioning, that at the present there is no indication of serious progress in negotiations.

But the United States is pursuing the talk in the hope of reaching at least a first step which would "put a ceiling on the arms race," Rusk said.

Republicans and some Democrats have been critical of U.S. willingness to accept only seven on-site inspections a year on Soviet soil and other U.S. concessions aimed at getting the Soviet Union to agree to a treaty.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., in sharp tones, told Rusk the negotiations have become a subject of partisan debate because of administration efforts to negotiate an agreement in the open.

"I disagree with the whole procedure," Fulbright told him. "It is a very poor procedure you have followed."

Earlier Rusk said the United States is warranted in running the risks of its proposals for a test ban treaty.

Florissant News

By MRS. BEN GARVER

A number of residents from here attended the funeral services for James Ryan who passed away in Manitou Springs. He was a former Lake George resident and postmaster. Sympathy is extended to his family.

The upper class students attending Woodland Park School will have a spring vacation, the week starting the 18th of March. This week will be a busy one, with nine week tests coming up.

A welcome is extended to newcomers in the region. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brown recently moved to Hartsel from Idaho Springs. He is a state highway employee. Mr. and Mrs. William Abbot moved to Lake George from Colorado Springs, and are living in the former Wylie Barr home.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Orcutt has been hospitalized with a respiratory ailment. Several cases of mumps have been reported, and flu still seems prevalent.

The storm of last weekend left eight inches of snow hereabouts and the temperature plunged to 15 below. Many students were unable to attend school altho buses ran as usual.

New calves are arriving fast these days, with most ranchers reporting good luck so far.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Sumner arrived home this weekend, and report a restful trip to Tucson, and into lower California.

The members of the pep club and basketball team went by bus to Kiowa for the tournament. The nearest Woodland Park came to victory was the third place contest Saturday night, a narrow win for Kiowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis attended the funeral services of her aged mother in Colby, Kan., who had long been ill.

The Wilbur Lewises and Emil Warling attended the meeting of Republican Central Committee Saturday at Fairplay.

The Help U Club met at the home of Mrs. Ben Garver, March 7 and following a chicken dinner, answered roll call with Irish jokes. Mrs. Nate Snare reported on freezing methods and pastry baking and distributed literature. A certificate was displayed, given to the club, for its assistance to the polio fund. A report was made on the recent County Council meeting. The year books were distributed. Twenty-three ladies and several children were present, and Mrs. Helen Wright and Mrs. Ed Brown were welcomed as new members. The next meeting will be March 21 at the home of Mrs. Dan Miller.

A speedy recovery is the wish for Will Smith who is hospitalized in Colorado Springs, and for Kenneth Fallis, who has been in the hospital for medical tests.

Miss Vicki Hightower has been visiting relatives, the Hightowers of Black Forest.

Mrs. Carl Reick hosted a wild goose dinner honoring Carl Reick's birthday Friday night. Guests were Mrs. Ronald Huysman and son of Colorado Springs and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Carver.

FALSE TEETH BY THE HERD

DOUGLAS, Ariz. (AP) —Dr. Charles Behney, a veterinarian, may soon branch out into dentistry.

He is conducting a survey to determine if ranchers favor false teeth for cattle. Already, he has one customer and a herd of patients.

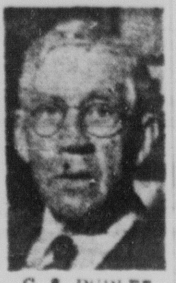
FALSE TEETH BY THE HERD

DOUGLAS, Ariz. (AP) —Dr. Charles Behney, a veterinarian, may soon branch out into dentistry.

He is conducting a survey to determine if ranchers favor false teeth for cattle. Already, he has one customer and a herd of patients.

I Remember

By CHARLES S. DUDLEY



C. S. DUDLEY

I never saw the old glass factory a mile south of Colorado City, now a part of Colorado Springs, but I remember how common it was to see chunks of green glass, relics of the plant, chipped off so that they sparkled in the sunlight, in flower beds and other ornamental spots in the Pikes Peak Region. They do not now seem to be so much in evidence.

The glass factory was surrounded by houses in which the employes and their families lived, and the area was called Glasstown.

It was in the 1880's that the late J. B. Wheeler of Manitou established Glasstown and started the glass manufacturing industry there. The principal objects manufactured were soda pop bottles. Wheeler owned the Manitou Mineral Water Co. and bottles manufactured at the glass factory were taken to Manitou and there filled at the soda springs bottling works.

Altho I never saw the glass factory, I should like to have. I saw only the cluster of deserted houses at the place, long after glass was made there. I do remember going thru the Manitou Mineral Water Co. bottling plant when I was a child.

I was curious about one of the men wearing a mask and was told that he wore the mask as a protection against flying glass.

I never knew Wheeler, who owned besides the Manitou Mineral Water Co. the bank in Manitou. He also had a fine residence there, with spacious grounds and a long building in which there were private bowling alleys.

It was said that sand found near the location of the glass works was of an excellent quality for the glass. In 1891 a fire destroyed the factory. It was rebuilt and continued in operation until the panic of 1893. Efforts were made later to re-establish the glass industry in the Pikes Peak Region, but it was never resumed.

I recall that when I was a child in Denver and passed much of summer school vacations with my grandmother, Mrs. Mary Spencer, in Manitou I would go to the soda and iron springs for mineral water, which I carried in tall bottles to which a woden handle was affixed with wire.

I was small and had to be careful not to crack the bottles on steps as I walked. Now I observe that most of the mineral water toters I have seen carry jugs, instead of bottles. Of course many who go for the mineral water now go in cars and fill a whole boxful of jugs.

Jack-of-All Trades Has to Fill Out Form

UTICA, N. Y. (AP)—Henry G. Murad, 30, is a little puzzled as to what to write for "occupation" filling out forms.

As a chemist he's employed in the Rome, N.Y., Air Development Center laboratory. As a teacher, he conducts a chemistry course two evenings a week at Utica College of Syracuse University.

Holder of a master's degree, he is now studying for a Ph.D. degree in his chosen field of inorganic chemistry. And on weekends he assists in his father's food market.

S'NO SNOW—It may look like snow but it's sand, and warm sand at that, which surrounds Judy Hines in this photo. Cheer up, the mild weather of the Lower Rio Grande Valley's South Padre Island will eventually be back to northern climes.

Indian Comeback Reported in Canada

MONTREAL, Canada (AP) — There are almost as many Indians in Canada today as there were when the first European settlement was established in North America, according to the Canadian government. There has been an especially dramatic rise in Indian population during the last 15 years.

While more and more Indians are moving to the cities, they still can be found on Canada's reservations, which number about 2,000 either way.

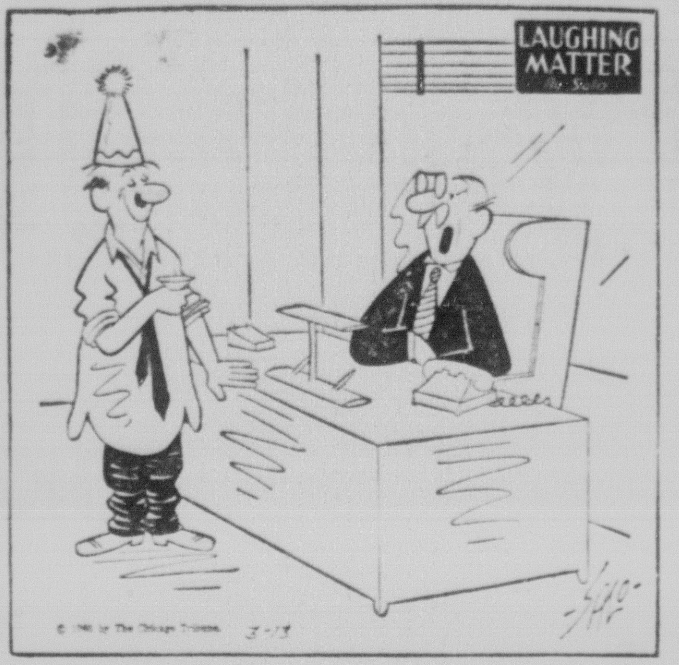
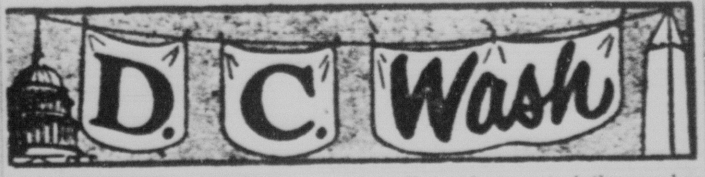
Alligator Roundup Planned in Florida

KISSIMMEE, Fla. (AP) — It'll be branding time in Florida soon —alligator branding that is.

Owen Godwin, owner of Gatorland located between Orlando and Kissimmee, plans to drain his eight-acre lake jammed with gators and to stage a gigantic roundup, branding the reptiles. He expects to count more than 600 of the leathery-coated massive jawed reptiles, from babies to 15-foot monsters.



"Ferguson, I know a happy employe is a good employe! However . . ."



By GWEN GIBXON

WASHINGTON. — An organization that ineptly calls itself the "Society for Indecency to Naked Animals" has been waging a drive in the national capital to get animals "properly" clothed, pet canines and felines and domestic farm animals, especially.

We submit that SINA not only is barking up the wrong tree, but that its objective is inhumane.

Already we have in this country animal lovers who partly clothe their unfortunate pets with such superfluities as booties, mink leashes, jewelled harnesses and even raincoats, sweaters and jackets. Already we have doggie beauty salons where well-heeled bitches and even male dogs can get trimmed, plucked, groomed, bathed and manicured. To encourage this movement by making "animal clothes" a going national fad would be to invite a socal and economic cataclysm.

Granted, the textile industry might enjoy a wave of prosperity, but inevitably French, English and other foreign goods manufacturers would infiltrate the market with snob appeal fabrics and designs.

Right off you have created status symbols in the animal world. Certain kennel clubs would be closed to shabby dogs. A cat caught in last year's hat would be subject to back-biting by more modish felines.

The less fortunate breed of animals, forced to wear bargain basement attire, would become class conscious and thus depressed. Forcing the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals to take action. The SPCA might be compelled to seek federal aid for underprivileged animals in the form of medicare, schooling and urban renewal plans.

All classes of animals would develop sensitivities they've hitherto never known and begin to cringe at the thoughtless, degrading phrases that drop into man's every day conversation such as "sick as a dog," and "that's a horse of a different color."

Members of the affluent animal society, meanwhile, would be subject to mental disorders—paranoia, in all likelihood, and certainly deepset guilt complexes. Consider the traumatic experience of a friendly Schnauzer decked out in a squirrel skin coat when he discovers the pelts were stripped from an old friend.

SINA leaders lent emphasis to their drive by picketing in front of the White House. One woman wore a sign appealing to Jacqueline Kennedy to put clothes on her prize horses "for decency." The leader of the group, Bruce Spencer, 38, of Washington, admits that SINA was formed by a wealthy New York businessman who "was a bit eccentric." The late New Yorker, G. Clifford Prout, dubbed the organization in his will "the Society for Indecency to Naked Animals," thus the title, tho misleading, cannot be changed, Spencer explains. Spencer bristles at any suggestion that SINA has humorous aspects. And he claims he has 50,0000 followers.

SINA'S aims are first to get household pets "decently dressed," then it will tackle the farm herds: Can you imagine a nation full of cows wearing maiden-form bras?

Some have suggested since SINA was born that a society for the decent clothing of people would be more fitting. But Spencer will not be sidetracked.

"There are overtones of great moral disaster for children growing up and seeing naked animals," he insists. SINA goes so far as to propose that children be banned from zoos.

"Children should no more be permitted in a zoo than they should be permitted in a burlesque show," preaches Spencer.

"Ridiculous!" snorted Dr. Lear Grimmer, assistant director of the National Zoological Park, when asked to comment.

Grimmer would not even hazard a guess as to what it would cost to dress up the inhabitants of the national zoo. The park houses some 3,000 animals. Practically every class of animal known to man from aardvark to zebra is represented. The cost alone of draping one hippopotamus in one gown staggers the imagination, he points out.

"To zoologists this whole thing would take away from the individuality of the animals," Grimmer added indignantly. "Of course, clothes on the man do the same thing, but this is something we must suffer because we are humans."

Grimmer, whose annual budget request is currently up before Congress, gave Spencer's plan the final horse laugh when he said: "Look, we have enough trouble around here clothing the keepers."

Negro Doctor Named Lions Club Citizen

Chipita Park News

By CAROLYN McADAMS — MU 7-9065

The Chipita Park TV Club has mailed a letter to all property owners in the communities of Chipita Park, Cascade and Green Mountain Falls regarding the continued operation of its channel equipment. For the next 12 months operation about $750 is needed, plus the final payment of $700 on Channel 7 ABC unit. The Federal Communications Commission, Washington D. C., requires an annual report and the local stations have given permission to relay their network which makes the TV reception in the area a real business, not a toy. It costs about $750 a year for operation, which includes insurance, tubes, electric bill, monthly inspection by a U.S. government licensed engineer, etc. The TV station located on the Highway 24 in Chipita Park receives Channel 2 CBS, Channel 7 ABC, Channel 9 NBC. A list of subscribers to the program project was included in the letter mailed. Five have given from $125 to $300, 15 have ginve $100, 35 have given $50 and 45 have given $25. At the present time some $8,000 has been invested in the station. Checks sent to the Chipita Park TV club are needed and will be appreciated.

In observance of Home Mission Week the Womens Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church in Woodland Park, held its annual party for husbands March 9, at the Rock Eyrie Lodge at Rustic Cottages, residence of Mr and Mrs. Modell Wiggins. A carry-in potluck supper was enjoyed by the 20 persons present. The theme for the week was, "If My People Pray." Mrs. Ralph Hines was M.C., inviting Mrs. Paul Cawthon to give the invocation. A salute to the men was given by Mrs. Nina Wiggins, followd by a salute to the ladies by Dave Walker. Mrs. Jane Bonifield gave a salute to the pastor., Rev. Paul Cawthon. Continuing with the program, a homorous reading to husbands was given by Mrs. Melvin Olson. Mrs. Ralph Hines gave the Home Mission booster topic which was followed by a duet, "A Little Bit of Love," by Betty Parker and Nina Wiggins. The Rev. George Ray, of the East Side Baptist Church, Colorado Springs, was guest speaker. The program closed with Betty Parker singing, "Teach Me To Pray." Mrs. Jane Bonifield was pianist.

The Past Matrons Club, Order of the Eastern Star of the Pikes Peak Region, had 80 reservations for the dinner meeting March 9 at the Swiss Chalet honoring Marianne Erickson, worthy grand matron, and Boyd Green, worthy grand patron. They were each presented an honarary Membership in the Past Matrons Club and 50 given toward the honor project of the worthy grand matron for 1962-63. Chaplain (Captain) Travis L. Blasedell of Ent AFB, was the guest speaker. Musical numbers were given by Mrs. Louise Pittock, pianist, and Clifford Kennell baritone soloist.

The March meeting of the Ute Pass Rock Club will be held at the Hitchin Post, Green Mountain Falls, March 15, at 7:30 p. m. Elmer Brown and Robert Beal will give a demonstration lecture on ore specimens and mining operations, with a sample display. An open invitation is extended to all families in the area. Information about the club's activities may be obtained by calling Sally Stull, 684-9491, secretary of the Rock Club.

ABoard of Review for members of Boy Scout Troop 26 was held Friday night in the Community Building Green Mountain Falls, with Kenneth Lofland, postmaster, John Haynes, Mayor, and Claud Leek in charge. Layne Van Arsdale passed the Life rank; David Mayfield, first class; David Hey and Ronnie Slaven each passed second class. Robbie Blosser and Lee Van Arsdale, Weblos, were guests at the meeting and participated in the opening ceremony. Scout master Charles Stull and assistant Scoutmaster Walt Peters were also present.

The Ute Pass Brownies, Troop 110, are making St. Patrick favors for a local hospital. At their meeting March 6 20 were present. Barbara Gooder, Bobby Ewing, Jan Anderson and Ronda Bachman, all in full uniform, gave the opening Flag ceremony. A discussion on "International Friendship" was the program for the day and plans made for "Thinking Day" observance at the next meeting. Twelve Brownie Scouts attended the Church in the Wildwood, wearing their uniforms in observance of Girl Scout Sunday, March 10. A floral piece containg six yellow roses the flower of the Girl Scout, was placed in the church chancel by the Ute Pass Troop. Leaders Evelyn Gooder, Marie Hendrickson, Jonell Ewart and Shirle Johnson attended 100 per cent.

Mrs. Emma Rosentreter, is presently a patient at St. Francis Hospital.

Marine Cpl. Vernon P. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dike Williams, formerly of Chipita Park, is serving with the First Battalion, Fifth Regiment, First Marine Division, Camp Pendleton, Calif. Recently he participated in nine days' cold weather training at Bridgeport, Calif., which included cleaning weapons in extreme cold, field sanitation and personal hygiene.

The regular monthly meeting of the Future Secretaries Association was held March 6, at Widefield High School with some 40 attending. The selection of "Miss FSA" was made with Pat Lukavitch, of Widefield, the winner. Wearing a skirt and sweater she was judged on grooming, poise, ability to answer a situation question put by the panel and on her grade average. First runner up was Jan Mathes of Green Mountain Falls, a student at Manitou Springs, who wore a black wool sheath dress. Second runner-up was Janet Reed, also of Manitou Springs High School, wearing a black and white shirtwaist dress. The panel was composed of Jean Fairbanks, president of National Secretaries Association; Mr. Webster of Blair Business College, and Jeanne Anderson National Association Secretaries. Glenn Anderson, district Manager of Mountain States Telephone Co., gave a movie and talk on "Telephone Courtesy." A tour of the Widefield High School commercial department was made by the guests. The next meeting will be April 4, at Harrison High School.

The sympathy of the community is extended Maj. Louis La Salle in the death of his father Mr. Louis La Salle, March 3, in Rock Springs, Wyo. Maj. and Mrs. La Salle, with their daughter Kathy La Salle, left March 4 for Rock Springs, returning March 10.

The third Fun Day Gymkhana, sponsored by the Ute Pass Junior Saddle Club has been scheduled for March 31, at 1 p.m. in Pickett Field. Only one entry fee of 25 cents will be charged for the entire afternoon. This will entitle the rider to participate in all the contests. Several new races have been added to the events. A cordial invitation is extended all riders to join in the fun.

From the desk of Conard Pyle, pastor of the Church in the Wildwood, a letter was mailed to all members of the church regarding stewardship and financial statistics of the 139 family members. "Become a Tither" is the reward for the chuch and the member and is recommended by the members who are tithers and by the executive board.

Academy Airmen Hold Reunion On Okinawa

Fifteen former Air Force Academy airman now stationed on Okinawa held a reunion recently with two former Academy officers as special guests.

Most of the group served with the Air Police while stationed at the Academy. Others were assigned to supply, motor pool and administrative services functions.

The banquet-reunion was held at the "Tee House" of the Kadena Air Base Golf Club.

Special guests were Maj. Gen. Robert M. Stillman, Academy Commandant of Cadets from 1954-58, and Col. George B. Simler, director of athletics from 1957-60.

The group also plans a family outing including a yacht cruise this summer.

Sinatra Junior Signs With Band

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two famous names of the music world reunited Monday when Frank Sinatra Jr. signed as a vocalist with the late Tommy Dorsey's band.

Sinatra senior sang with trombonist Dorsey's band from 1939 to 1941. The band, still carrying the Dorsey name, is led now by Sam Donahue.

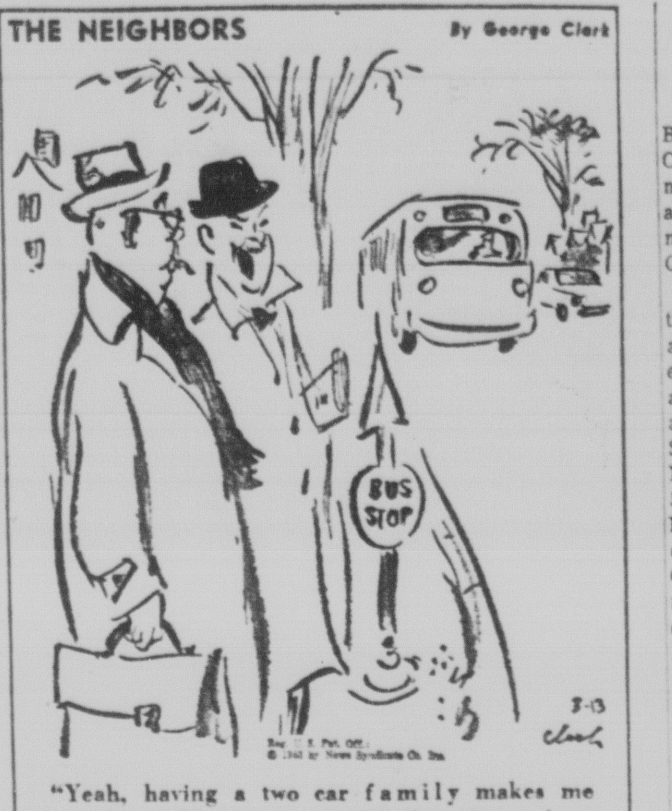
Inspector's Office Visited by Termites

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — As registrar of contractors, Allen Rhodes must see that house and buildings are put up right and stay that way.

A recent investigation determined that termites ate away an area around a window pane, causing part of the wall to give way.

The wall was located in Rhodes' office.



"Yeah, having a two car family makes me important. One's for my wife's shopping and my kids drive the other to school."

Space Program to Give Fallout Benefits

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (UPI) — Wearout-proof shoes and clothing, rooms illuminated by glowing walls, worldwide television and telephone systems, accurate weather forecasting and, ultimately, weather control — these are among scientifically feasible "fall-out" benefits from the nation's space program, according to aerospace executive Mundy I. Peale.

The massive mobilization of science, industry and government resources required to hurtle 75 tons of men and material to the moon is "causing an explosive chain reaction of civilian applications of the new knowledge as it funnels into everyday life," the presidents of Republic Aviation Corporation told a women's convention.

Every Light Bulb in Hotel Room Is Stolen

NEW YORK (UPI) — After one guest checked out of a New York hotel, a chambermaid reported every light bulb in the room was missing. The hotel is the Edison, named after the inventor of the electric light.

"It's a good thing the name isn't on the bulbs or it probably wouldn't have been the first time this happened," said Irwin H. Kramer, executive vice president of the hotel.

Twin Sisters Explain Similarity in Names

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Threde and Thrude Saylor are 24-year-old twin sisters here.

"My parents wanted us to have similar names," said Threde, public information specialist with the American Red Cross.

"We're called 'Tray'-dee' and grandma's maiden name was 'Threde' in Denmark, and our parents wanted us named for her."

Names in News Unfamiliar to College Youth

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Davrid Brinkly, Charles de Gaulle and Cassius Clay were the best known names in a list of 37 VIPs used as an identity quiz for 67 freshman at Western Kentucky State College recently.

Brinkley was identified by 66 of the students; De Gaulle, by 65, and boxer Clay by 64. On the other end of the scale, 62 were unable to identify correctly Associate Justice Byron White of the Supreme Court; 55 missed Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen; 53 didn't know Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield—one student thought he was a movie star. One student among the 36 who missed the correct identification of artist Pablo Picasso, thought he was a tennis player.

Fifty-six students could not identify Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze.

Television names, generally, did pretty well in the test. Only six students missed Dick Van Dyke, and nine, Carol Burnett. Fourteen, incredible as it may sound, were unable to peg Richard Burton—the same number that failed to recognize baseball player Stan Musial.

Results of the quiz were sent to NBC's newscaster David Brinkley by the woman English instructor who gave the test. Upshot of the test is that she assigned all 67 to read a daily newspaper and weekly news magazines. Obviously, they already watch television.

"CBS Reports" will devote its April 3 program to the controversial book, "Silent Spring," by Rachel Carson, and the use of chemical insecticides.

ABC will inaugurate a series of five - minute fashion shows on March 28 with Suzy Parker modeling the clothes. The six programs will be seen on Thursdays 11:55 a.m. 12 noon.

"You Don't Say," the live word game that replaces "Young Dr. Malone" on NBC April 1, is produced by Lucille Ball's company and has had a test and shakedown period on a Los Angeles station. Which recalls that NBC is describing CBS' next year's evening schedule as "fun and games" while it grandly calls its own "drama and diversity."

ABC will definitely continue "The Price is Right" in its 11-11:30 a.m. daily slot when it moves from NBC in September, but has not yet decided where or when to spot the nighttime edition. . . .

The banquet-reunion was held at the "Tee House" of the Kadena Air Base Golf Club.

Special guests were Maj. Gen. Robert M. Stillman, Academy Commandant of Cadets from 1954-58, and Col. George B. Simler, director of athletics from 1957-60.

The group also plans a family outing including a yacht cruise this summer.

Sinatra Junior Signs With Band

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two famous names of the music world reunited Monday when Frank Sinatra Jr. signed as a vocalist with the late Tommy Dorsey's band.

Sinatra senior sang with trombonist Dorsey's band from 1939 to 1941. The band, still carrying the Dorsey name, is led now by Sam Donahue.

Inspector's Office Visited by Termites

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — As registrar of contractors, Allen Rhodes must see that house and buildings are put up right and stay that way.

A recent investigation determined that termites ate away an area around a window pane, causing part of the wall to give way.

Space Program to Give Fallout Benefits

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (UPI) — Wearout-proof shoes and clothing, rooms illuminated by glowing walls, worldwide television and telephone systems, accurate weather forecasting and, ultimately, weather control — these are among scientifically feasible "fall-out" benefits from the nation's space program, according to aerospace executive Mundy I. Peale.

The massive mobilization of science, industry and government resources required to hurtle 75 tons of men and material to the moon is "causing an explosive chain reaction of civilian applications of the new knowledge as it funnels into everyday life," the presidents of Republic Aviation Corporation told a women's convention.

Every Light Bulb in Hotel Room Is Stolen

NEW YORK (UPI) — After one guest checked out of a New York hotel, a chambermaid reported every light bulb in the room was missing. The hotel is the Edison, named after the inventor of the electric light.

"It's a good thing the name isn't on the bulbs or it probably wouldn't have been the first time this happened," said Irwin H. Kramer, executive vice president of the hotel.

Twin Sisters Explain Similarity in Names

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Threde and Thrude Saylor are 24-year-old twin sisters here.

"My parents wanted us to have similar names," said Threde, public information specialist with the American Red Cross.

"We're called 'Tray'-dee' and grandma's maiden name was 'Threde' in Denmark, and our parents wanted us named for her."

Names in News Unfamiliar to College Youth

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Davrid Brinkly, Charles de Gaulle and Cassius Clay were the best known names in a list of 37 VIPs used as an identity quiz for 67 freshman at Western Kentucky State College recently.

Brinkley was identified by 66 of the students; De Gaulle, by 65, and boxer Clay by 64. On the other end of the scale, 62 were unable to identify correctly Associate Justice Byron White of the Supreme Court; 55 missed Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen; 53 didn't know Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield—one student thought he was a movie star. One student among the 36 who missed the correct identification of artist Pablo Picasso, thought he was a tennis player.

Fifty-six students could not identify Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze.

Television names, generally, did pretty well in the test. Only six students missed Dick Van Dyke, and nine, Carol Burnett. Fourteen, incredible as it may sound, were unable to peg Richard Burton—the same number that failed to recognize baseball player Stan Musial.

Results of the quiz were sent to NBC's newscaster David Brinkley by the woman English instructor who gave the test. Upshot of the test is that she assigned all 67 to read a daily newspaper and weekly news magazines. Obviously, they already watch television.

"CBS Reports" will devote its April 3 program to the controversial book, "Silent Spring," by Rachel Carson, and the use of chemical insecticides.

ABC will inaugurate a series of five-minute fashion shows on March 28 with Suzy Parker modeling the clothes. The six programs will be seen on Thursdays 11:55 a.m. 12 noon.

"You Don't Say," the live word game that replaces "Young Dr. Malone" on NBC April 1, is produced by Lucille Ball's company and has had a test and shakedown period on a Los Angeles station. Which recalls that NBC is describing CBS' next year's evening schedule as "fun and games" while it grandly calls its own "drama and diversity."

ABC will definitely continue "The Price is Right" in its 11-11:30 a.m. daily slot when it moves from NBC in September, but has not yet decided where or when to spot the nighttime edition. . . .

Railroads, Union Far Apart on Rules in Talks

By EARL AYKROID

CHICAGO (AP)—Railroad management and union representatives appeared to be far apart on ground rules for negotiations today as they meet in a new attempt to reach agreement in their long and crucial dispute over work rules.

Each said it is hopeful of agreement on the issues but neither would go so far as to predict a successful outcome of the talks.

The principal issue confronting the negotiators is the jobs of some 65,000 trainmen and yard workers—including 40,000 firemen—which the railroads seek to eliminate as unnecessary.

H.E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive, Firemen and Enginemen, one of five unions involved in the work rules dispute, said success of the negotiations will depend on whether the carriers engage in "real collective bargaining."

"The prospect that fruitful negiations will begin and continue lies squarely with management," he said. "We are hopeful that management has discarded its inflexible attitude and is now ready to start hardnose bargaining."

James E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, said he, too, is hopeful an agreement can be reached.

"But," he added, "I would hesitate to make any prediction about the outcome until we have a more definite idea of the attitude of the brotherhoods. If they are prepared to dispose of the firemen issue, as one of their leaders indicated they would, that issue might be disposed of expeditiously."

Wolfe said he is certain an agreement can be reached quickly if the brotherhoods negotiate on the basis of recommendations made by a presidential commission a year ago.

The railroads propose to overhaul long standing work rules which they say provide unnecessay work, a practice known as featherbedding. This, the railroads claim, costs the industry $600 million a year.

About 200,000 workers — engineers, firemen, trainmen, brakemen and switchmen—are involved in the work rules dispute which started in 1959.

A commission appointed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower investigated the dispute and on Feb. 28, 1962, made recommendations for its solution.

The commission recommended the elimination of 40,000 firemen on diesel locomotives in freight or yard service. This is about one fifth of the membership of the five operating unions.

The railroads say the firemen are not needed on diesel locomotives.

Under the commission's recommendations 13,000 firemen with less than 10 years seniority would be dismissed with 3 to 12 months notice and with severance pay. The other 27,000 firemen with 10 or more years of service would be kept on the payroll until they are eliminated through resignations, retirement or death.

The brotherhoods said their proposals to modernize the wage and rules structure were ignored.

They carried the dispute to the courts in an effort to prevent the railroads from putting into effect sweeping rule changes without agreement of the brotherhoods. On March 4 the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the railroads have a right to overhaul the work rules.

The brotherhoods have warned the carriers of possible strikes if they act without an agreement.

While a number of issues are involved in the rules dispute, the railroads insist on disposing of the firemen issue before taking up the other questions.

Ghana Starts Trial in Assassination Attempt

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—Six men and a woman went on trial Tuesday on charges of treason in connection with an attempt to assassinate President Kwame Nkrumah last year.

One defendant is reported to have linked two of Nkrumah's one-time close associates—former Foreign Minister Ako Adjei and former Information Minister Tawia Adamafio—with the plot.

Adjei and Adamafio were fired last August and jailed without trial under the preventive detention act after Nkrumah narrowly escaped a thrown bomb.

Treason carries the death penalty in Ghana.

Dust Work Continues Despite Sudden Rain

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Some 17 inches of rain fell in 24 hours. Hundreds of homes were flooded. Cars stalled in streets where water was as much as six feet deep.

But men with jackhammers kept right on working on the National Bank of Sarasota's new drve-in facility.

And near by was their sign: "Pardon our dust — we are increasing our drive-up facilities."

Loafing Barns Are Designed for Cows

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — "Loafing barns" for cows?

The Giacomini brothers, Ernest and Donald, of Ferndale, built individual stalls for their Golden Guernsey cows.

The stalls, 45 inches by 7½ feet, are just large enough for a cow to lie down but not to turn around.

The brothers said the stalls keep the cows cleaner for milking.

LONDON—A new world's record of 8 feet, 4 inches has been set in an English sausage eating match.

Korth Explains Decision for Fighter Plane

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth said today he recommended the General Dynamics Corp. version of the TFX fighter plane without any dictation from Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara or any political or industrial influence.

Korth told The Associated Press he decided against the rival Boeing Co. proposal for an advanced all-purpose Navy-Air Force fighter because that proposal fell short on two basic points, one of them realistic cost estimates.

"It was not dictated," Korth said in an interview. "It was a decision that Secretary of the Air Force Eugene Zuckert and I made jointly and independently and then made our recommendation to McNamara."

The Navy chief said McNamara had indicated no leanings to him before he took the matter under consideration.

"None whatsoever," the Texan replied when asked whether—as had been suggested in a Senate investigation — political considerations tilted the award of the potential $6.5-billion project to General Dynamics.

Korth was the first of the top Pentagon leaders to discuss publicly the background of the contract which now is under investigation by the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

The subcommittee has developed testimony that military evaluation boards were overruled four times before the award was given last summer to General Dynamics, of Fort Worth, Tex., with Grumman Aircraft Corp. as an associate.

Testimony also has indicated that the proposal by Boeing, a Seattle, Wash., firm, cost from $100 million to $415 million less than the General Dynamics version.

Korth said the Navy rejected the first three proposals by both General Dynamics and Boeing because they called for too heavy and too big a plane, unsuited for carrier operations.

On the fourth go-around, Korth said, the Navy-Air Force evaluation board of experts recommended the Boeing model, although it held that both firms' revamped blueprints met the first requirement—that the new plane would result in a substantial increase in fighter capability.

Korth said he favored the General Dynamics version—and so recommended to McNamara—because he felt that model was better in two other related basic points, realistic cost and what is called "commonality."

General Dynamics and Boeing offered virtually identical planes, he said, but Dynamics combined its offering in a single model while Boeing proposed two similar planes, one for the Air Force and one for the Navy.

The Navy secretary said he foresaw additional costs in the Boeing proposal because of the added test and development work that would have to be done by Boeing in perfecting two models. These costs would be telescoped by Dynamics in a single plane.

On the fourth go-around, Korth said, the Navy-Air Force evaluation board of experts recommended the Boeing model, although it held that both firms' revamped blueprints met the first requirement—that the new plane would result in a substantial increase in fighter capability.

Korth said he favored the General Dynamics version—and so recommended to McNamara—because he felt that model was better in two other related basic points, realistic cost and what is called "commonality."

General Dynamics and Boeing offered virtually identical planes, he said, but Dynamics combined its offering in a single model while Boeing proposed two similar planes, one for the Air Force and one for the Navy.

The Navy secretary said he foresaw additional costs in the Boeing proposal because of the added test and development work that would have to be done by Boeing in perfecting two models. These costs would be telescoped by Dynamics in a single plane.

Women Brave Storm for Finance Seminar

Neither snow nor slush nor gloom of dawn's early light could stay nearly 200 members of the Women's Educational Society from the first of four seminars Tuesday in the fine art of finance.

Five city banks are cooperating with the Society in presenting a weekly series in the Fine Arts Center on the principles of banking, with an emphasis on conservation of estates. Moderating the first session, which investigated family financial practices, was Broun H. Mayall, director of public relations and personnel at the Colorado Springs National Bank.

Also participating were Kenneth M. Hall, vice-president of the First National Bank, J. Raymond Medley, vice-president of the Exchange National Bank; Richard Dailey, manager of the personal loan department of the Colorado Commercial Bank; and Milo Yalich, assistant cashier of the Central Colorado Bank.

Presiding was Mrs. Carroll B. Malone.

Moderator Mayall termed Shakespeare's advice to "Neither a borrower nor a lender be" as "virtually" "unAmerican." Not surprisingly, all speakers stressed the advantages of banks as givers of credit. "Shop your financing as you would your merchandise," said Dailey. "Why pay Broadmoor rent for flophouse accommodations?"

The speakers discussed single payment loans, unsecured loans, secured loans, loans by individual, and family budgeting.

In discussing home financing, Hall emphasized that the best policy was to pay as much down as possible and to pay off as quickly as possible. But he pointed out that the Federal Housing Authority and some private agencies may not let the borrower pay off early even if he is able, once he has signed a long term contract.

In answer to a question from the floor, Hall expressed his belief that the administration's proposal to disallow interest on mortagage payments as a deductible item for income tax purposes would only temporarily slow new home construction if passed.

Medley, speaking on installment credit, quoted Ben Franklin's aphorism that man's three faithful friends are an old wife, an old dog and ready money. He cited figures showing that 70 per cent of all new cars were sold on time and that banks were financing half this figure.

In succeeding weeks the seminars will take up savings, investments and insurance; wills and trusts; and taxes, gifts and donations.

Army to Open Butts Field Bids Tuesday

Bids for the $2 million improvements to Butts Army Airfield at Ft. Carson will be opened Tuesday at the Antlers Hotel here.

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, Omaha District, advertised the bids last week, the first step toward the construction which is scheduled to begin shortly after April 1.

Included in the first phase of the contract to be let is a 500-foot two-story hangar, a pumping station, sewage lagoon, a seven-story control tower, heating plant, ground water storage plant, aircraft washing area and a hangar apron pavement.

Utilities construction includes four miles of four-inch high-pressure gas line, one mile of water line, one mile of electrical distribution, one-half mile of sewage line and one-quarter mile of steam line.

Col. H. G. Woodbury Jr., district engineer, said the bids will be studied by the administration and awarded on the basis of the lowest and best bid.

Contract specifications call for the construction to be completed in 390 days and thus it is possible the new airfield complex will be operational by early summer of 1964.

It is estimated that from 100 to 150 workers will be employed on the project with the majority of these hired from local labor markets.

CSC Course To Be Offered

A course entitled Instructional Aids No. 237 will be offered by the Colorado State College of Education from 9 to noon Saturday at 406 N. Weber St.

This is for undergraduate and graduate credit work and is designed to aid the teacher to develop visual aids, instruction sheets, charts, graphs and other instruction materials for the teacher's particular course.

Registration will be held at 9 a.m. Interested persons requiring more information may call 633-3260, day or evening.

Civic Players Set Pre-Season Member Drive

Harvey Klunder and Peter King, members of the Civic Players' board of directors, are in charge of arrangements for a pre-season membership campaign for 1963-64.

Having had the largest membership this year in its 46 years of activity, Civic Players anticipates even greater interest for the 1963-64 season.

Present members will be given the first opportunity to renew their memberships and will be given a preference as to seat location and night. New members will also be given early consideration as to their choice of seats and preferred nights.

A membership in Civic Players entitles its owner to a reserved seat season ticket for the five plays given during the year. Each play has a six night run, and members have the privilege of changing nights if necessary and have special priority for additional reservations. A member has voting privileges at the Annual Meeting at the close of the season and is eligible to serve on the Board of Directors and the various committees.

The total membership cost is $7.50 for a season of five plays. The sole support of this community cultural endeavor is derived from membership and ticket sales.

The pre-season membership campaign will be carried on thruout the run of the fourth play, March 18-23 and again thruout the week of the final play, May 20-25.

For additional information phone 633-3003.

Volunteer Work Of Red Cross Told at Meet

Miss Mary Arnold Hood, chairman of volunteers of the Pikes Peak Chapter, American Red Cross, told members of the Colorado Springs Insurors that 525 Red Cross volunteers in Colorado Springs gave 32,600 hours during the past twelve months in service to the sick, handicapped and elderly.

Miss Hood addressed the group at its regular meeting Tuesday noon at the El Paso Club.

Dressed in her Gray Lady uniform, Miss Hood described the volunteer duties of those who serve from the youngest teen aged Monitor to the oldest Gray Lady. . . "She's 82 and goes by bus wherever she is needed."

Locally, the Red Cross budget from the United Fund is $87,000 this year. However, the total Red Cross budget, most of which comes from the national Red Cross is $280,000," she said.

She explained that the Red Cross offices at Ft. Carson, Ent and the Academy which serve the military during emergencies are financed by the National Red Cross.

Miss Hood pointed out that March has been Red Cross month, traditionally a fund drive month.

"Now that we are in the United Fund we are still observing Red Cross month as a time to tell you how we are spending your money and to thank you for giving," she concluded.

Firemen Get Call to Assist Girl

Firemen get strange requests —removing cats from trees, dogs from sewers and tots from locked bathrooms — but a call Tuesday was a new one.

Carol Colson, 16, 1447 Belair Dr., got her finger caught in a typewriter desk. Assistant Chief Herman Richter and Fireman Tom County went to the girl's home at 11:52 a.m. and disloged Carol's finger. Amputation was not necessary, but firemen are still puzzled how the teenager managed to get herself into the predicament.

At 11:47 p.m. Tuesday, Richter and the resusitator crew from Company No. 1, responded to a call at 110½ N. Tejon St., where Mrs. Agnes Petry, 44, was having difficulty in breathing.

Mrs. Petry's physician was called after firemen used the inhalator for about 10 minutes. She was reported in satisfactory condition when the firemen left her home.

Ft. Carson to Get Supplies for 970 Fallout Shelters

Ft. Carson has 970 spaces which the Omaha District, Corps of Engineers, has designated as available for protection from nuclear fallout.

All, except 115, are located in the permanent masonry buildings used for barracks and for Carson and 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) headquarters. The exception is a water tank, no longer in use, which has 115 spaces.

Civil Defense will stock these shelters with 14 days' supply of canned bread or biscuits, cans of water, medical supplies, radiological monitoring systems and sanitary supplies. These are so packed and preserved that they will last for a five-year period.

These supplies have been ordered through the El Paso County Civil Defense office.

Suggestions Bring Cash Awards to Eleven at AFA

Eleven persons, including a civilian employe at the Air Force Academy will receive checks for suggestions designed to improve operations, reduce costs and eliminate safety hazards at the Academy.

Gilbert L. Campbell, a librarian at the AFA Library, will receive a $60 award for suggesting additional promotional action on the sale of U.S. Savings Bonds. His idea was adopted Air Force-wide.

An estimated first year savings of $1,845 in manpower and material will result from a suggestion made by S. Sgt. Harold F. Becker of the Equipment Support Branch. Sgt. Becker will receive $45 for suggesting furniture bin units be covered with plastic and that reversible dust covers be used on furniture being delivered to quarters.

S. Sgt. Vincent F. Smith, Directorate of Transportation, will receive $15 for suggesting a transportation requests board bew installed at the Academy Motor Pool and $65 for originating a new procedure for control of vehicles and operators.

Maj. John E. Chrisinger, assistant professor of Aeronautics, will receive $10 for suggesting that the sharp end of the airspeed boom of the F-100 on display near Vandenberg Hall be padded to eliminate a safety hazard.

Airman 1. C. James R. Respress, Audio-Visual, suggested an inspection seal be placed on all films that have been inspected. He will receive $20.

A first year savings of $135 will result from T. Sgt. Walter Mathews' suggestion that windshield washer fluid be purchased in five gallon cans rather than six-ounce bottles. Assigned to the Directorate of Transportation, Sgt. Mathews will receive $15.

Member of the 7625th USAF Hospital staff, Airman 1.C. George C. Snell will receive $20 for suggesting paper work for physical exams be arranged in a definite order prior to being forwarded to the Academy.

Three airman assigned to the Base Equipment Management Office will receive awards for suggestions. Airman 1. C. James E. Dionne and Airman 1. C. Tommie Bush will share a $15 check for suggesting a new procedure for processing immediate requisitions for supplies and equipment. Airman Dionne also will receive $15 for suggesting the immediate delivery date be entered on the due-in card and Airman 1. C. Edward G. Lawrence $15 for a suggestion that requests for excess equipment be exempted from the equipment authorization inventory system until the item is actually received.

S. Sgt. Eugene C. Lux, of the hospital, will receive $10 for suggesting a sign be installed to identify the Base Dental Clinic reducing unnecessary traffic.

City Council Accepts Plat By North Gate

A preliminary plat of North Gate subdivision by North Gate, Inc., was approved today by City Council. The subdivision is a 130-acre tract lying northeast of the intersection of the CRI&P Railroad with Academy Boulevard.

The council also elected to annex a part of Austin Bluffs Addition No. 34 — a 3.4 acre tract southwest of the San Miguel Street and Academy Boulevard intersection and a 12.89-acre tract adjacent to it.

The area includes the west six lots between Hale and San Miguel Streets of an area subdivided under the title of Sunny Side addition No. 2.

Sparkling Pacific Colors Mark Audubon Film-Lecture

By JOHN FETLER

At the Audubon film-lectures, there seems at times, almost a festive air. The audience savors the presentation with an anticipatory sympathy. One can almost feel the pervasive orientation of those who come to these lectures: They have an interest in common, and this interest runs deeper than mere entertainment or amusement; it has a cultural grounding which is warp and woof of a cultural attitude.

Such, again, proved to be the case Monday night, when Patricia Bailey Witherspoon presented "Stepping Stones to Australia" to a sold-out audience at the Fine Arts Center.

It was Dr. Bailey's film, of course, and proved to be of the high calibre for which he is so well known. Mrs. Witherspoon, as always, proved to be a succinct lecturer. The entire presentation was one of fine clarity. The spontaneous reaction to various telling scenes in the film, and to the commentary, showed that the audience is always on the willing brink of showing its appreciation.

Although the film dealt mainly with Hawaii, Canton Island, and the Fiji Islands, as it seems to be usual in Dr. Bailey's films, a glimpse was also given of the Great Barrier Reef, thus giving that little extra which whets the appetite for future occasions.

The film starts out as a kind of a travelogue, which is necessary in order to establish the background. In this manner the audience saw scenes from Hawaii and some of its wildlife.

From there it went to the bleak Canton Island, with rusting remains of the last war still quite in evidence, but also with interesting bits of bird-lore, for instance the amazing fact of a bird which actually digs a burrow for its nest.

Then the journey — before ending up at the Great Barrier Reef, —went to Fiji, which was undoubtedly the most interesting section. Fiji's extraordinary beauty is given a rather nightmarish twist by the sight of the dense rain forest and by its strange, huge bats, which swoop down to the orchards to despoil them. That, together with Fiji's cannibalistic origins, gives a strange, lurid, dark contrast to the brilliant hues of the daytime colors, and of the sunny, amiable climate of the Fiji's, and of its friendly population, although segregation and integration problems exist there, too.

The Aiken Ornithological Society sponsors these Audubon wildlife film-lectures here. It was the last lecture of the season, but plans have already been made for four such lectures next season. The series was sold out these season, which means that those whose interest lies in this area will make their reservations early.

$100 in Bonds Forfeited in Municipal Court

Bonds totaling $100 were ordered forfeited Tuesday in Municipal Court by Judge Allan Asher when three men and one woman failed to appear on drunk charges.

Forfeiting $25 bonds each were Steve Rawlings, 54, of Divide; Pete Bruno, 54, 502 E. Moreno Ave.; Robert Collins, 27, 510 S. Wahsatch Ave., and Erika Schrawder, 39, 424 S. Tejon St.

At the request of Deputy City Attorney Bob Isaac, a reckless driving charge was dismissed against William Ortez, 21, 711 E. Las Vegas St. Ortez entered a guilty plea to a charge of careless driving and was fined $20 by the judge.

Charles Wilson, 22, 1310 Pando Ave., had charges of riotous conduct and drunkenness dismissed against him when the complaining officers failed to appear, but Judge Asher told Wilson he could consider the dismissal in the "nature of a warning."

Charges of riotous conduct, breach of the peace and drunkenness were dismissed against Percie Mae Duncan, 56, 640 E. Maple St., but the woman was found guilty on a disorderly conduct charge and fined $15.

Prior to regular court, Judge Asher set trial dates for the following persons who had requested jury trials: Robert Peek, 45, 434 Westmark Ave., careless driving, April 24 and Hugh Hobbs Jr., 24, Ft. Carson, concealed weapons, April 25.

The jury trials of David Pacheco, 24, 111 N. 7th St., charged with reckless and careless driving, and Kenneth Coleman, 29, 808½ N. Walnut, charged with careless driving, were passed until next term when their attorney William Carew informed Judge Asher he would be on active duty at Fort Lee, Va., during the April term.

Grace Markham, 23, and Freddie Williams, 23, whose addresses were listed as 618 S. Prospect St., both charged with vagrancy, failed to appear in court and the judge ordern their bonds of $15 each be forfeited. He also ordered their cases stricken from the jury docket.

Jurors will be selected, beginning at 9 a.m., on April 24.

Icy Streets Cause Many Accidents

City police investigated 19 accidents Tuesday, most of them due to icy road conditions.

Damage in four of the accidents was estimated at a total of $2,500, police said.

A car driven by Ely B. Clapp II, 17, 3029 W. Colorado Ave., went out of control on W. Colorado near 28th Street, jumped a curb and sheared off a utility pole, Cpl. E. J. Butler said.

He issued a ticket for damage to city property and careless driving to Clapp. Damage to the car was estimated at $500. The accident happened at 7 a. m.

Mary Ann Anderson, 33, 2216 Robin Ave., had trouble getting out of a parking space in the 200 block of E. Bijou Street about 4:40 p.m. Tuesday. Two men pushed her car out and it collided with one driven by Paul G. Brizal, 28, 509 E. jBoiu St.

Cpl. Q. K. Conrad and Patrolman V. B. Morris issued a ticket for improper backing to Mrs. Anderson. Damage totaled $750.

Taking the right of way charges were filed against Freda F. Howard, 20, 1819 E. Bijou St., after her car collided with one driven by Jimmy Archuleta, 19, 419 E. Colorado Ave. at the intersection of Kiowa Street and Wahsatch Avenue. Damage totaled $500.

Cars driven by Audrey B. Glasgow, 59, 1112 N. Cascade Ave., and Jessie M. Lawrence, 52, 1209 S. Nevada Ave., collided at the intersection of Boulder Street and Wahsatch Avenue at 5:20 p. m. Tuesday. Damage totaled $750. A ticket for running a stop sign was issued to Mrs. Lawrence.

Palmer Plans To Finance Foreign Student

Palmer High School, pleased with the success of its Norwegian exchange student, is going to "selskap" this weekend in order to finance another foreign student for next year.

"Selskap" is the Norwegian word for being in good company, and will be the theme of a party planned from 7 to 11 Saturday evening at the school. Harald Bergrem, who comes from Stravinger but is now living at the home of Dr. James R. Kennedy, 1903 Wood Ave., will be guest of honor.

The school needs $750 in order to obtain another student next year thru the American Foreign Exchange Student Program. The New York based orgainzation will make all the decisions regarding whether the student should be a girl or a boy, and which of 50 countries the student may come from, but Palmer is happy to take pot luck. What money the school can't raise at the party it hopes to obtain by contributions.

Decorations will be based on a Norwegian theme. There will be dancing, a movie about Norway, a gameroom, a wishing well and even a warming hut.

Storm Drainage Problem Studied by Army Engineer

A representative of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, Albuquerque District, was in the Colorado Springs area Tuesday conferring with city and county officials on storm drainage problems.

He was James L. Redmond, chief of the planning and reports branch of the engineering division. Col. John F. Arfman is the district engineer.

Redmond came to Colorado Springs at the request of city and county officials, according to City Manager John M. Biery and County Commissioner Charles L. Smith.

One reason for the request, they said, was because of the drainage problem in the northeastern section of the community —" a problem so intermingled between the city and county that it might be better handled by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers."

In addition to Biery and Smith, others who conferred with Redmond were Jack Buckner and DeWitt Miller of the city engineering staff and Keith Hook, one of five named to the city's subdivision storm drainage board Tuesday morning by the City Council.

Following a conference in the city manager's office, an inspection was made of the Shooks Run drainage basin, which included look-sees along Little Shooks Run and in Knob Hill.

Redmond said the Corps of Engineers is currently engaged in flood control work in the Arkansas River Basin.

This work will eventually include the Fountain River drainage, which is a part of the overall Arkansas River setup.

Redmond said a study in the Fountain River Valley will probably be started in fiscal year 1965, which actually commences July 1, 1964. Federal funds will have to be available.

He said such a study was on the planning boards and would undoubtedly start in due time even tho there had been no direct request from city and county officials.

Redmond emphasized, however, that he was glad the request had been made and that he was happy to discuss the problem with local officials.

But he also emphasized that once a study is made it will be on a comprehensive and complete drainage area basis, and not of just one or two drainages within the basin.

Redmond further reminded officials that in the final analysis by the Corps of Engineers that "Little Shooks Run, for example, might be considered as a local drainage or flood control problem." He said the Corps was more interested in main drainages and floodways.

He also said that benfits on any project of this type must exceed the cost. Local interests must also want the work done and be willing to cooperate with the Corps of Engineers.

Many factors are involved in the comprehensive approach study by the Corps of Engineers on flood control and drainage problems, including such things as population and growth factors, past, present and future.

Redmond said a comprehensive study of the Fountain River drainage was made by the engineers before the Templeton Gap Floodway was installed in the late 1940s. But he added that many things have changed in this area since that time and would be considered in the new study.

Plans Approved For Improvement District in City

City Council Tuesday approved plans and adopted specifications of the city engineer for the $109,000 Improvement District No. 63, setting April 23 as the date of a hearing prescribing the district, kind of improvements, the probable cost, and number of improvements. The city's share of the cost will be about $7,500.

Streets now petitioned for inclusion in the district are:

Curb and gutter, paving — 36th St. from Colorado Ave. to Pikes Peak Ave.; 19th St. from Manitou Blvd. to King St.; Sunset Rd. from Uintah St. to San Mighuel St.; 13th St. from Cucharras St. to Vermijo Ave.; Yuma St. from Uintah St. to San Miguel St.

Former Carson Commander Died In Austria

Maj. Gen. Harry J. Collins, U.S.A. (retired), commander of Ft. Carson in 1954, died last week in Salzburg, Austria after a long illness.

The general who was 64 at the time of his death was an honorary citizen of Colorado Springs and retired here in 1954 after a distinguished military career of 37 years. He later moved to Washington D. C.

Gen. Collins came to Ft. Carson in Feb., 1954 as commanding general of the 31st Infantry "Dixie" Division from Camp Atterbury, Ind.

The 31st was redesignated as the 8th Division and Collins remained in command until his retirement in Aug., 1954.

Carson officials said Gen. Collins is believed to have the position of division commander longer than any other general in the history of the United States Army.

GEN. HARRY J. COLLINS

Gen. Collins was best known for his command of the famous "Rainbow Division" which he led during its entire service in the European campaigns of World War II. Following the war, he was placed in command of occupational forces in Austria.

In 1951, after service at Ft. Lewis Washington, Ft. Jackson, S. C. and the New York-New Jersey Sub Area, Gen. Collins was sent to Europe as Military Attache with the U. S. Embassy in Moscow.

He was an honor graduate of the Western Military Academy, Alton Ill., and later attended the University of Chicago.

Collins was commissioned as an infantry officer in 1917 and during his military career wrote four handbooks including the "Machine Gunners' Handbook."

City Authorizes Crematory Bids

City Council Tuesday authorized bids to be advertised for construction and operation of a crematorium at Evergreen Cemetery.

The bid forms and general specifications will be available at the city purchasing office, 400 W. Fontanero St.

In other action the council:

Voted to permit removal of foundary fences along Union Boulevard, Dale Street and Meade Avenue, and to remove the curb on the south side of Monument Street to allow angle parking and increase off-street parking near Ent Ai Force Base.

Tabled for two weeks any action on a proposed ordinance defining licensing and regulating Merchant Police.

Adopted as ordinance on first reading a property owners' request to vacate an alley extending into Palmer Vista and Conover's Subdivision as part of a plan to develop a right-of-way for storm drainage in the area north of Palmer Park Boulevard and east of Union Boulevard.

Civic Players Set Pre-Season Member Drive

Harvey Klunder and Peter King, members of the Civic Players' board of directors, are in charge of arrangements for a pre-season membership campaign for 1963-64.

Having had the largest membership this year in its 46 years of activity, Civic Players anticipates even greater interest for the 1963-64 season.

Present members will be given the first opportunity to renew their memberships and will be given a preference as to seat location and night. New members will also be given early consideration as to their choice of seats and preferred nights.

A membership in Civic Players entitles its owner to a reserved seat season ticket for the five plays given during the year. Each play has a six night run, and members have the privilege of changing nights if necessary and have special priority for additional reservations. A member has voting privileges at the Annual Meeting at the close of the season and is eligible to serve on the Board of Directors and the various committees.

The total membership cost is $7.50 for a season of five plays. The sole support of this community cultural endeavor is derived from membership and ticket sales.

The pre-season membership campaign will be carried on thruout the run of the fourth play, March 18-23 and again thruout the week of the final play, May 20-25.

Volunteer Work Of Red Cross Told at Meet

Miss Mary Arnold Hood, chairman of volunteers of the Pikes Peak Chapter, American Red Cross, told members of the Colorado Springs Insurors that 525 Red Cross volunteers in Colorado Springs gave 32,600 hours during the past twelve months in service to the sick, handicapped and elderly.

Miss Hood addressed the group at its regular meeting Tuesday noon at the El Paso Club.

Dressed in her Gray Lady uniform, Miss Hood described the volunteer duties of those who serve from the youngest teen aged Monitor to the oldest Gray Lady. . ."She's 82 and goes by bus wherever she is needed."

Locally, the Red Cross budget from the United Fund is $87,000 this year. However, the total Red Cross budget, most of which comes from the national Red Cross is $280,000," she said.

She explained that the Red Cross offices at Ft. Carson, Ent and the Academy which serve the military during emergencies are financed by the National Red Cross.

Miss Hood pointed out that March has been Red Cross month, traditionally a fund drive month.

"Now that we are in the United Fund we are still observing Red Cross month as a time to tell you how we are spending your money and to thank you for giving," she concluded.

Firemen Get Call to Assist Girl

Firemen get strange requests —removing cats from trees, dogs from sewers and tots from locked bathrooms — but a call Tuesday was a new one.

Carol Colson, 16, 1447 Belair Dr., got her finger caught in a typewriter desk. Assistant Chief Herman Richter and Fireman Tom County went to the girl's home at 11:52 a.m. and disloged Carol's finger. Amputation was not necessary, but firemen are still puzzled how the teenager managed to get herself into the predicament.

At 11:47 p.m. Tuesday, Richter and the resusitator crew from Company No. 1, responded to a call at 110½ N. Tejon St., where Mrs. Agnes Petry, 44, was having difficulty in breathing.

Mrs. Petry's physician was called after firemen used the inhalator for about 10 minutes. She was reported in satisfactory condition when the firemen left her home.

Ft. Carson to Get Supplies for 970 Fallout Shelters

Ft. Carson has 970 spaces which the Omaha District, Corps of Engineers, has designated as available for protection from nuclear fallout.

All, except 115, are located in the permanent masonry buildings used for barracks and for Carson and 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) headquarters. The exception is a water tank, no longer in use, which has 115 spaces.

Civil Defense will stock these shelters with 14 days' supply of canned bread or biscuits, cans of water, medical supplies, radiological monitoring systems and sanitary supplies. These are so packed and preserved that they will last for a five-year period.

These supplies have been ordered through the El Paso County Civil Defense office.

Suggestions Bring Cash Awards to Eleven at AFA

Eleven persons, including a civilian employe at the Air Force Academy will receive checks for suggestions designed to improve operations, reduce costs and eliminate safety hazards at the Academy.

Gilbert L. Campbell, a librarian at the AFA Library, will receive a $60 award for suggesting additional promotional action on the sale of U.S. Savings Bonds. His idea was adopted Air Force-wide.

An estimated first year savings of $1,845 in manpower and material will result from a suggestion made by S. Sgt. Harold F. Becker of the Equipment Support Branch. Sgt. Becker will receive $45 for suggesting furniture bin units be covered with plastic and that reversible dust covers be used on furniture being delivered to quarters.

S. Sgt. Vincent F. Smith, Directorate of Transportation, will receive $15 for suggesting a transportation requests board bew installed at the Academy Motor Pool and $65 for originating a new procedure for control of vehicles and operators.

Maj. John E. Chrisinger, assistant professor of Aeronautics, will receive $10 for suggesting that the sharp end of the airspeed boom of the F-100 on display near Vandenberg Hall be padded to eliminate a safety hazard.

Airman 1. C. James R. Respress, Audio-Visual, suggested an inspection seal be placed on all films that have been inspected. He will receive $20.

A first year savings of $135 will result from T. Sgt. Walter Mathews' suggestion that windshield washer fluid be purchased in five gallon cans rather than six-ounce bottles. Assigned to the Directorate of Transportation, Sgt. Mathews will receive $15.

Member of the 7625th USAF Hospital staff, Airman 1.C. George C. Snell will receive $20 for suggesting paper work for physical exams be arranged in a definite order prior to being forwarded to the Academy.

Three airman assigned to the Base Equipment Management Office will receive awards for suggestions. Airman 1. C. James E. Dionne and Airman 1. C. Tommie Bush will share a $15 check for suggesting a new procedure for processing immediate requisitions for supplies and equipment. Airman Dionne also will receive $15 for suggesting the immediate delivery date be entered on the due-in card and Airman 1. C. Edward G. Lawrence $15 for a suggestion that requests for excess equipment be exempted from the equipment authorization inventory system until the item is actually received.

S. Sgt. Eugene C. Lux, of the hospital, will receive $10 for suggesting a sign be installed to identify the Base Dental Clinic reducing unnecessary traffic.

City Council Accepts Plat By North Gate

A preliminary plat of North Gate subdivision by North Gate, Inc., was approved today by City Council. The subdivision is a 130-acre tract lying northeast of the intersection of the CRI&P Railroad with Academy Boulevard.

The council also elected to annex a part of Austin Bluffs Addition No. 34 — a 3.4 acre tract southwest of the San Miguel Street and Academy Boulevard intersection and a 12.89-acre tract adjacent to it.

The area includes the west six lots between Hale and San Miguel Streets of an area subdivided under the title of Sunny Side addition No. 2.

Sparkling Pacific Colors Mark Audubon Film-Lecture

By JOHN FETLER

At the Audubon film-lectures, there seems at times, almost a festive air. The audience savors the presentation with an anticipatory sympathy. One can almost feel the pervasive orientation of those who come to these lectures: They have an interest in common, and this interest runs deeper than mere entertainment or amusement; it has a cultural grounding which is warp and woof of a cultural attitude.

Such, again, proved to be the case Monday night, when Patricia Bailey Witherspoon presented "Stepping Stones to Australia" to a sold-out audience at the Fine Arts Center.

It was Dr. Bailey's film, of course, and proved to be of the high calibre for which he is so well known. Mrs. Witherspoon, as always, proved to be a succinct lecturer. The entire presentation was one of fine clarity. The spontaneous reaction to various telling scenes in the film, and to the commentary, showed that the audience is always on the willing brink of showing its appreciation.

Although the film dealt mainly with Hawaii, Canton Island, and the Fiji Islands, as it seems to be usual in Dr. Bailey's films, a glimpse was also given of the Great Barrier Reef, thus giving that little extra which whets the appetite for future occasions.

The film starts out as a kind of a travelogue, which is necessary in order to establish the background. In this manner the audience saw scenes from Hawaii and some of its wildlife.

From there it went to the bleak Canton Island, with rusting remains of the last war still quite in evidence, but also with interesting bits of bird-lore, for instance the amazing fact of a bird which actually digs a burrow for its nest.

Then the journey — before ending up at the Great Barrier Reef, —went to Fiji, which was undoubtedly the most interesting section. Fiji's extraordinary beauty is given a rather nightmarish twist by the sight of the dense rain forest and by its strange, huge bats, which swoop down to the orchards to despoil them. That, together with Fiji's cannibalistic origins, gives a strange, lurid, dark contrast to the brilliant hues of the daytime colors, and of the sunny, amiable climate of the Fiji's, and of its friendly population, although segregation and integration problems exist there, too.

The Aiken Ornithological Society sponsors these Audubon wildlife film-lectures here. It was the last lecture of the season, but plans have already been made for four such lectures next season. The series was sold out these season, which means that those whose interest lies in this area will make their reservations early.

$100 in Bonds Forfeited in Municipal Court

Bonds totaling $100 were ordered forfeited Tuesday in Municipal Court by Judge Allan Asher when three men and one woman failed to appear on drunk charges.

Forfeiting $25 bonds each were Steve Rawlings, 54, of Divide; Pete Bruno, 54, 502 E. Moreno Ave.; Robert Collins, 27, 510 S. Wahsatch Ave., and Erika Schrawder, 39, 424 S. Tejon St.

At the request of Deputy City Attorney Bob Isaac, a reckless driving charge was dismissed against William Ortez, 21, 711 E. Las Vegas St. Ortez entered a guilty plea to a charge of careless driving and was fined $20 by the judge.

Charles Wilson, 22, 1310 Pando Ave., had charges of riotous conduct and drunkenness dismissed against him when the complaining officers failed to appear, but Judge Asher told Wilson he could consider the dismissal in the "nature of a warning."

Charges of riotous conduct, breach of the peace and drunkenness were dismissed against Percie Mae Duncan, 56, 640 E. Maple St., but the woman was found guilty on a disorderly conduct charge and fined $15.

Prior to regular court, Judge Asher set trial dates for the following persons who had requested jury trials: Robert Peek, 45, 434 Westmark Ave., careless driving, April 24 and Hugh Hobbs Jr., 24, Ft. Carson, concealed weapons, April 25.

The jury trials of David Pacheco, 24, 111 N. 7th St., charged with reckless and careless driving, and Kenneth Coleman, 29, 808½ N. Walnut, charged with careless driving, were passed until next term when their attorney William Carew informed Judge Asher he would be on active duty at Fort Lee, Va., during the April term.

Grace Markham, 23, and Freddie Williams, 23, whose addresses were listed as 618 S. Prospect St. both charged with vagrancy failed to appear in court and the judge ordered their bonds of $15 each be forfeited. He also ordered their cases stricken from the jury docket.

Jurors will be selected, beginning at 9 a.m., on April 24.

Icy Streets Cause Many Accidents

City police investigated 19 accidents Tuesday, most of them due to icy road conditions.

Damage in four of the accidents was estimated at a total of $2,500, police said.

A car driven by Ely B. Clapp II, 17, 3029 W. Colorado Ave., went out of control on W. Colorado near 28th Street, jumped a curb and sheared off a utility pole, Cpl. E. J. Butler said.

He issued a ticket for damage to city property and careless driving to Clapp. Damage to the car was estimated at $500. The accident happened at 7 a. m.

Mary Ann Anderson, 33, 2216 Robin Ave., had trouble getting out of a parking space in the 200 block of E. Bijou Street about 4:40 p.m. Tuesday. Two men pushed her car out and it collided with one driven by Paul G. Brizal, 28, 509 E. jBoiu St.

Cpl. Q. K. Conrad and Patrolman V. B. Morris issued a ticket for improper backing to Mrs. Anderson. Damage totaled $750.

Taking the right of way charges were filed against Freda F. Howard, 20, 1819 E. Bijou St., after her car collided with one driven by Jimmy Archuleta, 19, 419 E. Colorado Ave. at the intersection of Kiowa Street and Wahsatch Avenue. Damage totaled $500.

Cars driven by Audrey B. Glasgow, 59, 1112 N. Cascade Ave., and Jessie M. Lawrence, 52, 1209 S. Nevada Ave., collided at the intersection of Boulder Street and Wahsatch Avenue at 5:20 p. m. Tuesday. Damage totaled $750. A ticket for running a stop sign was issued to Mrs. Lawrence.

Palmer Plans To Finance Foreign Student

Palmer High School, pleased with the success of its Norwegian exchange student, is going to "selskap" this weekend in order to finance another foreign student for next year.

"Selskap" is the Norwegian word for being in good company, and will be the theme of a party planned from 7 to 11 Saturday evening at the school. Harald Bergrem, who comes from Stravinger but is now living at the home of Dr. James R. Kennedy, 1903 Wood Ave., will be guest of honor.

The school needs $750 in order to obtain another student next year thru the American Foreign Exchange Student Program. The New York based orgainzation will make all the decisions regarding whether the student should be a girl or a boy, and which of 50 countries the student may come from, but Palmer is happy to take pot luck. What money the school can't raise at the party it hopes to obtain by contributions.

Decorations will be based on a Norwegian theme. There will be dancing, a movie about Norway, a gameroom, a wishing well and even a warming hut.

Storm Drainage Problem Studied by Army Engineer

A representative of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, Albuquerque District, was in the Colorado Springs area Tuesday conferring with city and county officials on storm drainage problems.

He was James L. Redmond, chief of the planning and reports branch of the engineering division. Col. John F. Arfman is the district engineer.

Redmond came to Colorado Springs at the request of city and county officials, according to City Manager John M. Biery and County Commissioner Charles L. Smith.

One reason for the request, they said, was because of the drainage problem in the northeastern section of the community —" a problem so intermingled between the city and county that it might be better handled by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers."

In addition to Biery and Smith, others who conferred with Redmond were Jack Buckner and DeWitt Miller of the city engineering staff and Keith Hook, one of five named to the city's subdivision storm drainage board Tuesday morning by the City Council.

Following a conference in the city manager's office, an inspection was made of the Shooks Run drainage basin, which included look-sees along Little Shooks Run and in Knob Hill.

Redmond said the Corps of Engineers is currently engaged in flood control work in the Arkansas River Basin.

This work will eventually include the Fountain River drainage, which is a part of the overall Arkansas River setup.

Redmond said a study in the Fountain River Valley will probably be started in fiscal year 1965, which actually commences July 1, 1964. Federal funds will have to be available.

He said such a study was on the planning boards and would undoubtedly start in due time even tho there had been no direct request from city and county officials.

Redmond emphasized, however, that he was glad the request had been made and that he was happy to discuss the problem with local officials.

But he also emphasized that once a study is made it will be on a comprehensive and complete drainage area basis, and not of just one or two drainages within the basin.

Redmond further reminded officials that in the final analysis by the Corps of Engineers that "Little Shooks Run, for example, might be considered as a local drainage or flood control problem." He said the Corps was more interested in main drainages and floodways.

He also said that benfits on any project of this type must exceed the cost. Local interests must also want the work done and be willing to cooperate with the Corps of Engineers.

Many factors are involved in the comprehensive approach study by the Corps of Engineers on flood control and drainage problems, including such things as population and growth factors, past, present and future.

Redmond said a comprehensive study of the Fountain River drainage was made by the engineers before the Templeton Gap Floodway was installed in the late 1940s. But he added that many things have changed in this area since that time and would be considered in the new study.

Former Carson Commander Died In Austria

Maj. Gen. Harry J. Collins, U.S.A. (retired), commander of Ft. Carson in 1954, died last week in Salzburg, Austria after a long illness.

The general who was 64 at the time of his death was an honorary citizen of Colorado Springs and retired here in 1954 after a distinguished military career of 37 years. He later moved to Washington D. C.

Gen. Collins came to Ft. Carson in Feb., 1954 as commanding general of the 31st Infantry "Dixie" Division from Camp Atterbury, Ind.

The 31st was redesignated as the 8th Division and Collins remained in command until his retirement in Aug., 1954.

Carson officials said Gen. Collins is believed to have the position of division commander longer than any other general in the history of the United States Army.

Gen. Collins was best known for his command of the famous "Rainbow Division" which he led during its entire service in the European campaigns of World War II. Following the war, he was placed in command of occupational forces in Austria.

In 1951, after service at Ft. Lewis Washington, Ft. Jackson, S. C. and the New York-New Jersey Sub Area, Gen. Collins was sent to Europe as Military Attache with the U. S. Embassy in Moscow.

He was an honor graduate of the Western Military Academy, Alton Ill., and later attended the University of Chicago.

Collins was commissioned as an infantry officer in 1917 and during his military career wrote four handbooks including the "Machine Gunners' Handbook."

Plans Approved For Improvement District in City

City Council Tuesday approved plans and adopted specifications of the city engineer for the $109,000 Improvement District No. 63, setting April 23 as the date of a hearing prescribing the district, kind of improvements, the probable cost, and number of improvements. City Authorizes Crematory Bids

City Council Tuesday authorized bids to be advertised for constructon and operation of a crematorium at Evergreen Cemetery.

The bid forms and general specifications will be available at the city purchasing office, 400 W. Fontanero St.

In other action the council:

Voted to permit removal of foundary fences along Union Boulevard, Dale Street and Meade Avenue, and to remove the curb on the south side of Monument Street to allow angle parking and increase off-street parking near Ent Ai Force Base.

Tabled for two weeks any action on a proposed ordinance defining licensing and regulating Merchant Police.

Adopted as ordinance on first reading a property owners' request to vacate an alley extending into Palmer Vista and Conover's Subdivision as part of a plan to develop a right-of-way for storm drainage in the area north of Palmer Park Boulevard and east of Union Boulevard.

State DAR Conference to Open Sunday at Broadmoor

At the call of trumpeter Bill Mitchell, the processional for the sixtieth Colorado State Conference National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution will march to the rostrum in the ballroom of the Broadmoor Hotel at 9:30 a.m., Monday.

A tour of the Air Force Academy has been arranged for Sunday afternoon. Buses will leave the Broadmoor Hotel promptly at 2 p.m. The State Officers' Club dinner will be held in the Green Room at the Hotel at 7 p.m. Sunday with Mrs. Charles B. Hoffman, president, presiding.

Hostesses for this sixtieth conference are the chapters of Colorado District 4, with Zebulon Pike and Kinnikinnik Chapters of Colorado Springs co-chairmen. Other chapters are Centennial State, Greeley; Elbridge Gerry, Sterling; Fort Morgan, Fort Morgan; Fort Vasquez, Brighton; Fort William Bent, Lamar; Huajatolla, Walsenburg; La Junta, La Junta; La Platte Valley, Julesburg; and Rocky Ford, Rocky Ford.

History for the Daughters in Colorado began in August, 1894, when the National Society appointed Mary Goodale Slocum, wife of Dr. William F. Slocum, president of Colorado College, as organizing regent. At a meeting in her home on the College campus, Jan. 24, 1895, Zebulon Pike Chapter 193 became the first chapter in Colorado. Since then 38 other chapters have been organized, of which 35 are now active, with a large membership of earnest women working for "God, Home, and Country" under the flags of the United States of America and the State of Colorado.

All DAR women in the region are urged to attend the conference which will be in session on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday at the Broadmoor Hotel. Registration opens at 3 p.m. Sunday and continues thru Wednesday morning.

The conference will be called to order at 9:30 a.m. Monday by the State Regent, Mrs. E. Roy Chesney. The assembly will sing the National Anthem, led by Mrs. D. A. Bymaster, accompanied by Mr. Carl F. Mathews, and followed by the invocation by Mrs. Gordon H. Rowe, State Chaplain, the pledge of allegiance, and salute to the flag, led by Mrs. Herbert L. Mosley, state chairman of the Flag of the United States of America Committee.

Hostess chapter regents will be presented and the welcome given by Mrs. Harry A. Pool, regent of Zebulon Pike Chapter. Conference chairman, Mrs. John Monteith Jr., and Mrs. G. Franklyn Brown, will also be presented as well as distinguished guests, Mrs. Richard F. Carlson, Vice-President General and Mrs. Warder Lee Braerton, Honorary Vice-President General, and Mrs. Jackson E. Stewart, National Chairman of D.A.R. Good Citizens Committee, and Vice-President General of Florida.

Luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Monday at the Broadmoor will be sponsored by the DAR Good Citizens Committee, with Mrs. Kenneth Quayle, Sr., presiding. Awards will be presented at this luncheon to the girls rated first and second in the State Good Citizens Contest. The Memorial Hour will be held at the Episcopal Chapel of Our Saviour, 3rd and Elm, at 4 p.m. Monday.

The Conference banquet Monday night will be devoted to the theme of National Defense. A luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday will honor members with 25 to 50 and more years of continuous membership in the NSDAR, and Miss Junior DAR for Colorado will be presented. Mrs. Edward Bain, state membership chairman will preside. Mrs. Charles H. Straeb and George Garriques will sing, accompanied by Miss Ruth Rice.

The dinner at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening honors Colorado's thirty-five chapter regents. Arthur Gaeth lecturer and radio news analyst will give the address "The Genius of America."

Election of officers will take up the greater part of the time for the final business session on Wednesday morning. The farewell luncheon on Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. in the Penrose Room, Broadmoor South, promises to be a social affair, with piano selections by Miss Helen Foster, and greetings from Mrs. Ner A. Baer, Pueblo, American Indian National Advisor for Bacon College; Mrs. Eugene F. Cramblit Sr., National Vice-Chairman of Constitution Week; Mrs. Henry E. Ray, Denver, Senior State President of Children of the American Revolution, and Mrs. Elizabeth Cox, of Arlington, Virginia, formerly of Colorado, National Chairman of the Resolutions Committee.

Zebulon Pike and Kinnikinnik Chapters will be hostesses at a tea, in the Pioneer Museum, 25 W. Kiowa St., at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Transportation from the Broadmoor Hotel will be provided.

Black Forest HD Club Will Meet

The March meeting of the Black Forest Home Demonstration Club will be a "finger" pot luck luncheon to be held at noon Thursday in the home of Mrs. James Hidy, 81 N. Black Forest Rd. Members are asked to bring a dish that can be eaten with the fingers, and the centerpiece will be awarded to the most unusual and attractive served.

Mrs. George Smith, home management leader, announces that Ed Lohman of the First National Bank will talk on banking. Roll call subject will be "If I were Queen for a Day." Plans will be made for annual achievement day.

Prince Peter of Greece Is Man of Many Talents

Prince Peter of Greece, who, with representatives of thirteen other NATO countries visited the North American Air Defense Command last week, was the inspiration for a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. John Michopoulos, 809 Orion Dr.

The Prince, who is second in succession to the throne, was King of Greece by appointment, for a short time, while King George II was in London.

Mr. Michopoulos met the prince while he was a war correspondent in Cairo and Marsamatrout, Egypt, during World War II.

"The Prince was referred to by those who knew him as being as 'polite as an Athenian,' and as 'great a fighter as a Spartan,'" Mr. Michopoulos said. "He is the author of seven books, mostly on Tibet, and on Alexander The Great. He speaks three tribal languages, has a diploma from four European Universities, and is an honorary professor of five other European universities."

Mr. Michopoulos also stated that Prince Peter is internationally famous as an anthropologist, and, as a top authority in this field, has had many articles published in European magazines. He is now serving as official Counselor for the making of the motion picture, "The Great Alexander."

Fin-ish

Small fin bones are easier to remove from cooked whole fish if you have the market clerk leave the fins on. Once the fish is cooked, a quick pull at a fin usually removes bones as well.

Results of Girl Scout Cookie Sale Announced

Committee chairmen of the 1963 Girl Scout Cookie Sale report that approximately 53,000 boxes of cookies were sold this year, with reports still incomplete. Some troop committees are still disposing of boxes, as opened cartons can not be returned to the Girl Scout Office.

It is estimated that 241 troops in the area will receive $2,200.00 as a bonus, to be used for troop outdoor programs. The Council will receive approximately $13,000.00 to be used for the extensive camping program which is being planned.

Competition among the troops was reported to have been very keen, and the names of the troops having the largest per capita sales will be announced later.

The committee expressed thanks to the community in general, as well as to the various news media.

Colonial Dames to Attend Luncheon at Denver Club

The National Society of Colonial Dames, who sponsor and maintain two famous historical landmarks in the state of Colorado, will hold a regular luncheon meeting at the Denver Country Club at 12:30 p.m. on Friday. Mrs. Stephan Hart, president of the society said that a flag pageant will be presented after the meeting, and that a board meeting will be held at 10:30 a.m. prior to the luncheon. Many Colorado Springs members plan to attend.

The Hotel De Paris, in Georgetown, about 50 miles west of Denver, McAllister House, in Colorado Springs, and the Colonial Rooms at the Denver Art Museum are maintained by the Dames.

The Hotel De Paris is a relic of the busy mining days of the 19th century, when its doors stood open to weary travellers who crossed the mountain passes beyond Georgetown. It was famous for its excellent French cooking and imported French wines. Louis De Puys, a mysterious Frenchman who was thought to be an exiled aristocrat, built the Hotel De Paris and presided over its cuisine and cellar. The great, sunny kitchen is open for inspection, and coffee and pastries in the French manner are available to summer visitors.

McAllister house, one of the early houses to be built in the Springs, is fully furnished in the manner of the late Victorian Era. Much of the furniture was originally owned by the McAllisters, who came from Philadelphia to settle in Colorado with General Palmer. Henry McAllister was an attorney. The books in the law library in the charming little house were presented to the Dames by the Colorado Springs Bar Association in memory of Mr. McAllister.

A special board meeting will be held at Cherokee Ranch, the home of Mrs. Glen Walker, in Sedalia, at 10 a.m. Friday, April 26, according to Mrs. John L. Scripps, recording secretary for the society.

Gloves Make Snappy Picture

CHICAGO (UPI) — Women who are having pictures taken should pose with their gloves, suggests Emilie Romaine, photographer and fashion expert.

You don't have to wear them, just hold them, she wrote in National Professional Photographer.

"Lovely hands are easier to pose and look naturally graceful when holding gloves," she said.

Miss Romaine said today's portrait photographers must be experts in fashion and make-up as well as photographic technicians. She gave these tips on posing with gloves:

—Emphasize the straight end rather than the fingers of the gloves. The hands are a busy element and the plain end of the gloves simplifies arrangement.

—Gloves with outside finger seams are suitable only for tailored and sport clothes.

—The pale, very short glove that barely reaches the wrist is most appropriate for teens and pre-teens. Short gloves may be worn with short sleeve or strapless dresses by young women.

—A three-quarter length sleeve looks best joined with a three-quarter length glove, disappearing under the sleeve. Avoid wrinkling the wrist of the glove because it not only thickens the wrist but prevents a smooth line.

—The very long glove always has been elegant on arms of mature women.

Transparent tape can be removed from paper without tearing if a hot iron is run over the area first.

HONOR STUDENT — Miss Patricia Bolton, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Vernon L. Bolton, 24 Wolfe Ave., has been named to the first semester honor roll at the University of New Mexico College of Arts and Sciences in Albuquerque. She is a senior majoring in foreign studies and specializing in Inter-American affairs, a department for which the University of New Mexico is internationally noted. Besides maintaining outstanding scholastic record, Miss Bolton has been active in campus affairs. She is president of Delta Gamma sorority, treasurer of Mortar Board national scholastic honorary for senior women, a member of the Latin American Desk, and of the Ski Club.

Cheese Treat

Make open-faced mustard-cheese sandwiches for a meatless meal. Blend 1 tablespoon of flour with the same amount of melted butter or margarine. Add 1 cup of milk. Stir and cook 4 to 5 minutes, or until slightly thickened. Add 1 teaspoon of powdered mustard and 2 cups of shredded cheddar cheese. Stir and cook until cheese melts, but do not boil. Serve on toast with a garnish of crisp bacon slices. Serves 6.

Meat Storage Times

The limit of storage days in the refrigerator for maximum quality of fresh meats is approximately 5 to 6 days for roasts, 3 to 4 days for chops and steaks, 1 to 2 days for ground meats and 2 days for variety meats. The meat should be loosely wrapped and stored in the coldest part of the refrigerator.

State DAR Conference to Open Sunday at Broadmoor

At the call of trumpeter Bill Mitchell, the processional for the sixtieth Colorado State Conference National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution will march to the rostrum in the ballroom of the Broadmoor Hotel at 9:30 a.m., Monday.

A tour of the Air Force Academy has been arranged for Sunday afternoon. Buses will leave the Broadmoor Hotel promptly at 2 p.m. The State Officers' Club dinner will be held in the Green Room at the Hotel at 7 p.m. Sunday with Mrs. Charles B. Hoffman, president, presiding.

Hostesses for this sixtieth conference are the chapters of Colorado District 4, with Zebulon Pike and Kinnikinnik Chapters of Colorado Springs co-chairmen. Other chapters are Centennial State, Greeley; Elbridge Gerry, Sterling; Fort Morgan, Fort Morgan; Fort Vasquez, Brighton; Fort William Bent, Lamar; Huajatolla, Walsenburg; La Junta, La Junta; La Platte Valley, Julesburg; and Rocky Ford, Rocky Ford.

History for the Daughters in Colorado began in August, 1894 when the National Society appointed Mary Goodale Slocum, wife of Dr. William F. Slocum, president of Colorado College, as organizing regent. At a meeting in her home on the College campus, Jan. 24, 1895, Zebulon Pike Chapter 193 became the first chapter in Colorado. Since then 38 other chapters have been organized, of which 35 are now active, with a large membership of earnest women working for "God, Home, and Country" under the flags of the United States of America and the State of Colorado.

All DAR women in the region are urged to attend the conference which will be in session on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday at the Broadmoor Hotel. Registration opens at 3 p.m. Sunday and continues thru Wednesday morning.

The conference will be called to order at 9:30 a.m. Monday by the State Regent, Mrs. E. Roy Chesney. The assembly will sing the National Anthem, led by Mrs. D. A. Bymaster, accompanied by Mr. Carl F. Mathews, and followed by the invocation by Mrs. Gordon H. Rowe, State Chaplain, the pledge of allegiance, and salute to the flag, led by Mrs. Herbert L. Mosley, state chairman of the Flag of the United States of America Committee.

Hostess chapter regents will be presented and the welcome given by Mrs. Harry A. Pool, regent of Zebulon Pike Chapter. Conference chairman, Mrs. John Monteith Jr., and Mrs. G. Franklyn Brown, will also be presented as well as distinguished guests, Mrs. Richard F. Carlson, Vice-President General and Mrs. Warder Lee Braerton, Honorary Vice-President General, and Mrs. Jackson E. Stewart, National Chairman of D.A.R. Good Citizens Committee, and Vice-President General of Florida.

Luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Monday at the Broadmoor will be sponsored by the DAR Good Citizens Committee, with Mrs. Kenneth Quayle, Sr., presiding. Awards will be presented at this luncheon to the girls rated first and second in the State Good Citizens Contest. The Memorial Hour will be held at the Episcopal Chapel of Our Saviour, 3rd and Elm, at 4 p.m. Monday.

The Conference banquet Monday night will be devoted to the theme of National Defense. A luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday will honor members with 25 to 50 and more years of continuous membership in the NSDAR, and Miss Junior DAR for Colorado will be presented. Mrs. Edward Bain, state membership chairman will preside. Mrs. Charles H. Straeb and George Garriques will sing, accompanied by Miss Ruth Rice.

The dinner at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening honors Colorado's thirty-five chapter regents. Arthur Gaeth lecturer and radio news analyst will give the address "The Genius of America."

Election of officers will take up the greater part of the time for the final business session on Wednesday morning. The farewell luncheon on Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. in the Penrose Room, Broadmoor South, promises to be a social affair, with piano selections by Miss Helen Foster, and greetings from Mrs. Ner A. Baer, Pueblo, American Indian National Advisor for Bacon College; Mrs. Eugene F. Cramblit Sr., National Vice - Chairman of Constitution Week; Mrs. Henry E. Ray, Denver, Senior State President of Children of the American Revolution, and Mrs. Elizabeth Cox, of Arlington, Virginia, formerly of Colorado, National Chairman of the Resolutions Committee.

Zebulon Pike and Kinnikinnik Chapters will be hostesses at a tea in the Pioneer Museum, 25 W. Kiowa St., at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Transportation from the Broadmoor Hotel will be provided.

Black Forest HD Club Will Meet

The March meeting of the Black Forest Home Demonstration Club will be a "finger" pot luck luncheon to be held at noon Thursday in the home of Mrs. James Hidy, 81 N. Black Forest Rd. Members are asked to bring a dish that can be eaten with the fingers, and the centerpiece will be awarded to the most unusual and attractive served.

Mrs. George Smith, home management leader, announces that Ed Lohman of the First National Bank will talk on banking. Roll call subject will be "If I were Queen for a Day." Plans will be made for annual achievement day.

There are several kinds of felt material, all wool, wool and cotton, or wool and rayon.

Prince Peter of Greece Is Man of Many Talents

Prince Peter of Greece, who, with representatives of thirteen other NATO countries visited the North American Air Defense Command last week, was the inspiration for a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. John Michopoulos, 809 Orion Dr.

The Prince, who is second in succession to the throne, was King of Greece by appointment, for a short time, while King George II was in London.

Mr. Michopoulos met the prince while he was a war correspondent in Cairo and Marsamatrout, Egypt, during World War II.

"The Prince was referred to by those who knew him as being as 'polite as an Athenian,' and as 'great a fighter as a Spartan,'" Mr. Michopoulos said. "He is the author of seven books, mostly on Tibet, and on Alexander The Great. He speaks three tribal languages, has a diploma from four European Universities, and is an honorary professor of five other European universities."

Mr. Michopoulos also stated that Prince Peter is internationally famous as an anthropologist, and, as a top authority in this field, has had many articles published in European magazines. He is now serving as official Counselor for the making of the motion picture, "The Great Alexander."

Fin-ish

Small fin bones are easier to remove from cooked whole fish if you have the market clerk leave the fins on. Once the fish is cooked, a quick pull at a fin usually removes bones as well.

Results of Girl Scout Cookie Sale Announced

Committee chairmen of the 1963 Girl Scout Cookie Sale report that approximately 53,000 boxes of cookies were sold this year, with reports still incomplete. Some troop committees are still disposing of boxes, as opened cartons can not be returned to the Girl Scout Office.

It is estimated that 241 troops in the area will receive $2,200.00 as a bonus, to be used for troop outdoor programs. The Council will receive approximately $13,000.00 to be used for the extensive camping program which is being planned.

Competition among the troops was reported to have been very keen, and the names of the troops having the largest per capita sales will be announced later.

The committee expressed thanks to the community in general, as well as to the various news media.

Opening lead: King of ♡ South, a player of considerable stature, went down to defeat in a grand slam contract as the result of a blind spot commen to us all. The ironic feature of the situation was that, had his partner been the declarer, success would probably have been routine.

Seven spades was a sound undertaking and North and South lost little time in getting there. South's jump shift rebid of two spades is forcing to game. North's raise to four spades was well chosen, for it assures partner of the solidity of the trump suit and leaves him in perfect position to proceed. When South's Blackwood inquiry uncovered both missing aces, he bid a grand slam.

West opened the king of hearts and the ace was played from dummy. Declarer observed that he was solid all the way around except for one diamond loser which could be ruffed conveniently in the North hand. As a precautionary measure, he drew two high trumps in his hand but when West showed out he abandoned that suit temporarily, and turned his attention to the diamonds.

The ace of diamonds was played followed by a small diamond to the king. The nine of diamonds was then led and trumped with the eight of spades. South received a rude jolt when East overruffed with the nine of trumps.

Declarer was quite unlucky to run into a four-one spade split as well as a six-two division in diamonds. However, his failure might more aptly be attributed to a simple defect in his vision. His eyes were so firmly fixed on disposing of his losing diamond, that he overlooked a far superior method for producing a 13th trick, namely, ruffing one of dummy's hearts in his own hand.

It was correct for South to test the trumps first but, when West shows out on the second round, he should cross over to the ace of diamonds in order to trump a heart with the five of spades. Next he cashes the jack of trumps, enters dummy with the jack of clubs in order to pull East's last spade with the queen and, on this trick, he discards his losing diamond. Declarer's own hand is now high.

To make an ivory knife handle whiter, rub it with half a lemon dipped in salt.

Attach felt weather stripping to the underside of each rocker of chairs to keep the rockers from scarring the floor.

Keep galoshes and overshoes ready for bad weather by rubbing a few drops of oil on each zipper and running the zipper back and forth a few times.

Evaporated milk makes an emergency glue for a stamp or label.

Colored popcorn dropped on a freshly iced cake makes a colorful dessert for a special occasion.

Before threading a needle, rub the end of the threat with a piece of soap. Twist and let dry. It will go through the eye of the needle much easier.

Remove shoe stains from light-colored stockings by putting a tablespoon of borax in the wash water.

Your Son's at Fault

DEAR ABBY: What is wrong with a mother who will let her 14-year-old daughter accept a $40 present from a 20-year-old boy who is trying to get through college? My husband and I can't understand it. I told our son tonight that if this little gold-digger has to have a $40 present he can quit school and go to work. We are having a tough time putting our son through school. Her family apparently didn't think a thing of it. Why doesn't her mother keep her in where she belongs? Thank you. —CONSTANT READER

DEAR READER: Don't blame the girl's mother because your son spent more than he could afford on a gift for the girl. When a girl gets a gift from a young man, her parents have a right to assume he could afford it. The world is not going to lock up its daughters so young men like your son will be out of temptation's way.

DEAR ABBY: I share a party line with a woman in her sixties who can't speak a work of English. She is president of a club of old ladies who can't speak English either. Listen to this: Almost every time I am talking on the telephone she breaks into my conversation with "doctor" or "hospital!" This means I have to get off the line immediately. I understand it's the law. A couple of minutes later I pick up the phone and she is laughing and talking to one of her friends. She has pulled this so many times it isn't even funny. What can I do about it? —ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: Call your telephone company and ask it to investigate.

DEAR ABBY: I wish to take issue with you. You said it is bad manners to use a toothpick in public. Well, why do the finest jewelry stores sell solid gold toothpicks? —HAS ONE

DEAR HAS: Back scratchers and toenail clippers are sold in the "finest" stores, too. But that doesn't mean it's proper to scratch one's back or clip one's toe nails in public.

Egg Stuffing

Egg-stuffed celery makes a high protein, meatless snack. Chop 4 hard-cooked eggs and put through a fine sieve. Mix well with ¾ teaspoon of salt, ¼ teaspoon of ground black pepper, ⅛ teaspoon each of powdered mustard and garlic powder and ¼ cup of mayonnaise. Cut celery ribs into 24 (3-inch) places and divide egg mixture among them. Sprinkle with paprika.

Sausage Sandwich

For a new kind of sandwich, place 1 pound of pork sausage links and 2 tablespoons water in a cold frying-pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 5 minutes. Uncover and brown links. Spread 2 tablespoons of applesauce on each of 8 slices of buttered toast. Arrange 2 pork sausage links on each slice of bread and top with a cheese strip. Broil sandwiches until cheese melts.

Opening lead: King of ♡ South, a player of considerable stature, went down to defeat in a grand slam contract as the result of a blind spot commen to us all. The ironic feature of the situation was that, had his partner been the declarer, success would probably have been routine.

Seven spades was a sound undertaking and North and South lost little time in getting there. South's jump shift rebid of two spades is forcing to game. North's raise to four spades was well chosen, for it assures partner of the solidity of the trump suit and leaves him in perfect position to proceed. When South's Blackwood inquiry uncovered both missing aces, he bid a grand slam.

West opened the king of hearts and the ace was played from dummy. Declarer observed that he was solid all the way around except for one diamond loser which could be ruffed conveniently in the North hand. As a precautionary measure, he drew two high trumps in his hand but when West showed out he abandoned that suit temporarily, and turned his attention to the diamonds.

The ace of diamonds was played followed by a small diamond to the king. The nine of diamonds was then led and trumped with the eight of spades. South received a rude jolt when East overruffed with the nine of trumps.

Declarer was quite unlucky to run into a four-one spade split as well as a six-two division in diamonds. However, his failure might more aptly be attributed to a simple defect in his vision. His eyes were so firmly fixed on disposing of his losing diamond, that he overlooked a far superior method for producing a 13th trick, namely, ruffing one of dummy's hearts in his own hand.

It was correct for South to test the trumps first but, when West shows out on the second round, he should cross over to the ace of diamonds in order to trump a heart with the five of spades. Next he cashes the jack of trumps, enters dummy with the jack of clubs in order to pull East's last spade with the queen and, on this trick, he discards his losing diamond. Declarer's own hand is now high.

Household Hints

United Press International

To make an ivory knife handle whiter, rub it with half a lemon dipped in salt.

Attach felt weather stripping to the underside of each rocker of chairs to keep the rockers from scarring the floor.

Keep galoshes and overshoes ready for bad weather by rubbing a few drops of oil on each zipper and running the zipper back and forth a few times.

Evaporated milk makes an emergency glue for a stamp or label.

Colored popcorn dropped on a freshly iced cake makes a colorful dessert for a special occasion.

Before threading a needle, rub the end of the threat with a piece of soap. Twist and let dry. It will go through the eye of the needle much easier.

Remove shoe stains from light-colored stockings by putting a tablespoon of borax in the wash water.

Modeling clay will remain soft and pliable if stored in aluminum foil.

$625,000 Mortgage Loan Arranged Thru Bank Here

A $625,000 mortgage loan on a proposed 10-story apartment building in Denver has been negotiated thru the First National Bank of Colorado Springs by the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co.

The loan commitment was issued by the insurance company on a proposed apartment building at 1599 Williams St., a 12,500-square-foot tract 1½ miles east of downtown Denver in the Capitol Hill section. The 76-unit structure, to be completed in the fall of 1964, will cost approximately $1,040,000 and will be built by the National Growth Corp.

The $625,000 mortgage is one of number negotiated by the John Hancock company recently in Colorado. The First National Bank here is mortgage loan correspondent for the firm.

John Hancock's total outstanding mortgage and real estate investments and commitments in Colorado at the end of 1962 totaled $25.5 million.

Tobaccos, Steels Hold Gains in Moderate Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market remained higher late Tuesday afternoon with tobaccos and steels holding gains. Trading was moderate.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3.3 million shares compared with 3.17 million Monday.

Gains of key stocks went from fractions to a point or more.

A rally by tobaccos was triggered by news that the American Medical Association has decided to drop its proposed year-long study of the possible relationship between tobacco use and various diseases.

Liggett & Myers trimmed a gain exceeding 2 points and was up more than a point. Similar gains were shown in late trading by American Tobacco, Reynolds, and Philip Morris. Lorillard was up about a point.

Steels made moderate gains in belated response to reports of mounting orders and production. Lukens Steel was about a point higher. Fractional advances were made by U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Jones & Laughlin.

Gains exceeding a point were made also by IBM and Du Pont. Merck was up about a point.

Moderate gains were made by AT&T, Consolidated Edison, Texaco, Radio Corp., Anaconda, and Union Carbide.

Corporate bonds were slightly higher; U.S. governments were unchanged.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Selling pressure drove most grain futures contracts into a weak range on the Board of Trade today as buying support faded.

Old crop soybeans were the hardest hit with losses running to more than two cents a bushel. New crop deliveries held about steady.

Corn retreated as deliveries on the March contract in the pit became the heaviest since first tenders were issued more than a week ago.

Reports of additional moisture in parts of the winter wheat belt induced active liquidation of the nearby months.

Carlot receipts were estimated at: wheat 7 cars, corn 92, oats 2, rye none, barley 14, soybeans 6.

Jobless Figures Fail to Reflect Gain in Spending

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans are spending more than ever. But you couldn't tell it from the jobless figures.

Some industries are increasing output. Others are announcing plans for greatly increased spending for modernization and new plants. But the number of new jobs won't increase automatically as it once would.

This is one of the dreariest aspects of the final days of winter.

A brighter one, the spending figure, comes from retail sales statistics for February. At $20.3 billion, this set a record high for any month. Americans spent 7 per cent more than a year ago for goods from the stores, even though the rise from January was a slight 0.2 per cent. The monthly figure, seasonally adjusted, has been above $20 billion since November.

Durable goods sales is put at $6.5 billion in February, an 8 per cent gain over the like 1962 month. Nondurable goods sales at $13.8 billion is a 6 per cent increase.

Helping the rise in February was the growing inclination of Americans to buy more on time. Outstanding instalment credit has been gaining at an average rate of $500 million a month for some time. The total is approaching the $49-billion mark. Much of the increase in recent months is linked to the high total of auto sales.

Total industrial production has remained slightly below the late fall peak. But some industries are increasing output, notably steel.

For six weeks running, mills have turned out more tonnage than the preceding period. That is the longest climb in 18 months. It has pushed production to an estimated 70 per cent of capacity.

Some steel mills have fired up once idled furnaces. A few shut plants have started up again. Some new facilities are coming into use. This has led to recall of some laidoff steel workers, and in a few cases to hiring new men.

But through industry as a while, the prospects are less rosy for the jobless. Many manufacturers can speed up production with the same number of workers they now have.

Any spring spurt in total industrial production may well be accomplished without the hiring which accompanied such increases in the days before automation was so widespread.

And all the time the labor force is increasing. The population explosion of the 1940s is bringing, year by year, more young men and women to the ranks of the job seekers.

Times can look mighty prosperous if you study the production and sales figures. They can look much different if you concentrate on the rising percentage of the labor force out of work.

Gains Moderate as Trade Is Lively on Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Tobaccos and motors advanced today as the stock market enjoyed one of its liveliest sessions in days. Gains were moderate overall.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 256.7 with industrials up 1.0, rails up .3, and utilities up .5.

Advances of most key stocks were fractional and many were unchanged. There was, however, a liberal assortment of gains running to around a point or better.

First-hour volume rose over the million-share level, totaling 1.14 million compared with 820,000 in yesterday's first hour. Quite a number of sizable blocks changed hands.

Steels, rubbers, chemicals, utilities, oils, drugs, and mail order-retails also moved higher. Aerospace issues and nonferrous metals were irregular.

Tobaccos continued to respond to yesterday's news that the American Medical Association had dropped plans for a year-long study of the relationship between disease and the use of tobacco. Wall Street recommendations brought further buyers to the tobaccos.

Reynolds Tobacco added nearly 2 points. Lorillard and American Tobacco gained about a point each while Liggett & Myers added a fraction.

Motors, spurred by a report that auto production shows no signs of slowing its fast pace in the second quarter, moved forward. Chrysler, ahead more than a point, was the biggest gainer in this group. Up fractionally were General Motors, Ford and American Motors.

Sunray DX Oil and Lionel continued fairly active, each rising a fraction.

Among larger blocks were: Rexall, off ¾ at 29 on 14,200 shares; Magnavox, off ¼ at 36 on 12,700; United Carbon (stamped), unchanged at 7⅛ on 26,017 shares.

Gains of about a point were made by American Telephone, International Nickel, and Eastman Kodak.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.84 at 678.04.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally higher in quiet trading. Fractional gains were made by Reinsurance Investment, Crane Carrier, Napco Industries, Gulf American Land, and Kratter. Supermarkets Operating was off about a point. Katz Drug and Pacific Petroleum lost fractions.

Corporate bonds advanced.

U. S. Government bonds were unchanged to slightly lower in slow dealings over the counter.

Ralph Dupas Balks About Moyer Bout

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Ralph Dupas is balking at a proposed title fight with junior middleweight champion Denny Moyer, but the dancing New Orleans boxer may have to go through with the fight whether he likes it or not.

The 27-year-old Dupas' main objection is the site of the proposed fight—Oakland—or, for that matter, any other place in California.

He claims he was "robbed" in a 1955 fight at Oakland against Leonard Gaines.

"I beat the guy eight out of ten rounds and they called it a draw," Dupas said Tuesday.

Men's Baseball Meeting Set For Thursday

Thursday at 7:30 p.m. the second of a series of meetings will be held for those persons interested in the formation of a men's baseball program. The meeting will be held in the Memorial Park Recreation Center, Pikes Peak and Hancock, and will be conducted by the Recreation Division personnel.

Items to be discussed will include model league rules and the sponsorship of teams. Plans call for the operation of a league consisting of four to eight teams during the 1963 season. This program will be open to men 18 years of age and over. The first organizational meeting was held Feb. 28.

All persons representing a team or a team sponsor should be present at the meeting this Thursday night.

Widespread Floods Strike at Hungary

Meeting Tonight For Grand Jury

A further meeting of the El Paso County grand jury will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. in division two of the District Court, El Paso County Court House.

In addition to further consideration of matters which were presented to the grand jury last Thursday, March 7, members of the public who have criminal matters they wish to present are still invited to appear.

Materials Stolen Near Fountain

Building materials worth a total of $577.25 were stolen from the Menark Construction Co., two miles east of Fountain, the sheriff's office said Tuesday.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Ames said the theft happened sometime during the past 10 days. Sheetrock, lumber, piping and board batting are among the items which have been stolen.

$625,000 Mortgage Loan Arranged Thru Bank Here

A $625,000 mortgage loan on a proposed 10-story apartment building in Denver has been negotiated thru the First National Bank of Colorado Springs by the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co.

The loan commitment was issued by the insurance company on a proposed apartment building at 1599 Williams St., a 12,500-square-foot tract 1½ miles east of downtown Denver in the Capitol Hill section. The 76-unit structure, to be completed in the fall of 1964, will cost approximately $1,040,000 and will be built by the National Growth Corp.

The $625,000 mortgage is one of number negotiated by the John Hancock company recently in Colorado. The First National Bank here is mortgage loan correspondent for the firm.

John Hancock's total outstanding mortgage and real estate investments and commitments in Colorado at the end of 1962 totaled $25.5 million.

Tobaccos, Steels Hold Gains in Moderate Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market remained higher late Tuesday afternoon with tobaccos and steels holding gains. Trading was moderate.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3.3 million shares compared with 3.17 million Monday.

Gains of key stocks went from fractions to a point or more.

A rally by tobaccos was triggered by news that the American Medical Association has decided to drop its proposed year-long study of the possible relationship between tobacco use and various diseases.

Liggett & Myers trimmed a gain exceeding 2 points and was up more than a point. Similar gains were shown in late trading by American Tobacco, Reynolds, and Philip Morris. Lorillard was up about a point.

Steels made moderate gains in belated response to reports of mounting orders and production. Lukens Steel was about a point higher. Fractional advances were made by U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Jones & Laughlin.

Gains exceeding a point were made also by IBM and Du Pont. Merck was up about a point.

Moderate gains were made by AT&T, Consolidated Edison, Texaco, Radio Corp., Anaconda, and Union Carbide.

Corporate bonds were slightly higher; U.S. governments were unchanged.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Selling pressure drove most grain futures contracts into a weak range on the Board of Trade today as buying support faded.

Old crop soybeans were the hardest hit with losses running to more than two cents a bushel. New crop deliveries held about steady.

Corn retreated as deliveries on the March contract in the pit became the heaviest since first tenders were issued more than a week ago.

Reports of additional moisture in parts of the winter wheat belt induced active liquidation of the nearby months.

Carlot receipts were estimated at: wheat 7 cars, corn 92, oats 2, rye none, barley 14, soybeans 6.

Jobless Figures Fail to Reflect Gain in Spending

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans are spending more than ever. But you couldn't tell it from the jobless figures.

Some industries are increasing output. Others are announcing plans for greatly increased spending for modernization and new plants. But the number of new jobs won't increase automatically as it once would.

This is one of the dreariest aspects of the final days of winter.

A brighter one, the spending figure, comes from retail sales statistics for February. At $20.3 billion, this set a record high for any month. Americans spent 7 per cent more than a year ago for goods from the stores, even though the rise from January was a slight 0.2 per cent. The monthly figure, seasonally adjusted, has been above $20 billion since November.

Durable goods sales is put at $6.5 billion in February, an 8 per cent gain over the like 1962 month. Nondurable goods sales at $13.8 billion is a 6 per cent increase.

Helping the rise in February was the growing inclination of Americans to buy more on time. Outstanding instalment credit has been gaining at an average rate of $500 million a month for some time. The total is approaching the $49-billion mark. Much of the increase in recent months is linked to the high total of auto sales.

Total industrial production has remained slightly below the late fall peak. But some industries are increasing output, notably steel.

For six weeks running, mills have turned out more tonnage than the preceding period. That is the longest climb in 18 months. It has pushed production to an estimated 70 per cent of capacity.

Some steel mills have fired up once idled furnaces. A few shut plants have started up again. Some new facilities are coming into use. This has led to recall of some laidoff steel workers, and in a few cases to hiring new men.

But through industry as a while, the prospects are less rosy for the jobless. Many manufacturers can speed up production with the same number of workers they now have.

Any spring spurt in total industrial production may well be accomplished without the hiring which accompanied such increases in the days before automation was so widespread.

And all the time the labor force is increasing. The population explosion of the 1940s is bringing, year by year, more young men and women to the ranks of the job seekers.

Times can look mighty prosperous if you study the production and sales figures. They can look much different if you concentrate on the rising percentage of the labor force out of work.

Gains Moderate as Trade Is Lively on Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Tobaccos and motors advanced today as the stock market enjoyed one of its liveliest sessions in days. Gains were moderate overall.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 256.7 with industrials up 1.0, rails up .3, and utilities up .5.

Advances of most key stocks were fractional and many were unchanged. There was, however, a liberal assortment of gains running to around a point or better.

First-hour volume rose over the million-share level, totaling 1.14 million compared with 820,000 in yesterday's first hour. Quite a number of sizable blocks changed hands.

Steels, rubbers, chemicals, utilities, oils, drugs, and mail order-retails also moved higher. Aerospace issues and nonferrous metals were irregular.

Tobaccos continued to respond to yesterday's news that the American Medical Association had dropped plans for a year-long study of the relationship between disease and the use of tobacco. Wall Street recommendations brought further buyers to the tobaccos.

Reynolds Tobacco added nearly 2 points. Lorillard and American Tobacco gained about a point each while Liggett & Myers added a fraction.

Motors, spurred by a report that auto production shows no signs of slowing its fast pace in the second quarter, moved forward. Chrysler, ahead more than a point, was the biggest gainer in this group. Up fractionally were General Motors, Ford and American Motors.

Sunray DX Oil and Lionel continued fairly active, each rising a fraction.

Among larger blocks were: Rexall, off ¾ at 29 on 14,200 shares; Magnavox, off ¼ at 36 on 12,700; United Carbon (stamped), unchanged at 7⅛ on 26,017 shares.

Gains of about a point were made by American Telephone, International Nickel, and Eastman Kodak.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.84 at 678.04.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally higher in quiet trading. Fractional gains were made by Reinsurance Investment, Crane Carrier, Napco Industries, Gulf American Land, and Kratter. Supermarkets Operating was off about a point. Katz Drug and Pacific Petroleum lost fractions.

Corporate bonds advanced.

U. S. Government bonds were unchanged to slightly lower in slow dealings over the counter.

Ralph Dupas Balks About Moyer Bout

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Ralph Dupas is balking at a proposed title fight with junior middleweight champion Denny Moyer, but the dancing New Orleans boxer may have to go through with the fight whether he likes it or not.

The 27-year-old Dupas' main objection is the site of the proposed fight—Oakland—or, for that matter, any other place in California.

He claims he was "robbed" in a 1955 fight at Oakland against Leonard Gaines.

"I beat the guy eight out of ten rounds and they called it a draw," Dupas said Tuesday.

Men's Baseball Meeting Set For Thursday

Thursday at 7:30 p.m. the second of a series of meetings will be held for those persons interested in the formation of a men's baseball program. The meeting will be held in the Memorial Park Recreation Center, Pikes Peak and Hancock, and will be conducted by the Recreation Division personnel.

Items to be discussed will include model league rules and the sponsorship of teams. Plans call for the operation of a league consisting of four to eight teams during the 1963 season. This program will be open to men 18 years of age and over. The first organizational meeting was held Feb. 28.

All persons representing a team or a team sponsor should be present at the meeting this Thursday night.

Widespread Floods Strike at Hungary

Meeting Tonight For Grand Jury

A further meeting of the El Paso County grand jury will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. in division two of the District Court, El Paso County Court House.

In addition to further consideration of matters which were presented to the grand jury last Thursday, March 7, members of the public who have criminal matters they wish to present are still invited to appear.

Materials Stolen Near Fountain

Building materials worth a total of $577.25 were stolen from the Menark Construction Co., two miles east of Fountain, the sheriff's office said Tuesday.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Ames said the theft happened sometime during the past 10 days. Sheetrock, lumber, piping and board batting are among the items which have been stolen.

Custom-Blended Fertilizer Program Requires Soil Test

Custom-blended fertilizer is growing in popularity all over the country but, so far, it has made its greatest strides in the Corn Belt. In some localities it has become the principal method of fertilizer application.

Once, it was considered up-to-the-minute for a farmer to order 12-12-12 or 5-20-20, or whatever grade of fertilizer happened to be available. Today, a Farm Quarterly article reports, the man who expects the most for his dollars orders such blends as 60-60-20, 60-40-0, or perhaps even 100-100-100.

He prescribes the mix according to the condition of his land and the crop he intends to raise. This is fertilization by prescripton.

Where the old grade designations, like 12-12-12, stand for the percentage of nutriends per 100 pounds of fertilizer, the newer blend numbers indicate the actual pounds of plant food per acre. If a man applies 60-40-10 he is actually putting on 60 pounds of nitrogen, 40 pounds of phosphate and 10 pounds of potash per acre. Compared with the conventional grades, he gets much more per pound of material used.

The exact fitting of fertilizer to soil and crop requirements presupposes a soil test, of course, and this is the way most blending plants sell their product. The soil test is the basis of the whole program.

Maintaining a record of crop history is another essential consideration in effective prescription fertilizers.

There are legal requirements relative to guaranteed analysis which prohibit blending in some states. In Kansas, Mississippi and North Carolina, for example, fertilizer can be blended only to registered grades.

In at least one state it also used to be a requirement that the farmer who was to use the fertilizer had to be present while the mix was blended. Laws such as these, though they were passed to protect the farmer against the er unscrupulous manufacturer or dealer, are in many areas of the country a very real obstacle to the blending of individually prescribed mixes.

Consumer demand, however, may soon bring about revisions which will enable farmers in every state to avail themselves of this type of fertilizer program.

It should be remembered that the analysis of the blend can be guaranteed and controlled.

TV Program To Feature Farm Families

"What is Happening to Our Farm Families", a report on accomplishments, goals and aspirations of America's 3½ million farm families, will be presented at 2 p.m. Sunday over KRDO, Channel 13.

Designed to appeal to city dwellers as well as to farmers, the telecast will provide on-the-spot close-ups illustrating the rapid technological and scientific revolution on the farm and the challenges facing farm families.

The special half-hour farm report will feature two nationally-known agricultural authorities, Dr. Joe M. Bohlen and Dr. George M. Beal of Iowa State University.

Prairie Ramblers Sponsor Season's First Gymkhana

The first of the spring gymkhanas will be held at 1 p. m. Sunday at the Kit Carson Club Grounds on Maizeland Road and sponsored by the Prairie Ramblers Riding Club.

Events scheduled for the "fun" gymkhana include barrel races, pole bending 75-yard up-and-back race and western pleasure.

Admission fee is 25 cents and a 25 cent entry fee will be charged for each event.

Entries will close at 1 p. m. Sunday. Ribbons will be given to the first four winners of each event.

Pictorial Record Of Spotted Horse Just Published

"Appaloosa: The Spotted Horse and History" is a new book which will appeal to both horse fanciers and art lovers.

It is the result of a strange collaboration between the art museum and a horse breeder's association — the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art, Fort Worth, Tex., and the Appaloosa Horse Club, Moscow, Idaho.

Published by the University of Texas Press in Austin, it is a 103-page pictorial record of the Spotted horse in many cultures thru the centuries with a descriptive text by Francis Haines, historian of the Appaloosa Horse Club.

Price of the Book is $10.

Six Regional Rodeo Hands Riding High

Dick Bryant, 30, of Loveland, today was headed home $661 richer after winning the bareback bronc riding at the annual San Angelo, Tex., rodeo which ended Sunday night.

Bryant, however, was only one of a half-dozen Rocky Mountain area rodeo hands who scored heavily in weekend contests.

At Baton Rouge, La., which ended Saturday night, Don Brannon, 30, of Lakewood, won $1,030 in calf roping; Don McLaughlin, 34 of Fort Collins, $735, in the same event; Benny Reynolds, 27, Melrose, Mont., 995, in steer wrestling and bareback bronc riding; Bob Ragsdale, 26, Harlem, Mont., $884, in Calf roping and steer wrestling.

Bull riding turned out to be the roughest contest at Baton Rouge, where only six of forty entries were able to stay aboard both of the animals alloted them. Howard Carroll, 24, Draper, Utah, won the event, worth $1,017. Carroll also earned another $561 in bareback bronc riding at San Angelo.

The sport's national title standings were scrambled as result of the $36,568 total prize money payoff at the two rodeos.

Top money in two or more events, the all-around cowboy championship, went to Dean Oliver, 34, Boise, Ida., after winning $1,368 calf roping at San Angelo, and Tom Nesmith, 28, Carlyss, La. moved into runner-up spot, with $2,282 earned in roping and steer wrestling at Baton Rouge.

Nismith, defending all-around champion, battled all last season with Oliver for the big money title, and the pair appear to be heading for another duel in 1963. They are now $304 apart.

Oliver has $8,281, Nesmith, $7,977. They pushed Dale Smith 34, Chandler, Ariz., back to third in the all - around charts.

Final event winners: San Angelo — saddle broncs, Guy Weeks, Abilene, Tex., $475; bareback broncs, Dick Bryant, Loveland, Colo., $661; bull riding, Leo Brown, Czar, Alta., $741; calf roping, Dean Oliver, Boise, Ida., $1,368; steer wrestling, Anson Thurman, Fallon, Nev., $999.

Baton Rouge — saddle broncs, Marty Wood, Bowness, Alta., $786; bareback broncs, Paul Mayo, Grinnell, Ia., and Leonard McCravey, Memphis, Tex., split $1,684; bull riding, Howard Carroll, Draper, Utah, $1,017; Calf roping Tom Nesmith, Carlyss, La., $1,250; steer wrestling, C. R. Boucher, Burkburnett, Tex., $1,902.

TRI - COMMUNITY

Fifty members and guests attended the last meeting of the Tri - Community 4 - H Club held Feb. 27 at Falcon School.

Kathy Scheele resigned as president and the vice - president, Billy McCune, was appointed president.

A film, "Highlights" in Ebony" was shown as part of the program which also included reports of project meetings by the leaders.

The next general meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. March 26.

RIDGE RIDERS

A lecture on "International Horse Parasites" was given by Dr. Perrian Henry, local veterinarian, at the regular monthly meeting of the Ridge Riders 4-H Club held Saturday at the home of Mike Putman.

Guests attending the meeting were Sandra Weidler and Joe Stammen.

Kay Cagney gave a demonstration on repairing leather equipment and braiding lead ropes.

Final plans for the club's "Wearing of the Green" treasure hunt were discussed. The hunt will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday from the home of Susan Suhrke, 919 Lonesome Rd. Prizes will be awarded to riders and horses for the best St. Patrick's Day costume.

JUNIOR FARMERS

The next Junior Farmers meeting will be April 5.

Three leaders of the Busy Workers 4-H Club attended the March 1 meeting to select actors for the skit which the two clubs will present Saturday at the play and talent festival.

Those selected for the skit were Sammy Pullava, Robert Reed Jr., Merle Johnson and Neale Johnson.

EL PASO CUNTY

The second 4-H Livestock Judging workout is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the Banning-Lewis Ranch, northeast of Colorado Springs. Saturday's judging will be of Hereford cattle.

The annual 4-H Square Dance Festival will be held April 6 at the Carriage Stop.

More than 100 4-H members and their parents met Saturday night at Miami School in Rush to participate in the last general practice session before the festival.

Dean Edwards has served as instructor and caller for the practice sessions which have included the basic fundamentals of square dancing such as how to honor and bow to partners, steps and the importance of using good manner

ELBERT COUNTY

Elbert County 4-H Club members and leaders participated in a fashion show March 2 in Simla as a highlight of the "Fleece to Fashion Wool School."

The adults were members of two tailoring classes which recently completed five coats and 11 suits.

Colleen Pakuer moderated while the fololwing models showed the custom-tailored suits and coats: Erma Rickart, Lois Yarnell, Ruth Holland, Mildred Burns, Ada Morris, Velma Stout, Frances Cain, Roberta Hamacher, Sherry Richardson, Loxie Richardson and Linda Morris.

The style show preceded a discussion and demonstration by Mrs. Ann Jackson, clothing specialist from Colorado State University.

A workshop on custom-made draperies was held March 4 in Simla. Five women braved the snowstorm to attend the session which included making sample drapery panels.

A similiar workshop will be scheduled again if there is a request, according to Mrs. Jane L. Esarey, extension agent.

COLLIDED WITH ICE

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — James F. Kiser wasn't hurt when his car and three others piled up in a collision at a Casper intersection.

Kiser got out of his car to check damages to his vehicle.

He slipped on the icy street, fell to the pavement and broke his hip.

Processing and Packaging Costs Plague Pursestrings

Check with almost any housewife about the year-to-year trend in food prices and you'll probably get the same answer: Up, up, up. But chances are the average homemaker doesn't know the reasons behind this price increase, reports the National Live Stock Producer, a leading live stock journal.

First of all about 60 cents of each dollar the shopper spends at the grocery store goes to pay the marketing bill and the rest, 40 cents, goes to the farmer, according to University of Illionis figures.

Even though the farmer has had to produce more food for an expanding population, his share of the consumer's dollar has been dwindling for several years. It actually dropped from 47 cents in 1958 to 38 cents in 1962. But the marketing bill rose from $23 billion in 1950 to $41 billion in 1960.

Two main causes for this increase in the marketing bill: higher labor costs and additional processing on raw food products, better known as more "built-in maid services."

When the marketing bill is broken down, labor tops the list, accounting for 40 per cent of the cost. Materials follow with 37 per cent, transportation with 10 per cent and income tax and profits with about 3 per cent each.

These figures show that labor is taking a big slice out of the marketing pie; labor costs for marketing increased 3 per cent in 1960 over 1959 and a total of 60 per cent in the past decade.

However, U.S. Department of Agriculture figures show the labor cost per unit of food marketed stayed the same, indicating that the main increase came from higher wages. The average wage paid to employees in food marketing rose from $1.22 an hour in 1950 to $2.03 per hour in 1961.

Materials, which amount to 37 per cent of the total marketing bill, have also affected food prices. Costs for packaging materials and other processing costs increased from $7.8 billion in 1950, to $14.3 billion in 1960.

Today, the housewife can buy pre-peeled pre-cut French Fries or mashed potato flakes, instead of buying 10 pounds of potatoes and peeling and cutting them herself.

Meat cuts are now individually packaged in clear plastic. Cake mixes, "brown-and-serve" rolls, and other cooking short cuts are available.

The point to remember is that these added services raise the price of the food you buy. Yet working housewives, especially, are finding that the cost for the extra processing is more than worth the time it saves.

Play and Talent Festival for 4-H Clubs Saturday

The county 4-H play and talent festival will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Little Theater of the City Auditorium.

Ten 4-H clubs in the county are expected to participate in the festival which will be judged by Mrs. Richard Prigmore and Mrs. Walter Otte of Civic Players.

The program will be announced by Alice Caswell and Naomi Caswell will serve as stage manager. Leaders in charge of the festival are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Caswell, Mrs. Mary Lamm and Mrs. Ralph Greer.

Clubs which have registered for the festival include Ellicott Willing Workers, Edison Lucky Lassies, Pals of the Pine, Pine Tree Cheeriets, Double C and S, Willing Wizards, Fountain Busy Workers and Junior Farmers, Harrison Lucky Clovers and Little Women.

Range Planning And Conservation Book Published

A new handbook, "Classifying Rangeland for Conservation Planning," is now being distributed by the Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

The booklet explains how technicians of the Soil Conservation Service assist ranchers in identifying range sites, determining range conditions and other related range management planning.

Photographs thruout the handbook illustrate the difference in range conditions on the same range site. The effects of soil conditions on range vegetation are also illustrated.

The handbook, number 235, may be ordered direct for 25 cents per copy from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

1963 Feed Grain Program Deadline Set for March 22

The deadline for farmers to sign up for the 1963 feed grain program is Friday, March 22.

John Person, chairman of the El Paso County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today that farmers who want further information about the program should contract the ASCS county office.

The county official said many of the county's farmers have already signified that they intend to take part in the feed grain program and interest is running high.

Persons reminded farmers of the recent statement by Orville L. Freeman, secretary of agriculture, who said that one of the major farm achievements of 1962 is the sharp reductions in the country's farm surpluses which he attributes largely to successful feed grain programs.

Black Forest Riders Urge Club Visitor Program

The Black Forest Saddle Club held a business meeting March 5 and suggested that all riding clubs in the area publicize their meeting dates and places so that other clubs could visit.

The next meeting of the Black Forest Club is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., April 5, in the basement of the Black Forest Community Church.

A member of the club, Cathy Wilson, has been selected as aid to the queen for the 1963 Junior Rodeo.

Daily Gain Vital Measure In Progeny Testing Cattle

Daily gain still is the most important measure to use in evaluating performance of beef cattle under progeny testing, according to a Colorado State University scientist.

In a Feeders Day report at CSU, Dr. James I. Sprague, livestock nutrition specialist, described results of a feeding test involving 19 lots of calves from 14 different sire groups.

Relating the cattle study to another CSU test involving mice, Dr. Sprague noted that the mice study has shown increased feed efficiency accompanied increased daily gain. The same principle probably applies in cattle, he noted.

The CSU scientist drew two comparisons between high-gaining and low-gaining sire groups of cattle.

1. The overall average daily gain ranged from 2.5 pounds to 2 pounds among the sire groups, he said. Over a test period of 225 days, this half-pound daily differential added up to 112 pounds.

"Figure it at whatever price you're getting for your cattle," Dr. Sprague said. "as an example, with cattle at 25 cents a pound, that 112 pounds means $23.50 more per animal for those in the high-gaining sire groups than for those in the low groups."

2. Figured on the basis of "meat yield per day of age," the high-gaining sire groups produced 1.27 pounds daily, compared with 1.12 pounds for the low-gaining groups. Taking 475 days as age of the animals at the conclusion of the feeding test, the .15 pound daily differential added up to 70.25 pounds. Assuming a value of 40 cents a pound, each animal in the high-gaining group was worth $28.10 more than those in the low-gaining lot.

Dr. Sprague also compared the various lots on percent primal meat cuts — chuck, rib, loin, round and sirloin tips. The high cutout group — one that had shown an average daily gain of 2.4 pounds—averaged 71.2 percent primal cuts, compared with 67.3 percent primal cuts from the low cutout group.

On a 600-pound carcass, this 3.9 percent differential approaches a 24-pound total variation. Assuming a value of 50 cents a pound, the high-cutting animals would return a total of $12 more per animal on primal cuts alone than would be realized from animals in the low-cutting groups, Dr. Sprague noted.

Other high-gaining groups also showed primal cutout percentages almost equal to the 71.2 percent chalked up by the group with the 2.4 pound daily gain. For example, the group which had the highest daily gain at 2.5 pounds showed a 70.2 percent cutout on primal cuts. Another group which had a daily gain of 2.48 pounds showed 69.8 percent primal cuts and a third group with a daily gain of 2.41 pounds had 70.8 percent primal cuts.

The test, conducted at Coors Feedlots in Longmont, was sponsored by the Colorado Beef Cattle Improvement Association. Association members provided the test cattle and paid for feed, medication and veterinary expenses, and overhead costs.

Japan will buy more sheep.

Custom-Blended Fertilizer Program Requires Soil Test

Custom-blended fertilizer is growing in popularity all over the country but, so far, it has made its greatest strides in the Corn Belt. In some localities it has become the principal method of fertilizer application.

Once, it was considered up-to-the-minute for a farmer to order 12-12-12 or 5-20-20, or whatever grade of fertilizer happened to be available. Today, a Farm Quarterly article reports, the man who expects the most for his dollars orders such blends as 60-60-20, 60-40-0, or perhaps even 100-100-100.

He prescribes the mix according to the condition of his land and the crop he intends to raise. This is fertilization by prescripton.

Where the old grade designations, like 12-12-12, stand for the percentage of nutriends per 100 pounds of fertilizer, the newer blend numbers indicate the actual pounds of plant food per acre. If a man applies 60-40-10 he is actually putting on 60 pounds of nitrogen, 40 pounds of phosphate and 10 pounds of potash per acre. Compared with the conventional grades, he gets much more per pound of material used.

The exact fitting of fertilizer to soil and crop requirements presupposes a soil test, of course, and this is the way most blending plants sell their product. The soil test is the basis of the whole program.

Maintaining a record of crop history is another essential consideration in effective prescription fertilizers.

There are legal requirements relative to guaranteed analysis which prohibit blending in some states. In Kansas, Mississippi and North Carolina, for example, fertilizer can be blended only to registered grades.

In at least one state it also used to be a requirement that the farmer who was to use the fertilizer had to be present while the mix was blended. Laws such as these, though they were passed to protect the farmer against the er unscrupulous manufacturer or dealer, are in many areas of the country a very real obstacle to the blending of individually prescribed mixes.

Consumer demand, however, may soon bring about revisions which will enable farmers in every state to avail themselves of this type of fertilizer program.

It should be remembered that the analysis of the blend can be guaranteed and controlled.

TV Program To Feature Farm Families

"What is Happening to Our Farm Families", a report on accomplishments, goals and aspirations of America's 3½ million farm families, will be presented at 2 p.m. Sunday over KRDO, Channel 13.

Designed to appeal to city dwellers as well as to farmers, the telecast will provide on-the-spot close-ups illustrating the rapid technological and scientific revolution on the farm and the challenges facing farm families.

The special half-hour farm report will feature two nationally-known agricultural authorities, Dr. Joe M. Bohlen and Dr. George M. Beal of Iowa State University.

Prairie Ramblers Sponsor Season's First Gymkhana

The first of the spring gymkhanas will be held at 1 p. m. Sunday at the Kit Carson Club Grounds on Maizeland Road and sponsored by the Prairie Ramblers Riding Club.

Events scheduled for the "fun" gymkhana include barrel races, pole bending, 75-yard up-and-back race and western pleasure.

Admission fee is 25 cents and a 25 cent entry fee will be charged for each event.

Entries will close at 1 p. m. Sunday. Ribbons will be given to the first four winners of each event.

Pictorial Record Of Spotted Horse Just Published

"Appaloosa: The Spotted Horse and History" is a new book which will appeal to both horse fanciers and art lovers.

It is the result of a strange collaboration between the art museum and a horse breeder's association — the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art, Fort Worth, Tex., and the Appaloosa Horse Club, Moscow, Idaho.

Published by the University of Texas Press in Austin, it is a 103-page pictorial record of the Spotted horse in many cultures thru the centuries with a descriptive text by Francis Haines, historian of the Appaloosa Horse Club.

Price of the Book is $10.

Six Regional Rodeo Hands Riding High

Dick Bryant, 30, of Loveland, today was headed home $661 richer after winning the bareback bronc riding at the annual San Angelo, Tex., rodeo which ended Sunday night.

Bryant, however, was only one of a half-dozen Rocky Mountain area rodeo hands who scored heavily in weekend contests.

At Baton Rouge, La., which ended Saturday night, Don Brannon, 30, of Lakewood, won $1,030 in calf roping; Don McLaughlin, 34 of Fort Collins, $735, in the same event; Benny Reynolds, 27, Melrose, Mont., 995, in steer wrestling and bareback bronc riding; Bob Ragsdale, 26, Harlem, Mont., $884, in Calf roping and steer wrestling.

Bull riding turned out to be the roughest contest at Baton Rouge, where only six of forty entries were able to stay aboard both of the animals alloted them. Howard Carroll, 24, Draper, Utah, won the event, worth $1,017. Carroll also earned another $561 in bareback bronc riding at San Angelo.

The sport's national title standings were scrambled as result of the $36,568 total prize money payoff at the two rodeos.

Top money in two or more events, the all-around cowboy championship, went to Dean Oliver, 34, Boise, Ida., after winning $1,368 calf roping at San Angelo, and Tom Nesmith, 28, Carlyss, La. moved into runner-up spot with $2,282 earned in roping and steer wrestling at Baton Rouge.

Nismith, defending all-around champion, battled all last season with Oliver for the big money title, and the pair appear to be heading for another duel in 1963. They are now $304 apart.

Oliver has $8,281, Nesmith, $7,977. They pushed Dale Smith 34, Chandler, Ariz., back to third in the all - around charts.

Final event winners: San Angelo — saddle broncs, Guy Weeks, Abilene, Tex., $475, bareback broncs, Dick Bryant, Loveland, Colo., $661; bull riding, Leo Brown, Czar, Alta., $741, calf roping, Dean Oliver, Boise, Ida., $1,368; steer wrestling, Anson Thurman, Fallon, Nev., $999.

Baton Rouge — saddle broncs, Marty Wood, Bowness, Alta., $786; bareback broncs, Paul Mayo, Grinnell, Ia., and Leonard McCravey, Memphis, Tex., split $1,684; bull riding, Howard Carroll, Draper, Utah, $1,017. Calf roping Tom Nesmith, Carlyss, La., $1,250; steer wrestling, C. R. Boucher, Burkburnett, Tex., $1,902.

TRI - COMMUNITY

Fifty members and guests attended the last meeting of the Tri - Community 4 - H Club held Feb. 27 at Falcon School.

Kathy Scheele resigned as president and the vice - president, Billy McCune, was appointed president.

A film, "Highlights" in Ebony" was shown as part of the program which also included reports of project meetings by the leaders.

The next general meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. March 26.

RIDGE RIDERS

A lecture on "International Horse Parasites" was given by Dr. Perrian Henry, local veterinarian, at the regular monthly meeting of the Ridge Riders 4-H Club held Saturday at the home of Mike Putman.

Guests attending the meeting were Sandra Weidler and Joe Stammen.

Kay Cagney gave a demonstration on repairing leather equipment and braiding lead ropes.

Final plans for the club's "Wearing of the Green" treasure hunt were discussed. The hunt will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday from the home of Susan Suhrke, 919 Lonesome Rd. Prizes will be awarded to riders and horses for the best St. Patrick's Day costume.

JUNIOR FARMERS

The next Junior Farmers meeting will be April 5.

Three leaders of the Busy Workers 4-H Club attended the March 1 meeting to select actors for the skit which the two clubs will present Saturday at the play and talent festival.

Those selected for the skit were Sammy Pullava, Robert Reed Jr., Merle Johnson and Neale Johnson.

EL PASO CUNTY

The second 4-H Livestock Judging workout is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the Banning-Lewis Ranch, northeast of Colorado Springs. Saturday's judging will be of Hereford cattle.

The annual 4-H Square Dance Festival will be held April 6 at the Carriage Stop.

More than 100 4-H members and their parents met Saturday night at Miami School in Rush to participate in the last general practice session before the festival.

Dean Edwards has served as instructor and caller for the practice sessions which have included the basic fundamentals of square dancing such as how to honor and bow to partners, steps and the importance of using good manner

ELBERT COUNTY

Elbert County 4-H Club members and leaders participated in a fashion show March 2 in Simla as a highlight of the "Fleece to Fashion Wool School."

The adults were members of two tailoring classes which recently completed five coats and 11 suits.

Colleen Pakuer moderated while the fololwing models showed the custom-tailored suits and coats: Erma Rickart, Lois Yarnell, Ruth Holland, Mildred Burns, Ada Morris, Velma Stout, Frances Cain, Roberta Hamacher, Sherry Richardson, Loxie Richardson and Linda Morris.

The style show preceded a discussion and demonstration by Mrs. Ann Jackson, clothing specialist from Colorado State University.

A workshop on custom-made draperies was held March 4 in Simla. Five women braved the snowstorm to attend the session which included making sample drapery panels.

A similiar workshop will be scheduled again if there is a request, according to Mrs. Jane L. Esarey, extension agent.

COLLIDED WITH ICE

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — James F. Kiser wasn't hurt when his car and three others piled up in a collision at a Casper intersection.

Kiser got out of his car to check damages to his vehicle.

He slipped on the icy street, fell to the pavement and broke his hip.

Processing and Packaging Costs Plague Pursestrings

Check with almost any housewife about the year-to-year trend in food prices and you'll probably get the same answer: Up, up, up. But chances are the average homemaker doesn't know the reasons behind this price increase, reports the National Live Stock Producer, a leading live stock journal.

First of all about 60 cents of each dollar the shopper spends at the grocery store goes to pay the marketing bill and the rest, 40 cents, goes to the farmer, according to University of Illionis figures.

Even though the farmer has had to produce more food for an expanding population, his share of the consumer's dollar has been dwindling for several years. It actually dropped from 47 cents in 1958 to 38 cents in 1962. But the marketing bill rose from $23 billion in 1950 to $41 billion in 1960.

Two main causes for this increase in the marketing bill: higher labor costs and additional processing on raw food products, better known as more "built-in maid services."

When the marketing bill is broken down, labor tops the list, accounting for 40 per cent of the cost. Materials follow with 37 per cent, transportation with 10 per cent and income tax and profits with about 3 per cent each.

These figures show that labor is taking a big slice out of the marketing pie; labor costs for marketing increased 3 per cent in 1960 over 1959 and a total of 60 per cent in the past decade.

However, U.S. Department of Agriculture figures show the labor cost per unit of food marketed stayed the same, indicating that the main increase came from higher wages. The average wage paid to employees in food marketing rose from $1.22 an hour in 1950 to $2.03 per hour in 1961.

Materials, which amount to 37 per cent of the total marketing bill, have also affected food prices. Costs for packaging materials and other processing costs increased from $7.8 billion in 1950, to $14.3 billion in 1960.

Today, the housewife can buy pre-peeled pre-cut French Fries or mashed potato flakes, instead of buying 10 pounds of potatoes and peeling and cutting them herself.

Meat cuts are now individually packaged in clear plastic. Cake mixes, "brown-and-serve" rolls, and other cooking short cuts are available.

The point to remember is that these added services raise the price of the food you buy. Yet working housewives, especially, are finding that the cost for the extra processing is more than worth the time it saves.

Play and Talent Festival for 4-H Clubs Saturday

The county 4-H play and talent festival will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Little Theater of the City Auditorium.

Ten 4-H clubs in the county are expected to participate in the festival which will be judged by Mrs. Richard Prigmore and Mrs. Walter Otte of Civic Players.

The program will be announced by Alice Caswell and Naomi Caswell will serve as stage manager. Leaders in charge of the festival are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Caswell, Mrs. Mary Lamm and Mrs. Ralph Greer.

Clubs which have registered for the festival include Ellicott Willing Workers, Edison Lucky Lassies, Pals of the Pine, Pine Tree Cheeriets, Double C and S, Willing Wizards, Fountain Busy Workers and Junior Farmers, Harrison Lucky Clovers and Little Women.

Range Planning And Conservation Book Published

A new handbook, "Classifying Rangeland for Conservation Planning," is now being distributed by the Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

The booklet explains how technicians of the Soil Conservation Service assist ranchers in identifying range sites, determining range conditions and other related range management planning.

Photographs thruout the handbook illustrate the difference in range conditions on the same range site. The effects of soil conditions on range vegetation are also illustrated.

The handbook, number 235, may be ordered direct for 25 cents per copy from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

1963 Feed Grain Program Deadline Set for March 22

The deadline for farmers to sign up for the 1963 feed grain program is Friday, March 22.

John Person, chairman of the El Paso County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today that farmers who want further information about the program should contract the ASCS county office.

The county official said many of the county's farmers have already signified that they intend to take part in the feed grain program and interest is running high.

Persons reminded farmers of the recent statement by Orville L. Freeman, secretary of agriculture, who said that one of the major farm achievements of 1962 is the sharp reductions in the country's farm surpluses which he attributes largely to successful feed grain programs.

Black Forest Riders Urge Club Visitor Program

The Black Forest Saddle Club held a business meeting March 5 and suggested that all riding clubs in the area publicize their meeting dates and places so that other clubs could visit.

The next meeting of the Black Forest Club is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., April 5, in the basement of the Black Forest Community Church.

A member of the club, Cathy Wilson, has been selected as aid to the queen for the 1963 Junior Rodeo.

Daily Gain Vital Measure In Progeny Testing Cattle

Daily gain still is the most important measure to use in evaluating performance of beef cattle under progeny testing, according to a Colorado State University scientist.

In a Feeders Day report at CSU, Dr. James I. Sprague, livestock nutrition specialist, described results of a feeding test involving 19 lots of calves from 14 different sire groups.

Relating the cattle study to another CSU test involving mice, Dr. Sprague noted that the mice study has shown increased feed efficiency accompanied increased daily gain. The same principle probably applies in cattle, he noted.

The CSU scientist drew two comparisons between high-gaining and low-gaining sire groups of cattle.

1. The overall average daily gain ranged from 2.5 pounds to 2 pounds among the sire groups, he said. Over a test period of 225 days, this half-pound daily differential added up to 112 pounds.

"Figure it at whatever price you're getting for your cattle," Dr. Sprague said. "as an example, with cattle at 25 cents a pound, that 112 pounds means $23.50 more per animal for those in the high-gaining sire groups than for those in the low groups."

2. Figured on the basis of "meat yield per day of age," the high-gaining sire groups produced 1.27 pounds daily, compared with 1.12 pounds for the low-gaining groups. Taking 475 days as age of the animals at the conclusion of the feeding test, the .15 pound daily differential added up to 70.25 pounds. Assuming a value of 40 cents a pound, each animal in the high-gaining group was worth $28.10 more than those in the low-gaining lot.

Dr. Sprague also compared the various lots on percent primal meat cuts — chuck, rib, loin, round and sirloin tips. The high cutout group — one that had shown an average daily gain of 2.4 pounds—averaged 71.2 percent primal cuts, compared with 67.3 percent primal cuts from the low cutout group.

On a 600-pound carcass, this 3.9 percent differential approaches a 24-pound total variation. Assuming a value of 50 cents a pound, the high-cutting animals would return a total of $12 more per animal on primal cuts alone than would be realized from animals in the low-cutting groups, Dr. Sprague noted.

Other high-gaining groups also showed primal cutout percentages almost equal to the 71.2 percent chalked up by the group with the 2.4 pound daily gain. For example, the group which had the highest daily gain at 2.5 pounds showed a 70.2 percent cutout on primal cuts. Another group which had a daily gain of 2.48 pounds showed 69.8 percent primal cuts and a third group with a daily gain of 2.41 pounds had 70.8 percent primal cuts.

The test, conducted at Coors Feedlots in Longmont, was sponsored by the Colorado Beef Cattle Improvement Association. Association members provided the test cattle and paid for feed, medication and veterinary expenses, and overhead costs.

JACK LEMMON MAY DO SEQUEL TO 'MR. ROBERTS'

NEW YORK. — Jack Lemmon had better start dusting off his old navy uniform, because Warners is preparing a sequel to "Mister Roberts." Jack got an Oscar for his portrayal of Ensign Pulver in the original. In the followup Pulver will be running the ship instead of the laundry. Josh Logan tells me he'll be going to California this summer to collaborate on the script with Peter Feibleman, author of the book "A Place Without Twilight".

Logan has promised to take a half-day off to tell me the full story of his first movie job—dialog director on "Garden of Allah." Josh no sooner arrived in Hollywood than he was whisked off to the desert country near Yuma, Ariz., where the picture was being shot. Marlene Dietrich was having trouble with her R's, Charles Boyer could hardly make himself understood, and the director, Richard Boleslawski, was doing his best to get thru to both stars. Somehow Josh pulled off a linguistic miracle. Boyer was so pleased he hired him for his next picture "History Is Made at Night."

Bob Hope flew into town to get a medal from the International Radio-TV society. This is the season for awards. I picked up a beauty of a citation from Russell V. Downing and the Radio City music hall. It was felt that my enthusiasm for movies has helped lure many people to the box office. I hope so. Price Supported Wheat Storage Shows Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reports 295,140,530 bushels of 1962-crop wheat had been stored by growers under price supports.

This compared with 266,785,000 bushels of 1961-crop wheat and 417,130,000 bushels of 1960-crop wheat placed under supports.

In a supplementary report, the department said 67,208,000 bushels of soybeans had been stored under supports compared with 118,538,000 from the 1961 crop.

The quantity of 1962 sorghum grain placed under supports was 121,263,000 hundredweight compared with 105,138,000 hundredweight for the 1961 crop.

Skimmed Milk Used By Some Hairdressers

NEW YORK (AP) — Skimmed milk now is being used by some hairdressers to set customers' hair, on the theory that it provides more "body," leaves no discoloration on gray hair and acts as a better setting lotion than beer or commercial preparations.

The skimmed milk is diluted with an equal amount of water and applied at curler-rolling time or just before a customer goes under the dryer.

HYPERSONIC PLANE

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet aircraft designer Artem Mikoyan predicts development of an hypersonic plane capable of speeds up to 10,000 miles per hour.

Writing in a Soviet aviation magazine, Mikoyan, brother of Deputy Premier Anastas Mikeyan, said long duration flights at such speeds would probably be made at altitudes of 75,000 to 100,000 feet

Mikoyan wrote that hypersonic planes would likely consist of several stages. The plane itself would be the last stage and the others would be accelerating stages.

Green Mountain Falls News

By CAROLYN McADAMS

Some 200 persons in the Ute Pass area attended the Scout Jamboree, at the Woodland Park High School auditorium, Saturday night. The special performance was given by the Ki-Ann Indian dancers from Olathe, Colo. The group is composed of some 50 Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts from Olathe, Grand Junction, Delta and Palisades, Colo. Located in the picturesque Uncompagre Valley, once the home of the Colorado Utes, this group of dancers learn authentic Indian dances, keep alive Indian arts and crafts, and don colorful costumes of multi colored feathers, leather loin cloths, mocassins and ankle bells.

A special bus transported the boys accompanied by five parents and their director, Dale Felix, advisor of Explorer Post No. 78 of Olathe. On Thursday, March 7, the dancers attended the premire showing of, "How the West Was Won," at the Cooper Cinerama Theatre in Denver. On Friday they danced for Governor Love at the Capitol, followed by another performance at the Hilton Hotel at 3 p.m. Saturday afternoon they were guests of the Air Academy, Colorado Springs, giving their dance entertainment.

The boys from the Brockhurst Ranch were hosts to the group while in Ute Pass, with a special invitation extended the Lions Club members. The dance numbers were the Hopi Rain dance, Sioux Sun dance; "Hoop of Fire," "Bull Snakes," "Passing of the Chief" among others, played to the accompaniment of the huge thunder drum with four drummers, and a lead drummer. Sponsoring the dancers are the Odd Fellows of Olathe, with the Chamber of Commerce of Olathe, Montrose and Delta. The guest entertainers used their sleeping bags for Saturday night in the Woodland High School Gym and were served Sunday breakfast at the Brockhurst Ranch. Ute Pass Scout officials at the meeting were C. H. Crumbaker, field commissioner; Robert Gibson, assistant district commissioner; Walt Peters and Frank Van Arsdale, neighborhood commissioners, and Scoutmasters Den-Mothers and Leaders.

The Ute Pass Community Association held its stated meeting Tuesday, March 5, and announces that July and August Saturday night dances will be to the music of the R. L. Knight orchestra, with Norman Chichester caller. This is the third year this popular dance music has been engaged. The Town Council of GMF will again be the sponsers of the free dance program, in the Community Building. All in the area may look forward to this entertainment. The membership chairman reported some 300 members have paid for 1963, to date.

The Green Mountain Falls Town Council meets regularly on the first and third Mondays of each month, the mayor and six councilmen forming the executive board.

Les Gayler, chief of the Green Mountain Falls-Chipita Park Volunteer Fire Department, has scheduled a training in resuscitation for the March 19 meeting with Battalion Chief Bernard Bailey the instructor. The Swedish girl life model, called "Resuscer Ann" will be used for the mouth to mouth and chest massage methods. All members are urged to be present. A rescue squad of Oscar Lindholm, B. O. Whitaker, Walt Peters and Gene Pearson has been assigned to an SOS call at any hour of day or night. Serving as the KP men for a delicious roast beef supper, with all the trimmings, at the meeting Thursday night were Oscar Lindholm and Carl Quinn. The members take turns in preparing and furnishing the supper at the meetings.

Mrs. Arthur Vanderlip and Mrs. Les "Tick" Jones have returned to their homes after spending the winter in Phoenix, Ariz.

Price Supported Wheat Storage Shows Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reports 295,140,550 bushels of 1962-crop wheat had been stored by growers under price supports.

This compared with 266,785,000 bushels of 1961-crop wheat and 417,130,000 bushels of 1960-crop wheat placed under supports.

In a supplementary report, the department said 67,208,000 bushels of soybeans had been stored under supports compared with 118,538,000 from the 1961 crop.

The quantity of 1962 sorghum grain placed under supports was 121,263,000 hundredweight compared with 105,138,000 hundredweight for the 1961 crop.

Skimmed Milk Used By Some Hairdressers

NEW YORK (AP) — Skimmed milk now is being used by some hairdressers to set customers' hair, on the theory that it provides more "body," leaves no discoloration on gray hair and acts as a better setting lotion than beer or commercial preparations.

The skimmed milk is diluted with an equal amount of water and applied at curler-rolling time or just before a customer goes under the dryer.

Green Mountain Falls News

By CAROLYN McADAMS
MU 7-9065

Some 200 persons in the Ute Pass area attended the Scout Jamboree, at the Woodland Park High School auditorium, Saturday night. The special performance was given by the Ki-Ann Indian dancers from Olathe, Colo. The group is composed of some 50 Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts from Olathe, Grand Junction, Delta and Palisades, Colo. Located in the picturesque Uncompagre Valley, once the home of the Colorado Utes, this group of dancers learn authentic Indian dances, keep alive Indian arts and crafts, and don colorful costumes of multi colored feathers, leather loin cloths, mocassins and ankle bells.

A special bus transported the boys accompanied by five parents and their director, Dale Felix, advisor of Explorer Post No. 78 of Olathe. On Thursday, March 7, the dancers attended the premire showing of, "How the West Was Won," at the Cooper Cinerama Theatre in Denver. On Friday they danced for Governor Love at the Capitol, followed by another performance at the Hilton Hotel at 3 p.m. Saturday afternoon they were guests of the Air Academy, Colorado Springs, giving their dance entertainment.

The boys from the Brockhurst Ranch were hosts to the group while in Ute Pass, with a special invitation extended the Lions Club members. The dance numbers were the Hopi Rain dance, Sioux Sun dance; "Hoop of Fire," "Bull Snakes," "Passing of the Chief" among others, played to the accompaniment of the huge thunder drum with four drummers, and a lead drummer. Sponsoring the dancers are the Odd Fellows of Olathe, with the Chamber of Commerce of Olathe, Montrose and Delta. The guest entertainers used their sleeping bags for Saturday night in the Woodland High School Gym and were served Sunday breakfast at the Brockhurst Ranch. Ute Pass Scout officials at the meeting were C. H. Crumbaker, field commissioner; Robert Gibson, assistant district commissioner; Walt Peters and Frank Van Arsdale, neighborhood commissioners, and Scoutmasters Den-Mothers and Leaders.

The Ute Pass Community Association held its stated meeting Tuesday, March 5, and announces that July and August Saturday night dances will be to the music of the R. L. Knight orchestra, with Norman Chichester caller. This is the third year this popular dance music has been engaged. The Town Council of GMF will again be the sponsers of the free dance program, in the Community Building. All in the area may look forward to this entertainment. The membership chairman reported some 300 members have paid for 1963, to date.

The Green Mountain Falls Town Council meets regularly on the first and third Mondays of each month, the mayor and six councilmen forming the executive board.

Les Gayler, chief of the Green Mountain Falls-Chipita Park Volunteer Fire Department, has scheduled a training in resuscitation for the March 19 meeting with Battalion Chief Bernard Bailey the instructor. The Swedish girl life model, called "Resuscer Ann" will be used for the mouth to mouth and chest massage methods. All members are urged to be present. A rescue squad of Oscar Lindholm, B. O. HYPERSONIC PLANE

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet aircraft designer Artem Mikoyan predicts development of an hypersonic plane capable of speeds up to 10,000 miles per hour.

Writing in a Soviet aviation magazine, Mikoyan, brother of Deputy Premier Anastas Mikeyan, said long duration flights at such speeds would probably be made at altitudes of 75,000 to 100,000 feet.

Mikoyan wrote that hypersonic planes would likely consist of several stages. The plane itself would be the last stage and the others would be accelerating stages.

Judy Garland Comes Back to New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer-actress Judy Garland returned Monday night from London where she attended the premiere of her latest motion picture and made a live television appearance.

Miss Garland, who donated her pay for the television appearance to a charity, said she would remain in New York about a month working on a new television program.

Marine Highway Is Dream Come True for Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A dream has come true for the young state of Alaska.

For the first time the state's Southeast Panhandle has a highway—a marine highway.

The sleek new motor vessel Malaspina, first of three ships to be delivered for use on the Southeast Marine Highway, initiated the new service last month.

Eventually to be joined by the motor vessels Taku and Matanuska, the Malaspina started her first run from Prince Rupert, B.C.

The 450-mile route from Prince Rupert, the southern terminus of the new system, to historic Skagway, the northern terminus, includes stops at Ketchikan, Wrangell, Petersburg, Sitka, Juneau and Haines.

The Malaspina, Taku and Matanuska, each 352 feet long, are named for Alaskan glaciers.

The Malaspina is a massive sheet of ice which separates the two geographic sections of Alaska, the Southeast Panhandle and the western mainland.

The glacier has a surface area of some 1,500 square miles, greater than the land surface of the entire state of Rhode Island, 1,214 miles.

Taku glacier is located in the Southeast Panhandle some 15 miles northeast of Juneau. The Matanuska glacier is some 80 miles northeast of Anchorage.

The remaining two ships are under construction at the Puget Sound Bridge and Drydock Co. yard in Seattle. They are expected to be in service in May.

When all three vessels are operating, there will be six departures a week from Prince Rupert, which can be reached by steamship, rail, air, bus and highway.

The voyage from Prince Rupert takes passengers through spectacular scenery—many islands, towering spruce, hemlock and cedar forests and cliff-hanging glaciers.

This topography made a marine highway necessary. Engineers estimate a regular highway would cost some $350-400 million, if it could be constructed.

In addition, there would be annual maintenance costs of some $1,500 a mile.

The Matanuska, Malaspina and Taku each will have a maximum capacity of 108 automobiles and 500 passengers.

Each vessel contains a dining room, a snack bar, a cocktail lounge and 14 two-person staterooms.

For the bulk of passengers, there are airplane-type reclining chairs for day and night snoozing.

Foot and auto passengers will be permitted to stop off along the route, disembarking from one vessel and boarding another ship later to continue their journey.

At Haines, auto passengers can leave the ship and drive up the Haines cutoff to the Alaska Highway, to continue their trip to westward Alaska and Anchorage and Fairbanks or to return south down the highway via Dawson Creek, B.C.

From Skagway, a narrow gauge railway carries passengers and freight along the Kondike gold rush route to Whitehorse, Yukon Territory.

Widefield Riders Keep Gymkhana Circuit Rolling

A "warm-up" gymkhana will be sponsored by the Widefield Riding Club beginning at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, March 24, at the Gymkhana Arena on Bradley Road.

All riders in the area are invited to participate. A 50 cent entry fee will be charged which will cover all events. Ribbons will be given to event winners.

For further information, call Fritz Wampsler, club president, 392-5814.

Cavalier Riding Club Plans Moonlight Ride

A moonlight trail ride is planned by the Cavalier Riding Club beginning at 8 p.m. Friday.

All military personnel are invited. Ft. Carson Special Services recently acquired 10 additional horses which may be reserved for the ride by phoning Ft. Carson, extension 3905.

Doughnuts and coffee will be served in the clubhouse after the hour - long ride.

Houses in Turkey Blasted by Quake

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Sixty-four houses were destroyed and more than 100 badly damaged by earthquakes Monday in villages of Denizli Province in southwest Turkey, press reports said Tuesday night.

No casualties were reported. Medical teams have been set to 14 villages along with food and tents.

State and local property assessed valuation increased by $87 billion, nearly a third, between 1951-61, the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere. Adv.

The Malaspina is a massive sheet of ice which separates the two geographic sections of Alaska, the Southeast Panhandle and the western mainland.

The glacier has a surface area of some 1,500 square miles, greater than the land surface of the entire state of Rhode Island, 1,214 miles.

Taku glacier is located in the Southeast Panhandle some 15 miles northeast of Juneau. The Matanuska glacier is some 80 miles northeast of Anchorage.

The remaining two ships are under construction at the Puget Sound Bridge and Drydock Co. yard in Seattle. They are expected to be in service in May.

When all three vessels are operating, there will be six departures a week from Prince Rupert, which can be reached by steamship, rail, air, bus and highway.

The voyage from Prince Rupert takes passengers through spectacular scenery—many islands, towering spruce, hemlock and cedar forests and cliff-hanging glaciers.

This topography made a marine highway necessary. Engineers estimate a regular highway would cost some $350-400 million, if it could be constructed.

In addition, there would be annual maintenance costs of some $1,500 a mile.

The Matanuska, Malaspina and Taku each will have a maximum capacity of 108 automobiles and 500 passengers.

Each vessel contains a dining room, a snack bar, a cocktail lounge and 14 two-person staterooms.

For the bulk of passengers, there are airplane-type reclining chairs for day and night snoozing.

Foot and auto passengers will be permitted to stop off along the route, disembarking from one vessel and boarding another ship later to continue their journey.

At Haines, auto passengers can leave the ship and drive up the Haines cutoff to the Alaska Highway, to continue their trip to westward Alaska and Anchorage and Fairbanks or to return south down the highway via Dawson Creek, B.C.

From Skagway, a narrow gauge railway carries passengers and freight along the Kondike gold rush route to Whitehorse, Yukon Territory.

Widefield Riders Keep Gymkhana Circuit Rolling

A "warm-up" gymkhana will be sponsored by the Widefield Riding Club beginning at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, March 24, at the Gymkhana Arena on Bradley Road.

All riders in the area are invited to participate. A 50 cent entry fee will be charged which will cover all events. Ribbons will be given to event winners.

For further information, call Fritz Wampsler, club president, 392-5814.

Cavalier Riding Club Plans Moonlight Ride

A moonlight trail ride is planned by the Cavalier Riding Club beginning at 8 p.m. Friday.

All military personnel are invited. Ft. Carson Special Services recently acquired 10 additional horses which may be reserved for the ride by phoning Ft. Carson, extension 3905.

Doughnuts and coffee will be served in the clubhouse after the hour - long ride.

Houses in Turkey Blasted by Quake

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Sixty-four houses were destroyed and more than 100 badly damaged by earthquakes Monday in villages of Denizli Province in southwest Turkey, press reports said Tuesday night.

No casualties were reported. Medical teams have been set to 14 villages along with food and tents.

State and local property assessed valuation increased by $87 billion, nearly a third, between 1951-61, the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere. Adv.

$45,000 Damage Suit Filed in District Court

A $45,000 damage suit was filed in the District Court clerk's office Tuesday by Robert W. Seidel of 2546 E. Uintah St. against Robert C. Munro.

According to the complaint Munro was driving his car Dec. 5, 1960, in a "negligent and careless manner" and collided with the plaintiff's vehicle at the intersection of Cimarron Street and Cascade Avenue.

It is alleged the plaintiff suffered "severe and serious injuries to the back, spine, right shoulder and right arm and that loss of earnings and future losses will be suffered in the future. It also stated Seidel will be disabled for some time to come.

The plaintiff is represented by lawyer Robert W. Johnson.

Owner Fined Second Time on Same Charge

In Justice of the Peace H. C. McShane's court Tuesday Claudine Gladys Strohm, 48, of 3202 N. Prospect St. was fined $50 and costs with $25 suspended for allowing an unauthorized person to drive a vehicle. This was the second time the defendant had been fined for the same offense. State Patrolman Ken Shiflet ticketed her Feb. 23 on North El Paso Street.

The driver, a minor, Jane Strohm, 15, also of 3202 N. Prospect St. was charged for the second time with driving without a valid operator's license and fined $50 and costs with $25 suspended.

SUBJECT TO ACCIDENTS

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — The Wyoming legislature approved a bill to bring some additional state employes under the "dangerous occupation" classification of the state's workmen's compensation law.

They are state revenue department employes who conduct driver license examinations.

Championship Events Still Ahead for Cadets

With the exception of a few post-season championship type events, the winter sports season ended last weekend at the Air Force Academy when Coach Bob Spear's basketball team upset Marquette, nationally-ranked and bound for the National Invitational Tournament in New York City.

Still on tap, however, will be a trip to San Francisco this week for the AFA fencing team to take part in the Western Conference Championships and then the NCAA Championships at the Academy the final weekend of this month. The gymnastics squad will participate in the Western Invitational Championships at Pullman, Wash., this weekend; the rifle team goes to Stillwater, Okla., for the NRA Sectional; and the indoor track team is to enter the Kansas State Relays at Manhattan on Saturday.

Otherwise, the schedule is quiet until March 30 when the basebal team opens its slate against New Mexico University at Albuquerque.

FENCING

Coach Nick Toth's squad will be defending champions in the Western Conference meet, going for their fifth consecutive title. The Falcons, who are unbeaten in 38 consecutive dual meets, are heavy favorites.

Leading the swordmen will be John Skoro in the sabre, Jock Patterson in the foil, and Bill Ebert in the epee. They will all be entries in the national championships here in two weeks.

GYMNASTICS

It will be the first appearance of the AFA in the Western Collegiate Invitational this weekend. The meet at Pullman, Wash., will feature nearly all west coast schools.

This meet will also be the first competition for the Cadets since knocking off New Mexico in the regular season's finale week before last. The Falcons are also getting set for the NCAA championships at Pittsburgh, March 21.

RIFLE

The NRA Sectionals will end the season for Coach Harold Blume's shooters. Curently 10-3 for the season, they were defeated by Army in their last outing altho firing their highest total of the season, 1449-1433.

INDOOR TRACK

Arne Arnesen will take only a small contingent to the K-State Relays in but the fourth time out this season for the AFA harriers. Altho the Cadets are without an indoor track, they have shown considerable progress in their three previous meets.

Last Saturday's performance in the Colorado University Relays was somewhat below Arnesen's expectations, however. Parke Hinman, who the previous night led the basketball team in scoring, copped the only AFA first place in the Boulder meet when he walked away with top honors in the hop, skip and jump. Hinman also chalked up a second in the broad jump — an amazing feat considering he had not practiced either event since last May.

Other notable Air Force performances were scored by Jeff Brannon, Jim Erickson, Ken Clark and Kirk Hall. Brannon took second in the high jump with a 6-6 effort, Erickson took fourth in the pole vault at 13-6, Clark was second in the medley shot-put, and Hall fourth in the mile run with a 4:29.8 clocking.

WRESTLING

George Bruns, Terry Isaacson and Thad Wolfe were the only bright spots for the Air Force in an otherwise disapointing showing in the first annual Mountain Intercollegiate Wrestling Tournament at Greeley last Friday and Saturday.

Bruns swept past all competition in winning his 177-pound division, while Isaacson, last year's runnerup in the NCAA, lost an unpopular decision in the finals at 167 pounds. Wolfe, at 137, copped third place.

As a team, the Falcons finished in only fifth place behind Western State, Colorado State College, Colorado State University, and Adams State College. The AFA grapplers will now be idle until the NCAA championships at Kent, Ohio, March 21-23.

Peak Sports Car Club Schedules Trials on Sunday

The Pikes Peak Sports Car Club will hold the first of its Prospector Trials beginning at the Hidden Inn parking lot at 10 a.m. Sunday. Entry fee will be $3.

An "Eat 'n Meet" rally will follow Wednesday, March 20, beginning at the Fine Arts Center parking lot at 6:30 p.m. and ending about an hour later at Moors Restaurant.

Winners of the rally will be given a free dinner at the next month's meeting. Sponsors are Clare and Eve Hempel. The evening will conclude with a brief business meeting, a movie and announcements of coming events. More information can be obtained from Jeanne or Bob Nelson.

All but 19 of the 88 Kentucky Derby winners were foaled in Kentucky.

Cocky Cassius Heavy Favorite To Deck Highly Rated Jones

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Cassius Clay takes the big step tonight on the road to a million dollars.

If cocky Cassius displays the punch to match his mouth against Doug Jones at Madison Square Garden, he could be well on the way to millionaire status before his 22nd birthday.

The 21-year-old, all-conquering heavyweight contender from Louisville is rated the favorite at odds ranging from 13-5 to 3-1 to whip the 26-year-old New York contender before a standing room only crowd of 18,732.

Starting time is 10 p.m., EST for the 10-rounder which will be telecast to 40 locations in 38 cities. New York will be blacked out of the closed circuit telecast.

For tonight's fight with Jones, Clay will earn about $100,000 and Jones $75,000. If he stops Jones in four, as he has predicted, or beats him decisively, he will be close to a title fight in September with heavyweight king Sonny Liston —providing Liston gets by Floyd Patterson again.

Jones never has been stopped.

A fight with Liston—"that big, ugly bear" as Clay calls him — could earn Cassius his million. It also would give him the opportunity to achieve his amibition of becoming the youngest heavyweight champion of all time.

Patterson holds that distinction now. He did it when he was 21 years, 10 months and 26 days old. Clay, born on Jan. 17, 1942, has until Dec. 12 of this year to break the mark.

"I'm gonna stop that Jones and then I'm going to whip that gorilla Liston and be the greatest champion of them all," proclaimed Cassius.

He's come close to his goals although boxing experts still wonder if The Greatest can fight?

Jack Dempsey is among the curious who will pack the Garden to see if Cassius will supply some of the answers.

"How does he take a punch?" asked the former heavyweight champion. "He's been great for the fight game, but can he fight?"

Clay, handsome, strong and fast and still growing, stands 6-foot-3 and weighs about 205 pounds. He won the Olympic light heavyweight (178 pounds) title in 1960 and has won all 17 of his pro fights, 14 by knockouts.

He already ranks as the No. 2 contender behind ex-champion Patterson although his victims mostly include rookies and washed up veterans like Archie Moore, Willie Besmanoff and Alex Miteff.

Jones, a pro since August, 1958, has a 21-3-1 won-lost-record including 13 knockouts. He is ranked third by Ring and fifth by the WBA.

The 6-foot, 185-pounder, a recent graduate of the light heavy ranks, fights out of the classic upright stance as Clay does. He is not as fast as Clay but he can strike quickly especially with his right, and has knockout power. He came off the floor to knock out contender Zora Folley in the seventh round at the Garden last Dec. 15.

The Garden card will gross about $100,000 for the arena's first boxing sellout, since the Sugar Ray Robinson-Gene Fullmer middleweight title fight Jan. 2, 1957. That drew 18,134 fans and $194,645 at higher prices.

Bruins Grab Last Berth In NCAA Regional Play

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

The UCLA Bruins, almost counted out of the Big Six Conference race two weeks ago, have become the final entrant in the 16-team NCAA Regional Basketball Tournament field.

UCLA eliminated the Stanford Indians 51-45 in a playoff to determine the Big Six representative at Santa Monica, Calif., Tuesday night. The victory qualified the Bruins for a berth in the Far West regional semifinals at Provo, Utah Friday night.

The Uclans, in gaining their second straight league crown, will meet Arizona State University in the Far West bracket.

The Bruins finished fourth in the NCAA Championships last season.

A week ago Stanford led UCLA by two games with two games to play. But the Indians lost to the Bruins Friday and to Southern California Saturday. UCLA tied for first place by beating California Saturday.

The Uclans opened a 40-26 lead Tuesday and then staved off a late Stanford rally.

Walt Hazzard topped UCLA with 19 points and Jack Hirsch chipped in 15. Tom Dose's 19 was high for Stanford.

NCAA regional semifinals at four sites will be held Friday night with the regional finals Saturday evening. The four survivors then advanced to the national semifinals and championship game at Louisville, Ky., March 22-23.

Eight of the nation's top ten teams in the final Associated Press poll have qualified for the regional semifinals. Top-ranked Cincinnati will be seeking an unprecedented third straight championship.

Other members of the Top Ten competing are Duke, No. 2; Chicago Loyola, No. 3; Arizona State, No. 4; Mississippi State, No. 6; Illinois, No. 8; New York University, No. 9; and Colorado, No. 10.

The NAIA Tournament at Kansas City completed its second day of opening round games Tuesday and trimmed the field to 16 teams. Among the highlights, second-seeded Augsburg, Minn., turned back West Virginia State 67-57 and seventh-seeded Western Illinois was upset by Miles, Ala., 84-81.

Eight games are scheduled for the second round today and tonight.

The quarter-finals of the NCAA college division tournament take place today and tonight at Evansville, Ind., with four ranked teams in the AP's final small college Top Ten in the field, headed by top-ranked Wittenberg, Ohio.

The 26th annual National Invitation Tournament with 12 entrants gets under way Thursday night in Madison Square Garden with a first-round doubleheader. In the opener, Villanova, 19-8, meets DePaul, 15-7, while Fordham, 18-7, opposes Memphis State, 18-6, in the second game.

North Dakota, Boston College Open NCAA Hockey Tourney

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — The three visitors in the NCAA Hockey Tournament are scheduled to arrive today and launch final prepatations for Thursday night's opener at Boston College.

North Dakota, the No. 2 entry from the West, will be given an immediate crack at the McMhugh Forum ice. The 1959 tourney winner opens the semifinal against Boston College.

Clarkson and Denver, a three-time winner in the past four years, will play Friday night with the final round on Saturday.

The ailing host team has spent the week trying to repair the damage which resulted from the frantic ECAC final which Boston College lost 4-3 to Harvard in overtime.

Coach Snooks Kelly has picked Paul Lufkin to move up to the high-scoring first line, replacing the injured Paul Aiken. Lufkin once played on a line at Deerfield Academy with Gene Kinasewich and Baldy Smith, two of the stars of the Harvard team which grabbed top Eastern honors and then declined an NCAA tourney bid.

Kelly picked Lufkin after deciding not to break up his two best scorers, Jack Leetch and Billy Hogan.

Norm Nelson was named to fill in for injured defensive star, Dave Duffy. Nelson has been used mainly as a reserve forward up to now.

New York State Extends Racing Season

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The New York State Assembly overwhelmingly approved a bill Tuesday to extend the Thoroughbred racing season in the state seven days to Dec. 7. The extension, which would produce an estimated $1.7 million, now goes to Gov. Rockefeller.

Colorado's Charlton Wins Big Eight Scoring Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Colorado's Ken Charlton won the Big Eight individual basketball scoring crown with a 19.2 average — lowest winning mark in 14 years — but the conference had more 200-point men than last season.

Charlton, despite knee trouble, came through with 20 poins to lead Colorado's big 69-56 victory at Kansas State. It was his best game since he hurt his kne against Kansas Feb. 9.

The 6-foot-6 Charlton was runner-up last season as a junior with a 19.3 mark, as Jerry Gardner of Kansas won with 20.2, lowest winning average since Claude Retherford of Nebraska won with 12.4 in 1949.

Only six players scored 200 or more points last season, compared to 10 this season. Willie Murrell, Kansas State, was runner-up with 263 points, six less than Charlton, for an 18.8 average. The other 200-point men, in order, were:

George Unseld, Kansas, 17.1; Eddie Evans, Oklahoma, 16.4; Larry Hawk, Oklahoma State, 16.2; Ray Bob Carey, Missouri, 15.9; Nolen Ellison, Kansas, 15.4; Vince Brewer, Iowa State, 15.3; Marv Straw, Iowa State, 14.6, and Bob Price, Missouri, 14.4.

Team in a Hurry

"Some people say we don't play much defense. Well, in our type of game we don't have time for much," Pueblo South's Bill Brown said Monday night as he prepared to hustle his Colts off to Denver for the fourth straight year.

Brown, who had been the picture of composure a few minutes earlier as he watched his jet-propelled quintet unload on Littleton with the fury of a medium-range bomber, seemed almost as breathless as his players in the dressing room aftermath.

"We probably have the worst defensive record in the league (an unchallenged fact) and I doubt if there are many AAA teams in the state that have given up more points," Brown reasoned. "However, we're satisfied to win whether the score is 81-80 or even 90-89."

In past weeks the Colts have defeated Central 81-79 and Wasson 76-74. They also lost to the same teams by scores of 100-85 and 84-80. But South is going to the state tournament while the other two are not and the Colts' chances are generally considered to be superior in the Denver extravaganza than those of league champion, Trinidad.

South basketball teams are a true Colorado contribution to the missle age. Even Colonel Glenn might find a Pueblo Colt hard to ride and opposing practicioners of the hardwood art have rarely been able to stay in the saddle.

Aside from an occasional new face or variation in levels of individual ability, the appearance of South's basketball team has not changed since the Colts first came along to pester their seven conference brothers four years ago. The players appear to be stripped from a mold. Rebounding, shooting, and passing styles are identical. Some shooters may hit a little more consistently than others but unfortunately for the opposition these same ones also shoot more frequently.

Above all the Colts run—and run and run and run. After watching their rate of travel for four winters a person arrives at the idea that Brown winds up the players in the dressing room just before game time and then releases the necessary five at the opening tip. As some run down, others race onto the floor to take their place.

During the game South hustlers seem to be everywhere. Where there is a loose ball, there is a minimum of three Colts. Unlike most teams which construct their tightest defense around an opponent's basket, South chooses to defend in front of the center stripe. If the opposition worms its way across midcourt it often results in an easy basket. The Colts, however, still have four men under the opposite goal, thus one long pass plus an easy shot and points have been traded.

Offensively, to the casual spectator the only discernable pattern in the South attack is the frequency with which the ball disappears thru the basket. There is, however, great skill involved in the Colts' rambling style. Floor-length passes are most difficult to throw accurately and equally difficult to catch without getting a face-full of basketball.

South's leadout passes after rebounds are probably the primary key to the team's success. They are thrown low, accurately, and without hesitation. The few teams that have been able to interupt this phase of the Colts' game have generally been able to win.

"When we play them next year I think we'll put a drawstring in the bottom of the net," Wasson coach Dick Westbay joked during halftime of the Monday track meet in the Palmer Gym.

Westbay can see a little more humor in the situatuion because his teams have been more successful against South than any other SCL entry. The past three seasons Thunderbird quintets have broken even with the Colts and this year only a fluke shot at the final buzzer in the second game between the two kept Wasson from a sweep.

South, however, is noted for saving its best efforts for top opposition and the Colts had played a superb game thruout that evening or they would never have been in a position to pull it out of the fire.

Now that Brown and his Colts are off to the state tournament to fire a few fast-break salvos at northern opposition, as is SCL champ Trinidad, the question still burns as to whether or not the best team is representing the league. Probably not!

Without qualification, Wasson had two of the three finest stars in the conference and on some evenings there was no question as to the Thunderbirds' superiority. Unfortunately the club did not experience the consistency or the luck necessary to win a championship.

Westbay felt the sting of missing the state tourney trip more keenly than anyone else—yet if the season was to be rerun, there is very little, if anything, he could do differently. Rival coaches say that considering the temperment of his personnel, few could have done the job as well. Anyone very close to this Thunderbird group would realize the truth of that statement.

It was the very character of the club which made it so exciting to watch that may have been its downfall in the end.

Much comment locally has been made about the T-Birds' refusal to protect a lead. Last week in Pueblo, Central went into the final quarter of a decisive game against South with a 13 point advantage and decided to slow the pace with a semi-stall. Eight minutes later the Wildcats were holding the short end of an 81-79 score and the Colts were plotting Monday's destruction of Littleton.

With teams like South around, sitting on a lead closely parallels holding a lighted stick of TNT.

After the explosion there's nothing left but the pieces.

Sweden Icers Favorites To Cop Title

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The smart money was on defending champion Sweden today to retain the world amateur ice hockey title and show the Canadians they can do it without trying to knock their opponents out of the rink.

Canada, which drew with Czechoslovakia 4-4, Tuesday night, received a further blow to its championship hopes when Pinoke McIntyre suffered a badly bruised leg when he was hit in the first period. The word from the Canadian camp is that the little winger is finished for the tournament.

Canada's next match is against Finland on Thursday, to be followed by games with Sweden and Russia.

In today's action, Sweden plays West Germany and Finland meets East Germany. The Swedes then have a day's break before playing Canada Friday.

Sweden currently holds first place with a 4-0 record. Canada and Czechoslovakia are both 3-0-1 while Russia also is in contention with just one defeat.

Coach Harry Cleverly of the United States team, which was thrashed by Sweden, 17-2, Tuesday, is one of Sweden's most vocal supporters.

The United States, having its worst international hockey tournament in history, at least can take solace in the fact it will take part in the Olympic championship next year, which also will double for the world title.

John A. (Bunny) Ahearne, European president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, spiked reports that the Yanks might be relegated to a lower standing in next year's meet and be unable to challenge for the title regardless of what kind of team they have.

"There will be 16 teams taking part in the Olympics," he said, "and the Americans will be one of them irrespective of how they finish here."

Championship Events Still Ahead for Cadets

With the exception of a few post-season championship type events, the winter sports season ended last weekend at the Air Force Academy when Coach Bob Spear's basketball team upset Marquette, nationally-ranked and bound for the National Invitational Tournament in New York City.

Still on tap, however, will be a trip to San Francisco this week for the AFA fencing team to take part in the Western Conference Championships and then the NCAA Championships at the Academy the final weekend of this month. The gymnastics squad will participate in the Western Invitational Championships at Pullman, Wash., this weekend; the rifle team goes to Stillwater, Okla., for the NRA Sectional; and the indoor track team is to enter the Kansas State Relays at Manhattan on Saturday.

Otherwise, the schedule is quiet until March 30 when the basebal team opens its slate against New Mexico University at Albuquerque.

FENCING

Coach Nick Toth's squad will be defending champions in the Western Conference meet, going for their fifth consecutive title. The Falcons, who are unbeaten in 38 consecutive dual meets, are heavy favorites.

Leading the swordmen will be John Skoro in the sabre, Jock Patterson in the foil, and Bill Ebert in the epee. They will all be entries in the national championships here in two weeks.

GYMNASTICS

It will be the first appearance of the AFA in the Western Collegiate Invitational this weekend The meet at Pullman, Wash., will feature nearly all west coast schools.

This meet will also be the first competition for the Cadets since knocking off New Mexico in the regular season's finale week before last. The Falcons are also getting set for the NCAA championships at Pittsburgh, March 21.

RIFLE

The NRA Sectionals will end the season for Coach Harold Blume's shooters. Curently 10-3 for the seaon, they were defeated by Army in their last outing altho firing their highest total of the season, 1449-1433.

INDOOR TRACK

Arne Arnesen will take only a small contingent to the K-State Relays in but the fourth time out this season for the AFA harriers. Altho the Cadets are without an indoor track, they have shown considerable progress in their three previous meets.

Last Saturday's performance in the Colorado University Relays was somewhat below Arnesen's expectations, however. Parke Hinman, who the previous night led the basketball team in scoring, copped the only AFA first place in the Boulder meet when he walked away with top honors in the hop, skip and jump. Hinman also chalked up a second in the broad jump — an amazing feat considering he had not practiced either event since last May.

Other notable Air Force performances were scored by Jeff Brannon, Jim Erickson, Ken Clark and Kirk Hall. Brannon took second in the high jump with a 6-6 effort, Erickson took fourth in the pole vault at 13-6, Clark was second in the medley shot-put, and Hall fourth in the mile run with a 4:29.8 clocking.

WRESTLING

George Bruns, Terry Isaacson and Thad Wolfe were the only bright spots for the Air Force in an otherwise disapointing showing in the first annual Mountain Intercollegiate Wrestling Tournament at Greeley last Friday and Saturday.

Bruns swept past all competition in winning his 177-pound division, while Isaacson, last year's runnerup in the NCAA, lost an unpopular decision in the finals at 167 pounds. Wolfe, at 137, copped third place.

As a team, the Falcons finished in only fifth place behind Western State, Colorado State College, Colorado State University, and Adams State College. The AFA grapplers will now be idle until the NCAA championships at Kent, Ohio, March 21-23.

Cocky Cassius Heavy Favorite To Deck Highly Rated Jones

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Cassius Clay takes the big step tonight on the road to a million dollars.

If cocky Cassius displays the punch to match his mouth against Doug Jones at Madison Square Garden, he could be well on the way to millionaire status before his 22nd birthday.

The 21-year-old, all-conquering heavyweight contender from Louisville is rated the favorite at odds ranging from 13-5 to 3-1 to whip the 26-year-old New York contender before a standing room only crowd of 18,732.

Starting time is 10 p.m., EST for the 10-rounder which will be telecast to 40 locations in 38 cities. New York will be blacked out of the closed circuit telecast.

For tonight's fight with Jones, Clay will earn about $100,000 and Jones $75,000. If he stops Jones in four, as he has predicted, or beats him decisively, he will be close to a title fight in September with heavyweight king Sonny Liston —providing Liston gets by Floyd Patterson again.

Jones never has been stopped.

A fight with Liston—"that big, ugly bear" as Clay calls him — could earn Cassius his million. It also would give him the opportunity to achieve his amibition of becoming the youngest heavyweight champion of all time.

Patterson holds that distinction now. He did it when he was 21 years, 10 months and 26 days old. Clay, born on Jan. 17, 1942, has until Dec. 12 of this year to break the mark.

"I'm gonna stop that Jones and then I'm going to whip that gorilla Liston and be the greatest champion of them all," proclaimed Cassius.

He's come close to his goals although boxing experts still wonder if The Greatest can fight?

Jack Dempsey is among the curious who will pack the Garden to see if Cassius will supply some of the answers.

"How does he take a punch?" asked the former heavyweight champion. "He's been great for the fight game, but can he fight?"

Clay, handsome, strong and fast and still growing, stands 6-foot-3 and weighs about 205 pounds. He won the Olympic light heavyweight (178 pounds) title in 1960 and has won all 17 of his pro fights, 14 by knockouts.

He already ranks as the No. 2 contender behind ex-champion Patterson although his victims mostly include rookies and washed up veterans like Archie Moore, Willie Besmanoff and Alex Miteff.

Jones, a pro since August, 1958, has a 21-3-1 won-lost-record including 13 knockouts. He is ranked third by Ring and fifth by the WBA.

The 6-foot, 185-pounder, a recent graduate of the light heavy ranks, fights out of the classic upright stance as Clay does. He is not as fast as Clay but he can strike quickly especially with his right, and has knockout power. He came off the floor to knock out contender Zora Folley in the seventh round at the Garden last Dec. 15.

The Garden card will gross about $100,000 for the arena's first boxing sellout since the Sugar Ray Robinson-Gene Fullmer middleweight title fight Jan. 2, 1957. That drew 18,134 fans and $194,645 at higher prices.

Bruins Grab Last Berth In NCAA Regional Play

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

The UCLA Bruins, almost counted out of the Big Six Conference race two weeks ago, have become the final entrant in the 16-team NCAA Regional Basketball Tournament field.

UCLA eliminated the Stanford Indians 51-45 in a playoff to determine the Big Six representative at Santa Monica, Calif., Tuesday night. The victory qualified the Bruins for a berth in the Far West regional semifinals at Provo, Utah Friday night.

The Uclans, in gaining their second straight league crown, will meet Arizona State University in the Far West bracket.

The Bruins finished fourth in the NCAA Championships last season.

A week ago Stanford led UCLA by two games with two games to play. But the Indians lost to the Bruins Friday and to Southern California Saturday. UCLA tied for first place by beating California Saturday.

The Uclans opened a 40-26 lead Tuesday and then staved off a late Stanford rally.

Walt Hazzard topped UCLA with 19 points and Jack Hirsch chipped in 15. Tom Dose's 19 was high for Stanford.

NCAA regional semifinals at four sites will be held Friday night with the regional finals Saturday evening. The four survivors then advanced to the national semifinals and championship game at Louisville, Ky., March 22-23.

Eight of the nation's top ten teams in the final Associated Press poll have qualified for the regional semifinals. Top-ranked Cincinnati will be seeking an unprecedented third straight championship.

Other members of the Top Ten competing are Duke, No. 2; Chicago Loyola, No. 3; Arizona State, No. 4; Mississippi State, No. 6; Illinois, No. 8; New York University, No. 9; and Colorado, No. 10.

The NAIA Tournament at Kansas City completed its second day of opening round games Tuesday and trimmed the field to 16 teams. Among the highlights, second-seeded Augsburg, Minn., turned back West Virginia State 67-57 and seventh-seeded Western Illinois was upset by Miles, Ala., 84-81.

Eight games are scheduled for the second round today and tonight.

The quarter-finals of the NCAA college division tournament take place today and tonight at Evansville, Ind., with four ranked teams in the AP's final small college Top Ten in the field, headed by top-ranked Wittenberg, Ohio.

The 26th annual National Invitation Tournament with 12 entrants gets under way Thursday night in Madison Square Garden with a first-round doubleheader. In the opener, Villanova, 19-8, meets DePaul, 15-7, while Fordham, 18-7, opposes Memphis State, 18-6, in the second game.

North Dakota, Boston College Open NCAA Hockey Tourney

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — The three visitors in the NCAA Hockey Tournament are scheduled to arrive today and launch final prepatations for Thursday night's opener at Boston College.

North Dakota, the No. 2 entry from the West, will be given an immediate crack at the McMhugh Forum ice. The 1959 tourney winner opens the semifinal against Boston College.

Clarkson and Denver, a three-time winner in the past four years, will play Friday night with the final round on Saturday.

The ailing host team has spent the week trying to repair the damage which resulted from the frantic ECAC final which Boston College lost 4-3 to Harvard in overtime.

Coach Snooks Kelly has picked Paul Lufkin to move up to the high-scoring first line, replacing the injured Paul Aiken. Lufkin once played on a line at Deerfield Academy with Gene Kinasewich and Baldy Smith, two of the stars of the Harvard team which grabbed top Eastern honors and then declined an NCAA tourney bid.

Kelly picked Lufkin after deciding not to break up his two best scorers, Jack Leetch and Billy Hogan.

Norm Nelson was named to fill in for injured defensive star, Dave Duffy. Nelson has been used mainly as a reserve forward up to now.

New York State Extends Racing Season

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The New York State Assembly overwhelmingly approved a bill Tuesday to extend the Thoroughbred racing season in the state seven days to Dec. 7. The extension, which would produce an estimated $1.7 million, now goes to Gov. Rockefeller.

Colorado's Charlton Wins Big Eight Scoring Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Colorado's Ken Charlton won the Big Eight individual basketball scoring crown with a 19.2 average — lowest winning mark in 14 years — but the conference had more 200-point men than last season.

Charlton, despite knee trouble, came through with 20 poins to lead Colorado's big 69-56 victory at Kansas State. It was his best game since he hurt his kne against Kansas Feb. 9.

The 6-foot-6 Charlton was runner-up last season as a junior with a 19.3 mark, as Jerry Gardner of Kansas won with 20.2, lowest winning average since Claude Retherford of Nebraska won with 12.4 in 1949.

Only six players scored 200 or more points last season, compared to 10 this season. Willie Murrell, Kansas State, was runner-up with 263 points, six less than Charlton, for an 18.8 average. The other 200-point men, in order, were:

George Unseld, Kansas, 17.1; Eddie Evans, Oklahoma, 16.4; Larry Hawk, Oklahoma State, 16.2; Ray Bob Carey, Missouri, 15.9; Nolen Ellison, Kansas, 15.4; Vince Brewer, Iowa State, 15.3; Marv Straw, Iowa State, 14.6, and Bob Price, Missouri, 14.4.

"Some people say we don't play much defense. Well, in our type of game we don't have time for much," Pueblo South's Bill Brown said Monday night as he prepared to hustle his Colts off to Denver for the fourth straight year.

"When we play them next year I think we'll put a drawstring in the bottom of the net," Wasson coach Dick Westbay joked during halftime of the Monday track meet in the Palmer Gym.

Westbay can see a little more humor in the situatuion because his teams have been more successful against South than any other SCL entry. The past three seasons Thunderbird quintets have broken even with the Colts and this year only a fluke shot at the final buzzer in the second game between the two kept Wasson from a sweep.

It was the very character of the club which made it so exciting to watch that may have been its downfall in the end.

Much comment locally has been made about the T-Birds' refusal to protect a lead. Last week in Pueblo, Central went into the final quarter of a decisive game against South with a 13 point advantage and decided to slow the pace with a semi-stall. Eight minutes later the Wildcats were holding the short end of an 81-79 score and the Colts were plotting Monday's destruction of Littleton.

With teams like South around, sitting on a lead closely parallels holding a lighted stick of TNT.

Sweden Icers Favorites To Cop Title

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The smart money was on defending champion Sweden today to retain the world amateur ice hockey title and show the Canadians they can do it without trying to knock their opponents out of the rink.

Canada, which drew with Czechoslovakia 4-4, Tuesday night, received a further blow to its championship hopes when Pinoke McIntyre suffered a badly bruised leg when he was hit in the first period. The word from the Canadian camp is that the little winger is finished for the tournament.

Canada's next match is against Finland on Thursday, to be followed by games with Sweden and Russia.

In today's action, Sweden plays West Germany and Finland meets East Germany. The Swedes then have a day's break before playing Canada Friday.

Sweden currently holds first place with a 4-0 record. Canada and Czechoslovakia are both 3-0-1 while Russia also is in contention with just one defeat.

Coach Harry Cleverly of the United States team, which was thrashed by Sweden, 17-2, Tuesday, is one of Sweden's most vocal supporters.

The United States, having its worst international hockey tournament in history, at least can take solace in the fact it will take part in the Olympic championship next year, which also will double for the world title.

John A. (Bunny) Ahearne, European president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, spiked reports that the Yanks might be relegated to a lower standing in next year's meet and be unable to challenge for the title regardless of what kind of team they have.

"There will be 16 teams taking part in the Olympics," he said, "and the Americans will be one of them irrespective of how they finish here."

Wasson's Darrell Greene has been named City Star of the Week by the Gazette Telegraph Sports Staff for his outstanding game at Grand Junction last Friday. It is the last time that the basketball selections are to be made this winter.

Greene combined with teammate Karl Tait in a 52 point scoring performance that gave Wasson its first victory at Grand Junction since the school opened four years ago. Greene's 28 points assured him of becoming the first Wasson player to win the South Central League scoring title and his performance also added further to his own school scoring records.

Others considered during the final week were Tait of Wasson, Pat Berkheim and Jim Lindsey of Palmer, and John O'Connell and Jim Gillespie of St. Mary's.

Tom Johnston, the mainstay of the Manitou Springs cage team, was selected the final Pikes Peak League Player of the Week for his consistent performance thruout the District Tournament last weekend.

The 5-11 Mustang senior pumped in 33 points in three games to pull the Manitou quintet into the District finals, only to succumb in the consolation contest against Harrison.

Johnston possesses that ability to remain calm and poised under fire and has one of the softest tooches in the loop. In addition to his scoring, the Player of the Week is also an excellent ball hawk on defense and a fine play-maker.

Others considered for the award were: John Julius, Academy High; Jim Rigdon and Bill Schorer, Manitou; Bill Raines, Gary Graham, and Sid Reidlehuber, Cheyenne Mountain; Mike Dunn, Fountain; Lloyd Crawford, Harrison; and Eddie Rodriguez and Rusty Wasinger, Widefield.

Terrors Conclude Season; Three Cagers to Graduate

Under the guidance of their new mentor, Gerry Schroeder, the Terrors of Palmer concluded the basketball season in the South Central League's fifth place with a 5-9 record.

After a dismal start, the Terrors shook the position of SCL cellar dwellers and performed at times just shy of brilliant. The Tribe closed out the 1962-63 slate with a triumph over Pueblo East last week for an overall 6-12 record.

Walt Hylton led the Terrors in the scoring column with 180 points followed by Bobby Joe Williams, 150; Alan Snyder, 149; Dave Steward, 142; and Jim Lindzey, 80.

Williams and Steward were the backbone of the Tribe in rebounding with the 6-4 Williams pulling down 158 caroms and the latter cager snatching 152. These fellows made it possible for the Palmer quintet to overcome their poor start of the season.

Altho the Tribe had ample players with experience from the former season, they seemed to lack confidence at the beginning of the season. But Palmer seemed to pick up poise when they downed Pueblo East back in January, 43-42. This victory gave the Terrors the push they needed to shed the SCL cellar spot.

The following week after the East victory, Schroeder's team performed outstandingly against cross-town rival Wasson. Altho losing, 47-57, they realized they could hold their head above water with any team.

Schroeder loses the services of Steward, Pat Berkheim, Jim Justus, and Jim Lindsey, but will have Williams, Snyder, and Hylton returning next season.

Birds Record Fell Short But Stars Shine Bright

Wasson's 1962-63 basketball season produced more excitement and more disappointment than any preceeding, and it also gave the school a pair of record-holders whose marks may be around for some time to come.

Darrell Greene and Karl Tait, the T-Birds' highly touted two-some, will be among six seniors who depart with the June graduation class but their names will be etched deeply in the school's record books.

Greene leaves with all of the team scoring records in his possession. He holds the single game mark of 35 which he set against Pueblo Central this season. His total of 346 points this winter is also easily the highest ever recorded by a Wasson player, as is his season average of 19.2. Also tops is his career mark of 637 points in 37 games over a two year span of varsity ball. It figures out to a 17.2 average.

Tait actually is second to Greene in the single season scoring record with his 322 points this season and his average of 17.9 But Karl's name goes on the books in the rebound department and it may be many seasons before his record of 286 rebounds or an average of 16 per game is erased. In setting the mark he broke Bob Joyce's existing record by a whopping 98 rebounds.

The club also broke most of team offensive records this year including most points, 1108, and average per game, 61.6.

Aside from Greene and Tait, Westbay watches his three other starters and a top reserve depart. Team captain Vic Shelton, Ken Charles, and Bob Stanley have all held starting roles the past two seasons and Stanley saw action as a first stringer during his sophomore campaign. Ron Klopfenstein, one of the team's two top reserves, will also graduate.

This group posted a 13-5 record this season to match the best in the school's history and over the two-year stretch when they carried the load these seniors were 25-11. Last winter as juniors they were the only club to defeat Pueblo South during the regular season and they did that on the Colts' home floor. They defeated every team in the SCL at least once during that campaign and broke even in four non-conference games. Finally, the group was eliminated from the state tournament only via a playoff game with Pueblo Centennial.

This past winter the T-Birds were pre-season picks to win the conference and were considered to be among the top two or three teams in the state. That fact caused the team to run into one fired up club after another and the 'Birds were finally eliminated from the title chase in the semi-final week. They had lost four games by a total of nine points, twice on shots in the final second of play.

The first defeat was in non-conference play and it came at the hands of powerful South Denver, 58-52. Later, in league action, the T-Birds were forced into overtimes in three straight contests. They defeated South and East in this fashion but dropped a 77-74 decision to Central. The other league losses were to South, 76-74, and to Trinidad, 64-62 and 65-63. In the South and second Trinidad game the margin came on desperation heaves as the clock ran out.

On the successful side, the Thunderbirds defeated arch-rival Palmer twice to take a 5-3 lead in that series and also defeated all three of the other second division clubs twice. Other victories were over Adams-Arapahoe champion Cherry Creek, West Denver, and Denver Lincoln.

'63 Pirates First Team To Win Title

The 1963 Pirates of St. Mary's—the first team to win a loop title after over 50 years of participation in the Denver Parochial League and Southern League—wrapped up the basketball season with the DPL crown and a second berth in the Colorado State Parochial Championship.

Edward (Easy Ed) Murphy led his tall and talented cagers thru the season to a whopping 23-2 league record and finished the tournament with a total record of 25-3; losing the encounter in the finale of the tourney to Annunication, 53-41.

"Big John" O'Connell launched his 6-7 frame in those 27 games (the Bucs won their last DPL game via forfeit from Cathedral) for a personal scoring output of 485 points; overshadowing his teammates better than two-to-one. O'Connell also took the limelight in the rebounding department as the Pirates' top carom specialist.

Steve Rome finished second in scoring with 204, Richie Jewett followed with 185, while Mickey Elliott and Jim Gillespie each collected 163 and 162 points respectively.

Jewett proved the most improved player of the lot and contributed more in the last six games than any other Buc with his clutch shooting. The former gridiron star was missed in the last two encounters in the state tourney as he was sidelined with a sprained ankle.

In addition to the above five lads all scheduled to depart St. Mary's this May via graduation, Murphy will miss the services of Mike Shea; a young lad who will go down in the Catholic school's history as he enabled the Pirates to beat Regis on the latter's home court. It was Shea's last minute layup shot that won the contest for Pirates and defeat Regis in Denver; something the Bucs never accomplish in the previous years.

Downhill Event Run Off In Junior Championship

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP) — Youthful Alpine skiers from throughout the United States prepared today to start the gruelling downhill run on Snow King Mountain in the Junior National Ski championships here.

The downhill was the only event scheduled on the second day of the week-long championships.

The course, a narrow, twisting descent through trees, was pronounced in good shape despite a scarcity of snow at this northwest Wyoming ski area. Workers have had to haul snow to cover bare spots at lower elevations.

Nearly 150 skiers, ranging from 12 through 18 and representing seven regional ski associations, are entered in the championships.

The Southern Rocky Mountain Ski Association grabbed an early lead Tuesday when it captured first, third and fourth places in the cross-country relay event which opened the competition.

Rocky Mountain team No. 1 had an over-all time of 83 minutes, 13 seconds, to edge team No. 2 of the U.S. Eastern Ski Association, which had a time of 84 minutes, 39 seconds.

U.S. Eastern's team No. 1 took fifth place. Cross-country competition resumes Thursday.

The day's best individual time was turned in by Jerry Varnum of Augusta, Maine, who covered the course in 19 minutes, 36 seconds as lead-off man for U.S. Eastern No. 2. Clark Matis, anchor man for Rocky Mountain team No. 1, had the second best time at 19 minutes, 36 seconds.

BREAKS TWO RECORDS IN COMEBACK — Betty Cuthbert, Australia's "Golden Girl" of the 1956 Olympics, is about to break the tape at the finish line as she betters the world women's record for the 440-yard and 400-meter races in a comeback at Melbourne, Australia, track carnival. Her times for the 440-yard dash was 53.5 seconds and for the 400-meter 53.1 seconds. She clipped two-tenths of a second off the 440-yard dash time and three-tenths off the 440-meter race, both set by Russia's Maria Itkina in 1959.

Yankees Find Exhibition Trail Lined With Thorns

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Everything is coming up roses for the Baltimore Orioles and Chicago White Sox, but as always the world champion New York Yankees are finding the exhibition baseball trail lined with thorns.

The Orioles and White Sox, who completed one of the biggest trades of the winter, received maximum performances from some of their newcomers Tuesday while the world champion Yankees were held to a lone scratch single in a 5-0 loss to Milwaukee at West Palm Beach, Fla. It was the Yanks' third loss in five games.

Only Tom Tresh's infield single in the seventh inning prevented the Yankees from complete humiliation as Frank Funk, acquired in a trade with Cleveland, Claude Raymond and rookie Larry Maxie combined to pitch the Braves to their first victory in four games.

The Orioles whipped Detroit 7-2 in a night game at Miami, boosting their record to 4-0 and becoming the lone undefeated team in either league, while the White Sox defeated the New York Mets 3-1 at Sarasota for their third triumph in four games.

Former White Sox regulars Al Smith and Luis Aparicio played key roles for the Orioles. Smith stroked a bases-loaded single to get Baltimore started in the first inning after Al Kaline had hit a two-run homer for Detroit. Aparicio wound up the scoring with a homer.

Former Orioles Dave Nicholson and Pete Ward drove in all the White Sox runs in the first inning against the Mets, Nicholson lashing a two-run double and Ward a run-scoring single. Th Chicagoans received an added boost when comeback pitcher Herb Score allowed only one hit in three innings.

In other Florida games, the Los Angeles Dodgers edged St. Louis 4-3 at St. Petersburg, Philadelphia belted Cincinnati 12-6 at Clearwater, Pittsburgh nipped Washington 7-6 in 10 innings at Fort Myers and Kansas City beat Minnesota 7-4 at Orlando.

On the Arizona front, the National League champion San Francisco Giants downed Boston 4-1 at Scottsdale, the Los Angeles Angels walloped Cleveland 6-1 at Tucson and Houston rallied for a 6-5 decision over the Chicago Cubs at Apache Junction.

The Dodgers got their deciding runs in the seventh against the Cards on Bill Skowron's fifth straight hit in two games, a single by Frank Howard, two balks and a wild pitch by Harry Fanok and an error by shortstop Dick Groat.

Don Demeter's three-run homer in a six-run fourth inning uprising carried the Phillies to their victory over the Reds. Rookie pitcher Frank Bork singled in the winning run in the 10th as the Pirates edged the Senators and pitcher Norm Bass homered in the eighth inning for the deciding run in the A's victory over the Twins.

Colts' Owner Bets Aganst Team

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Carroll D. Rosenbloom, owner of the Baltimore Colts, has been accused in federal court of betting $55,000 against his own team in a 1953 National Football League game.

Rosenbloom's own lawyer put the accusation on the record Tuesday in an attempt to have ex-gambler Mike McLaney, of Miami Beach, who made the deposition three years ago, cited for criminal contempt. He said the charge was a vicious and outrageous lie.

But Judge George C. Young threw out the contempt motion, emphasizing that he was not ruling on the truth or falsity of the accusation.

Also made public Tuesday were three affidavits in which McLaney's associates swore that Rosenbloom was a big bettor.

National Football League regulations forbid betting by players or owners.

Robert J. McGravey, once a Philadelphia detective, declared that he was Rosenbloom's personal assistant from 1951 to 1954 and that he had often placed bets for him.

Richard Melvin, an investor, said in his affidavit, "I distinctly remember that during one professional season he made nine straight winning bets on professional football games."

Larry E. Murphy, onetime McLaney chauffeur, swore, "I particularly remember that in 1953 when his team was playing against the 49ers on the coast; Rosenbloom bet a large amount of money against his own team, and because of the point spread, won the bet."

The affidavits, made in connection with a stock deal suit in 1960, were sealed and the suit was dismissed by Federal Judge Joseph Lieb Jan. 5, 1961.

Warriors Nip Los Angeles; Battle for Playoff Berth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The San Francisco Warriors still have a chance. Chances are "99 out of 100" Chicago doesn't.

That's the situation in the National Basketball Association today following a night in which the Warriors retained an outside chance to grab a playoff berth, and Chicago General Manager Frank Lane indicated the Zephyrs will be playing in Baltimore next season.

Meanwhile, Syracuse ran its winning streak to 10 games with a 130-106 walloping of the Zephyrs and Cincinnati handed hapless New York its ninth straight setback, 110-96. The other clubs were idle.

The San Francisco 116-110 win over Los Angeles left the Warriors 2½ games behind Detroit in the battle for the third and last playoff spot in the Western Division. The best the Warriors can do is tie. In order to do that, they will have to win their last three games while the Pistons lose their closing two.

Lane made his remarks before the Zephyrs-Nats game. He said "one of the reasons I took the job last year was because there was a team in Chicago. The team belongs here but I am not one of the owners as I have no say in the matter."

Owner Dave Trager said last week that he might move the team next year.

The downhill was the only event scheduled on the second day of the week-long championships.

The course, a narrow, twisting descent through trees, was pronounced in good shape despite a scarcity of snow at this northwest Wyoming ski area. Workers have had to haul snow to cover bare spots at lower elevations.

Nearly 150 skiers, ranging from 12 through 18 and representing seven regional ski associations, are entered in the championships.

The Southern Rocky Mountain Ski Association grabbed an early lead Tuesday when it captured first, third and fourth places in the cross-country relay event which opened the competition.

Rocky Mountain team No. 1 had an over-all time of 83 minutes, 13 seconds, to edge team No. 2 of the U.S. Eastern Ski Association, which had a time of 84 minutes, 39 seconds.

U.S. Eastern's team No. 1 took fifth place. Cross-country competition resumes Thursday.

The day's best individual time was turned in by Jerry Varnum of Augusta, Maine, who covered the course in 19 minutes, 36 seconds as lead-off man for U.S. Eastern No. 2. Clark Matis, anchor man for Rocky Mountain team No. 1, had the second best time at 19 minutes, 36 seconds.

Birds Record Fell Short But Stars Shine Bright

Wasson's 1962-63 basketball season produced more excitement and more disappointment than any preceeding, and it also gave the school a pair of record-holders whose marks may be around for some time to come.

Darrell Greene and Karl Tait, the T-Birds' highly touted two-some, will be among six seniors who depart with the June graduation class but their names will be etched deeply in the school's record books.

Greene leaves with all of the team scoring records in his possession. He holds the single game mark of 35 which he set against Pueblo Central this season. His total of 346 points this winter is also easily the highest ever recorded by a Wasson player, as is his season average of 19.2. Also tops is his career mark of 637 points in 37 games over a two year span of varsity ball. It figures out to a 17.2 average.

Tait actually is second to Greene in the single season scoring record with his 322 points this season and his average of 17.9 But Karl's name goes on the books in the rebound department and it may be many seasons before his record of 286 rebounds or an average of 16 per game is erased. In setting the mark he broke Bob Joyce's existing record by a whopping 98 rebounds.

The club also broke most of team offensive records this year including most points, 1108, and average per game, 61.6.

Aside from Greene and Tait, Westbay watches his three other starters and a top reserve depart. Team captain Vic Shelton, Ken Charles, and Bob Stanley have all held starting roles the past two seasons and Stanley saw action as a first stringer during his sophomore campaign. Ron Klopfenstein, one of the team's two top reserves, will also graduate.

This group posted a 13-5 record this season to match the best in the school's history and over the two-year stretch when they carried the load these seniors were 25-11. Last winter as juniors they were the only club to defeat Pueblo South during the regular season and they did that on the Colts' home floor. They defeated every team in the SCL at least once during that campaign and broke even in four non-conference games. Finally, the group was eliminated from the state tournament only via a playoff game with Pueblo Centennial.

This past winter the T-Birds were pre-season picks to win the conference and were considered to be among the top two or three teams in the state. That fact caused the team to run into one fired up club after another and the 'Birds were finally eliminated from the title chase in the semi-final week. They had lost four games by a total of nine points, twice on shots in the final second of play.

The first defeat was in non-conference play and it came at the hands of powerful South Denver, 58-52. Later, in league action, the T-Birds were forced into overtimes in three straight contests. They defeated South and East in this fashion but dropped a 77-74 decision to Central. The other league losses were to South, 76-74, and to Trinidad, 64-62 and 65-63. In the South and second Trinidad game the margin came on desperation heaves as the clock ran out.

On the successful side, the Thunderbirds defeated arch-rival Palmer twice to take a 5-3 lead in that series and also defeated all three of the other second division clubs twice. Other victories were over Adams-Arapahoe champion Cherry Creek, West Denver, and Denver Lincoln.

'63 Pirates First Team To Win Title

The 1963 Pirates of St. Mary's —the first team to win a loop title after over 50 years of participation in the Denver Parochial League and Southern League—wrapped up the basketball season with the DPL crown and a second berth in the Colorado State Parochial Championship.

Edward (Easy Ed) Murphy led his tall and talented cagers thru the season to a whopping 23-2 league record and finished the tournament with a total record of 25-3; losing the encounter in the finale of the tourney to Annunication, 53-41.

"Big John" O'Connell launched his 6-7 frame in those 27 games (the Bucs won their last DPL game via forfeit from Cathedral) for a personal scoring output of 485 points; overshadowing his teammates better than two-to-one. O'Connell also took the limelight in the rebounding department as the Pirates' top carom specialist.

Steve Rome finished second in scoring with 204, Richie Jewett followed with 185, while Mickey Elliott and Jim Gillespie each collected 163 and 162 points respectively.

Jewett proved the most improved player of the lot and contributed more in the last six games than any other Buc with his clutch shooting. The former gridiron star was missed in the last two encounters in the state tourney as he was sidelined with a sprained ankle.

In addition to the above five lads all scheduled to depart St. Mary's this May via graduation, Murphy will miss the services of Mike Shea; a young lad who will go down in the Catholic school's history as he enabled the Pirates to beat Regis on the latter's home court. It was Shea's last minute layup shot that won the contest for Pirates and defeat Regis in Denver; something the Bucs never accomplish in the previous years.

Butler, Vance Win Doubles

Bill Butler and Lew Vance combined talents to win Bowl Mor Lanes Sunday Rag Time Doubles Sweeper with a 1320 total pin series. Rolling in a field of 59 double entries, Butler turned in games of 223, 203 and 268 for a 694 scratch series. Vance contributed games of 190, 201 and 213 plus a 22 pin handicap for a 626 series.

Duke King and Bob McCoullough took second with a 1292 pin total. Third went to Ron McIntyre, and Dale Steward with a 1282 series.

Butler's winning 694 was high scratch series, and his 268 was high scratch game.

Yankees Find Exhibition Trail Lined With Thorns

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Everything is coming up roses for the Baltimore Orioles and Chicago White Sox, but as always the world champion New York Yankees are finding the exhibition baseball trail lined with thorns.

The Orioles and White Sox, who completed one of the biggest trades of the winter, received maximum performances from some of their newcomers Tuesday while the world champion Yankees were held to a lone scratch single in a 5-0 loss to Milwaukee at West Palm Beach, Fla. It was the Yanks' third loss in five games.

Only Tom Tresh's infield single in the seventh inning prevented the Yankees from complete humiliation as Frank Funk, acquired in a trade with Cleveland, Claude Raymond and rookie Larry Maxie combined to pitch the Braves to their first victory in four games.

The Orioles whipped Detroit 7-2 in a night game at Miami, boosting their record to 4-0 and becoming the lone undefeated team in either league, while the White Sox defeated the New York Mets 3-1 at Sarasota for their third triumph in four games.

Former White Sox regulars Al Smith and Luis Aparicio played key roles for the Orioles. Smith stroked a bases-loaded single to get Baltimore started in the first inning after Al Kaline had hit a two-run homer for Detroit. Aparicio wound up the scoring with a homer.

Former Orioles Dave Nicholson and Pete Ward drove in all the White Sox runs in the first inning against the Mets, Nicholson lashing a two-run double and Ward a run-scoring single. The Chicagoans received an added boost when comeback pitcher Herb Score allowed only one hit in three innings.

In other Florida games, the Los Angeles Dodgers edged St. Louis 4-3 at St. Petersburg, Philadelphia belted Cincinnati 12-6 at Clearwater, Pittsburgh nipped Washington 7-6 in 10 innings at Fort Myers and Kansas City beat Minnesota 7-4 at Orlando.

On the Arizona front, the National League champion San Francisco Giants downed Boston 4-1 at Scottsdale, the Los Angeles Angels walloped Cleveland 6-1 at Tucson and Houston rallied for a 6-5 decision over the Chicago Cubs at Apache Junction.

The Dodgers got their deciding runs in the seventh against the Cards on Bill Skowron's fifth straight hit in two games, a single by Frank Howard, two balks and a wild pitch by Harry Fanok and an error by shortstop Dick Groat.

Don Demeter's three-run homer in a six-run fourth inning uprising carried the Phillies to their victory over the Reds. Rookie pitcher Frank Bork singled in the winning run in the 10th as the Pirates edged the Senators and pitcher Norm Bass homered in the eighth inning for the deciding run in the A's victory over the Twins.

Colts' Owner Bets Aganst Team

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Carroll D. Rosenbloom, owner of the Baltimore Colts, has been accused in federal court of betting $55,000 against his own team in a 1953 National Football League game.

Rosenbloom's own lawyer put the accusation on the record Tuesday in an attempt to have ex-gambler Mike McLaney, of Miami Beach, who made the deposition three years ago, cited for criminal contempt. He said the charge was a vicious and outrageous lie.

But Judge George C. Young threw out the contempt motion, emphasizing that he was not ruling on the truth or falsity of the accusation.

Also made public Tuesday were three affidavits in which McLaney's associates swore that Rosenbloom was a big bettor.

National Football League regulations forbid betting by players or owners.

Robert J. McGravey, once a Philadelphia detective, declared that he was Rosenbloom's personal assistant from 1951 to 1954 and that he had often placed bets for him.

Richard Melvin, an investor, said in his affidavit, "I distinctly remember that during one professional season he made nine straight winning bets on professional football games."

Larry E. Murphy, onetime McLaney chauffeur, swore, "I particularly remember that in 1953 when his team was playing against the 49ers on the coast; Rosenbloom bet a large amount of money against his own team, and because of the point spread, won the bet."

The affidavits, made in connection with a stock deal suit in 1960, were sealed and the suit was dismissed by Federal Judge Joseph Lieb Jan. 5, 1961.

Warriors Nip Los Angeles; Battle for Playoff Berth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The San Francisco Warriors still have a chance. Chances are "99 out of 100" Chicago doesn't.

That's the situation in the National Basketball Association today following a night in which the Warriors retained an outside chance to grab a playoff berth, and Chicago General Manager Frank Lane indicated the Zephyrs will be playing in Baltimore next season.

Meanwhile, Syracuse ran its winning streak to 10 games with a 130-106 walloping of the Zephyrs and Cincinnati handed hapless New York its ninth straight setback, 110-96. The other clubs were idle.

The San Francisco 116-110 win over Los Angeles left the Warriors 2½ games behind Detroit in the battle for the third and last playoff spot in the Western Division. The best the Warriors can do is tie. In order to do that, they will have to win their last three games while the Pistons lose their closing two.

Lane made his remarks before the Zephyrs-Nats game. He said "one of the reasons I took the job last year was because there was a team in Chicago. The team belongs here but I am not one of the owners as I have no say in the matter."

Owner Dave Trager said last week that he might move the team next year.

Giant Machine Will Shake Fruit Trees

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — There's nothing new about shaking a tree to remove fruit, but scientists have added a new touch —a giant specially-built machine to do the shaking.

The Florida Agricultural Experiment station is making tests in cooperation with the citrus industry to determine if this method is feasible.

The frequency of shaking the tree, the stroke used, the amount of shaking time and the angle of attachment of the shaker to the limb are all being studied.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Please pass this timesaving, and helping hint along to young mothers:

To "would-be telephoners":

From 12 to 3:00 p. m. is a time when children are usually taking naps, and when busy mothers try to catch up on back work, read, or take a rest.

How many times have you been interrupted by a friend who phones to pass the time of day or talking about her problems with the children? Most gals look forward to this time in the afternoon alone and don't wish to spend the afternoon on the telephone.

So please be a friend and sign yourself up for the "Twelve-to-Three Club," and make phone calls at other times of the day. Your friends will love you for it. —Mother of three

Dear Heloise:

Here is a tip for making delicious gelatin desserts:

Use half water and half soda pop of the same flavor as the dessert you are using. Dissolve the gelatin in the hot water then add the soda pop, quickly put your dessert in the refrigerator and it becomes quite "yummy." Try it. —Ben Marcus

Wow . . . is this ever good! —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is a thoughtful thing to do for elderly friends who can still sew a little, but whose eyesight isn't quite up to threading needles easily:

Thread several needles at a time on a spool that is used often. When a length of thread is drawn from the spool with the first needle, and the thread cut off, the remaining needles can simply be pushed back along the thread until needed. —Mrs. P. E.

Dear Heloise:

For the small tubes of ointment, etc., which clutter up a medicine cabinet so easily, I use a small glass dish such as is used for leftovers in the refrigerator. The dish takes up less space and the cabinet looks better organized. —Faithful Reader

Dear Heloise:

When lengthening little girls' dresses I use rick rack braid or a lace insertion along the original hem line, stitching on each edge to strengthen the original fold and also to hide it. It looks pretty, too. —Gilberta Brown

Dear Heloise:

Every time I buy a toilet seat cover . . . it seems as if the piece of twine which ties it on, either gets broken or gets lost in the hem. What can we do with the covers, beside discarding them? —Mary

Dear Mary:

You can go to a dime store and buy an "extra long" shoe lace. Cut the tip of the shoe lace off on one end and stick a safety pin through it.

Fasten the pin to the lace and use it as a threader to run back through the little hem itself. This will have to be done about two inches at a time depending on the size of your safety pin.

However, here's what I do to mine: Instead of using bias tape or shoe laces . . . I used narrow elastic! After running the elastic through the hem I just tie a knot in it and presto. I don't have any more strings to hang, knots to tie, or broken threads. Also the elastic helps hold the cover in place. —Heloise

Thought For Today:

Dear Heloise:

My motto is "if some praise is due him," now is the time to slip it to him, for he cannot read his tombstone when he is dead. —Jean Horack

Dear Heloise:

Half the confusion — especially on Sunday mornings — has been cut at our house by the installation of a clock in our bathroom. It is wonderful how much less noise has resulted; it does away with dilly-dallying in the tub, shower and hair-combing! Each member of the family is limited to a set time. —Mrs. A. G. P.

Seventh Dog Poisoning Case Reported

A further case of dog poisoning, the seventh within a week, has been reported from the Broadmoor area, the sheriff's office said Tuesday.

G. J. Andres of the Broadmoor Police said Mrs. R. A. Middleton of 2 Berthe Circle told him her dog had been poisoned. The animal was taken to Dr. Brown's Hospital and a quantity of poisoned wheat was removed from its stomach. As action was taken so quickly the dog will probably live.

Within the past two years there has been 27 cases of dog poisoning in the Broadmoor district and C. M. Judd, secretary treasurer of the Broadmoor Improvement Society has announced a reward will be made to anyone who succeeds in having the poisoner arrested and convicted.

Most of the incidents have all taken place between 7th Street and Oak Avenue.

Americans learned skiing skills from Scandinavian settlers whose European ancestors had skied for 5,000 years.

Nine Qualify In Odd Fellows Competition

Nine students from five region high schools attained qualifying scores Saturday in a 100-question test on world affairs conducted by the Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges of this area.

The students will compete in the finals March 23 at the Lodge Hall, 128 N. Nevada Ave., when two will be chosen as delegates to visit the United Nations in New York this summer.

The winners, in order of qualification, are: Ted Dalziel, Air Force Academy; Sheryl Buck, Wasson; Howard Wardell, Fountain; Loxie Richardson, Simla, Jeannette Buck, Wasson; Laura Greenwood, Calhan, and Jan Koenigsberg, Craig Moore and Don Eckert, all of Air Academy.

At the finals, students will give a five minute speech on the subject "My Community and World Affairs" before a panel of five judges who will select two delegates and an alternate.

Judges will be Mrs. Max N. Huffman, president of the Women League of Voters; Lt. Col. James R. Woodruff, chaplain at Ent Air Force Base; attorney J. Donald Haney; Charles E. Whale, a local business man, and Mrs. Lura Kliewer, a retired school teacher.

This is the 14th annual U. N. Pilgrimage for Youth Tour being conducted under the auspices of the National Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges.

A supper will be given March 30 by the Rebekah lodges of the Colorado Springs and El Paso County areas at the Lodge Hall to help raise funds for the trip. The public is invited.

The successful candidates will join 34 other youngsters from Colorado and will tour the U. N. buildings, witness councils and committees in session, dine in the U. N. Delegates Dining Room and meet with representatives of participating nations.

Included in the itinerary are stops at historic shrines across the country, with two days in Washington D. C. where they will meet with Colorado's congressional representatives and observe the House and Senate in operation.

All expenses of the tour, which will be made by bus, will be paid by the lodges.

Paper Would Reach Moon Before Capsule

ANAHEIM, Cal. (UPI)—American industry is learning that paper work required for space age projects "multiplies nearly at the speed of light," according to C. B. McKeown, general manager of B. F. Goodrich Aerospace and Defense Products, Akron, Ohio.

"It has been estimated that the paper to be used on the Apollo program, if placed in a single pile, would reach the moon before the capsule," he told a conference of the American Society for Quality Control.

MOM AWAY FROM HOME

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP)—Susan Eisenberg apparently is a very efficient sixth grade lunch room monitor. "She even inspects your lunch pail", said 9-year-old David Dolling, "and makes you eat your crusts!"

Giant Machine Will Shake Fruit Trees

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — There's nothing new about shaking a tree to remove fruit, but scientists have added a new touch—a giant specially-built machine to do the shaking.

The Florida Agricultural Experiment station is making tests in cooperation with the citrus industry to determine if this method is feasible.

The frequency of shaking the tree, the stroke used, the amount of shaking time and the angle of attachment of the shaker to the limb are all being studied.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Please pass this timesaving, and helping hint along to young mothers:

To "would-be telephoners":

From 12 to 3:00 p. m. is a time when children are usually taking naps, and when busy mothers try to catch up on back work, read, or take a rest.

How many times have you been interrupted by a friend who phones to pass the time of day or talking about her problems with the children? Most gals look forward to this time in the afternoon alone and don't wish to spend the afternoon on the telephone.

So please be a friend and sign yourself up for the "Twelve-to-Three Club," and make phone calls at other times of the day. Your friends will love you for it. —Mother of three

Dear Heloise:

Here is a tip for making delicious gelatin desserts:

Use half water and half soda pop of the same flavor as the dessert you are using. Dissolve the gelatin in the hot water then add the soda pop, quickly put your dessert in the refrigerator and it becomes quite "yummy." Try it. —Ben Marcus

Wow . . . is this ever good! — Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is a thoughtful thing to do for elderly friends who can still sew a little, but whose eyesight isn't quite up to threading needles easily:

Thread several needles at a time on a spool that is used often. When a length of thread is drawn from the spool with the first needle, and the thread cut off, the remaining needles can simply be pushed back along the thread until needed. —Mrs. P. E.

Dear Heloise:

For the small tubes of ointment, etc., which clutter up a medicine cabinet so easily, I use a small glass dish such as is used for leftovers in the refrigerator. The dish takes up less space and the cabinet looks better organized. —Faithful Reader

Dear Heloise:

When lengthening little girls' dresses I use rick rack braid or a lace insertion along the original hem line, stitching on each edge to strengthen the original fold and also to hide it. It looks pretty, too. —Gilberta Brown

Dear Heloise:

Every time I buy a toilet seat cover . . . it seems as if the piece of twine which ties it on, either gets broken or gets lost in the hem. What can we do with the covers, beside discarding them? —Mary

Dear Mary:

You can go to a dime store and buy an "extra long" shoe lace. Cut the tip of the shoe lace off on one end and stick a safety pin through it.

Fasten the pin to the lace and use it as a threader to run back through the little hem itself. This will have to be done about two inches at a time depending on the size of your safety pin.

However, here's what I do to mine: Instead of using bias tape or shoe laces . . . I used narrow elastic! After running the elastic through the hem I just tie a knot in it and presto. I don't have any more strings to hang, knots to tie, or broken threads. Also the elastic helps hold the cover in place. —Heloise

Thought For Today:

Dear Heloise:

My motto is "if some praise is due him," now is the time to slip it to him, for he cannot read his tombstone when he is dead. —Jean Horack

Dear Heloise:

Half the confusion — especially on Sunday mornings — has been cut at our house by the installation of a clock in our bathroom. It is wonderful how much less noise has resulted; it does away with dilly-dallying in the tub, shower and hair-combing! Each member of the family is limited to a set time. —Mrs. A. G. P.

Seventh Dog Poisoning Case Reported

A further case of dog poisoning, the seventh within a week, has been reported from the Broadmoor area, the sheriff's office said Tuesday.

G. J. Andres of the Broadmoor Police said Mrs. R. A. Middleton of 2 Berthe Circle told him her dog had been poisoned. The animal was taken to Dr. Brown's Hospital and a quantity of poisoned wheat was removed from its stomach. As action was taken so quickly the dog will probably live.

Within the past two years there has been 27 cases of dog poisoning in the Broadmoor district and C. M. Judd, secretary treasurer of the Broadmoor Improvement Society has announced a reward will be made to anyone who succeeds in having the poisoner arrested and convicted.

Most of the incidents have all taken place between 7th Street and Oak Avenue.

Americans learned skiing skills from Scandinavian settlers whose European ancestors had skied for 5,000 years.

Nine Qualify In Odd Fellows Competition

Nine students from five region high schools attained qualifying scores Saturday in a 100-question test on world affairs conducted by the Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges of this area.

The students will compete in the finals March 23 at the Lodge Hall, 128 N. Nevada Ave., when two will be chosen as delegates to visit the United Nations in New York this summer.

The winners, in order of qualification, are: Ted Dalziel, Air Force Academy; Sheryl Buck, Wasson; Howard Wardell, Fountain; Loxie Richardson, Simla, Jeannette Buck, Wasson; Laura Greenwood, Calhan, and Jan Koenigsberg, Craig Moore and Don Eckert, all of Air Academy.

At the finals, students will give a five minute speech on the subject "My Community and World Affairs" before a panel of five judges who will select two delegates and an alternate.

Judges will be Mrs. Max N. Huffman, president of the Women League of Voters; Lt. Col. James R. Woodruff, chaplain at Ent Air Force Base; attorney J. Donald Haney; Charles E. Whale, a local business man, and Mrs. Lura Kliewer, a retired school teacher.

This is the 14th annual U. N. Pilgrimage for Youth Tour being conducted under the auspices of the National Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges.

A supper will be given March 30 by the Rebekah lodges of the Colorado Springs and El Paso County areas at the Lodge Hall to help raise funds for the trip. The public is invited.

The successful candidates will join 34 other youngsters from Colorado and will tour the U. N. buildings, witness councils and committees in session, dine in the U. N. Delegates Dining Room and meet with representatives of participating nations.

Included in the itinerary are stops at historic shrines across the country, with two days in Washington D. C. where they will meet with Colorado's congressional representatives and observe the House and Senate in operation.

All expenses of the tour, which will be made by bus, will be paid by the lodges.

Paper Would Reach Moon Before Capsule

ANAHEIM, Cal. (UPI)—American industry is learning that paper work required for space age projects "multiplies nearly at the speed of light," according to C. B. McKeown, general manager of B. F. Goodrich Aerospace and Defense Products, Akron, Ohio.

"It has been estimated that the paper to be used on the Apollo program, if placed in a single pile, would reach the moon before the capsule," he told a conference of the American Society for Quality Control.

MOM AWAY FROM HOME

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP)—Susan Eisenberg apparently is a very efficient sixth grade lunch room monitor. "She even inspects your lunch pail," said 9-year-old David Dolling, "and makes you eat your crusts!"

FATE HAS STRUCK YOU A CRUEL BLOW... YET YOU ARE SO BRAVE AND OPTIMISTIC!
WHAT I HAVE LOST IS SO SLIGHT...
...COMPARED WITH ALL I HAVE RETAINED. SO LITTLE LOST, SO VERY MUCH LEFT! I REFUSE TO BE A "SHUT IN"...I REJECT BEING "SHUT OUT." ONE TINY PART OF ME IS HELD PRISONER... BUT MY MIND, MY SPIRIT, AND MY HOPES LIFT ME UPWARD!

WELL, I'LL SOON SEE WHAT THIS IS ALL ABOUT....EH? LON'S VOICE!
"ONE THING, AL; S'POSIN' FOLKS DON'T BUY THAT GAS EXPLOSION BIT AND INVESTIGATE!"
"YOU DON'T KNOW TH' PUBLIC LIKE I DO, LON! WE RUN A STORY IN TH' PAPERS TH' DAY BEFORE, ABOUT THAT OLD RENO BLOWUP O' THEM GAS-FILLED DITCHES"!
AND MY VOICE! OUR WHOLE PLAN! TH' TUNNEL WAS BUGGED! BUT WHO--? IF THIS EVER GETS OUT--!

Russan Chess Masters Train for Big Event

By REINHOLD ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP) — How does one get ready to do battle for the world chess crown?

The defending champion is out skiing. His challenger is training by playing table tennis and billiards.

But, like many other things in the Soviet Union, their full preparations are veiled somewhat by the traditional Russian love for secrecy. Both of the prospective players are Soviet citizens — champion Mikhail Botvinnik and challenger Tigran Petrosyan—and both are living in secluded dachas near Moscow.

A request for information about their preparations was duly submitted to the Soviet government. Finally, permission was granted for an interview with Lev Abramov, deputy chairman of the Soviet Chess Federation, who hastened to announce:

"We don't know exactly what they are doing, because that is their secret.

"However, quite by accident, I happen to know that Botvinnik has been doing a lot of skiing, even during the worst cold weather. He didn't miss a day.

"And Petrosyan, I understand, has been playing table tennis and billiards.

Abramov said oth men are also running through practice chess games with close friends; Botvinnik with Semyon Furman and Petrosyan with Issac Boleslavsky.

The first game of the world championship match is to be played March 23, on the stage of the Estrada Variety Theater, across the river from the Kremlin. The silent battle of wits is expected to last at least two months, until the latter part of May.

There will be 24 games, and they will be played on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Adjournments will be played off on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

The theater is the same one in which Botvinnik recaptured the world chess title from Mikhail Tal of the U.S.S.R. at the last match in 1961.

Abramov said the theater, which normally shelters some of the best variety shows in town, was chosen because it has a good ventilation system and the temperature can be kept at a constant, comfortable level.

The two referees will also be the same as last time: Gideon Stahlberg, Swedish grandmaster, and Harry Golombek, an international master from Britain. They, too, were chosen because they are not likely to upset the players.

"Both Stahlberg and Golmobek are very quiet and not at all nervous," Abramov commented. "They are also very objective, and there wasn't a single incident at the last tournament."

The theater seats 1,300 persons because Russians love chess, at least 1,000 of the seats are generally occupied. During crucial matches, hundreds are turned away.

Although the spectators become excited during the play, they are kept under control. If the murmuring comment rises too high, an official immediately appears on stage and holds up a sign reading: "Quiet."

The players do not look at the audience, and seldom at each other. During the last championship match, nerves were stretched so tight that Tal smoked on stage —something he had not done before —and Botvinnik drank coffee.

Since Botvinnik is considered one of the steadiest players in the business, the coffee raised a number of eyebrows. Referee Golombk was moved to a mild comment: "Botvinnik used to show up with some sort of rasperry juice."

Botvinnik won, but this time many Moscow chess experts are not certain he will do it again.

Abramov reports the odds are about 55 to 45, in favor of Petrosyan. This, Abramov said, results from the fact that Botvinik is aging. He is 51, whereas Petrosyan is only 33.

"No one," said Abramov, "has any doubts that Botvinnik's experience and understanding is not surpassed by anybody. But chess is a strenuous port."

Botvinnik has been written off before, most notably during the last tournament, when the 24-year-old Tal cockily felt certain he could keep the crown he had snatched from Botvinnik only the year before.

Botvinnik ignored the speculation, hunched his shoulders over the board and laid out his moves like an electrical engineer lays out circuits. This was easy, since Botvinnik happens to be an outstanding electrical engineer.

He has even written a book on electrical matters, called: "How excitation control affects the stability of the synchronous motor."

Born in Leningrad of Jewish parents, Botvinnik won the title of chess master at the age of 16, and was a grandmaster at 24. He captured the world title in 1948.

Petrosyan, an Armenian, is a relative newcomer to international chess. He became Moscow champion at the age of 20, and held the Soviet national title twice — in 1959 and 1961. He earned the right to play Botvinnik during last year's preliminaries in Curacao, and with a resulting playoff against Paul Keres of the U.S.S.R.

Chess is Petrosyan's whole world. His profession is chess journalism.

Botvinnik and Petroshan have met officially over the chessboard only three times — during the U.S.S.R. national championships in 1951 and 1954, and during the international tournament at Budapest in 1952. All games ended in draws.

The winning prize, under rules of the International Chess Federation, is the local equivalent of 10,000 Swiss francs ($2,300.)

The loser gets the equivalent of 6,000 Swiss francs ($1,300.)

QUICK AND HEALTHY

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Modern "convenience" foods are just as healthful as those dishes that grandma used to make, an Oklahoma State University dietitian says.

Miss Mary Currier tested such modern processed foods as dried meats and milk and dehydrated soup. She found that her test animals, white rats, thrived on the food.

"This should make homemakers feel more secure about using time and work saving prepared foods," she said.

Russan Chess Masters Train for Big Event

By REINHOLD ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP) — How does one get ready to do battle for the world chess crown?

The defending champion is out skiing. His challenger is training by playing table tennis and billiards.

But, like many other things in the Soviet Union, their full preparations are veiled somewhat by the traditional Russian love for secrecy. Both of the prospective players are Soviet citizens — champion Mikhail Botvinnik and challenger Tigran Petrosyan—and both are living in secluded dachas near Moscow.

A request for information about their preparations was duly submitted to the Soviet government. Finally, permission was granted for an interview with Lev Abramov, deputy chairman of the Soviet Chess Federation, who hastened to announce:

"We don't know exactly what they are doing, because that is their secret.

"However, quite by accident, I happen to know that Botvinnik has been doing a lot of skiing, even during the worst cold weather. He didn't miss a day.

"And Petrosyan, I understand, has been playing table tennis and billiards.

Abramov said oth men are also running through practice chess games with close friends; Botvinnik with Semyon Furman and Petrosyan with Issac Boleslavsky.

The first game of the world championship match is to be played March 23, on the stage of the Estrada Variety Theater, across the river from the Kremlin. The silent battle of wits is expected to last at least two months, until the latter part of May.

There will be 24 games, and they will be played on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Adjournments will be played off on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

The theater is the same one in which Botvinnik recaptured the world chess title from Mikhail Tal of the U.S.S.R. at the last match in 1961.

Abramov said the theater, which normally shelters some of the best variety shows in town, was chosen because it has a good ventilation system and the temperature can be kept at a constant, comfortable level.

The two referees will also be the same as last time: Gideon Stahlberg, Swedish grandmaster, and Harry Golombek, an international master from Britain. They, too, were chosen because they are not likely to upset the players.

"Both Stahlberg and Golmobek are very quiet and not at all nervous," Abramov commented. "They are also very objective, and there wasn't a single incident at the last tournament."

The theater seats 1,300 persons because Russians love chess, at least 1,000 of the seats are generally occupied. During crucial matches, hundreds are turned away.

Although the spectators become excited during the play, they are kept under control. If the murmuring comment rises too high, an official immediately appears on stage and holds up a sign reading: "Quiet."

The players do not look at the audience, and seldom at each other. During the last championship match, nerves were stretched so tight that Tal smoked on stage —something he had not done before —and Botvinnik drank coffee.

Since Botvinnik is considered one of the steadiest players in the business, the coffee raised a number of eyebrows. Referee Golombk was moved to a mild comment: "Botvinnik used to show up with some sort of rasperry juice."

Botvinnik won, but this time many Moscow chess experts are not certain he will do it again.

Abramov reports the odds are about 55 to 45, in favor of Petrosyan. This, Abramov said, results from the fact that Botvinik is aging. He is 51, whereas Petrosyan is only 33.

"No one," said Abramov, "has any doubts that Botvinnik's experience and understanding is not surpassed by anybody. But chess is a strenuous port."

Botvinnik has been written off before, most notably during the last tournament, when the 24-year-old Tal cockily felt certain he could keep the crown he had snatched from Botvinnik only the year before.

Botvinnik ignored the speculation, hunched his shoulders over the board and laid out his moves like an electrical engineer lays out circuits. This was easy, since Botvinnik happens to be an outstanding electrical engineer.

He has even written a book on electrical matters, called: "How excitation control affects the stability of the synchronous motor."

Born in Leningrad of Jewish parents, Botvinnik won the title of chess master at the age of 16, and was a grandmaster at 24. He captured the world title in 1948.

Petrosyan, an Armenian, is a relative newcomer to international chess. He became Moscow champion at the age of 20, and held the Soviet national title twice — in 1959 and 1961. He earned the right to play Botvinnik during last year's preliminaries in Curacao, and with a resulting playoff against Paul Kerés of the U.S.S.R.

Chess is Petrosyan's whole world. His profession is chess journalism.

Botvinnik and Petroshan have met officially over the chessboard only three times — during the U.S.S.R. national championships in 1951 and 1954, and during the international tournament at Budapest in 1952. All games ended in draws.

The winning prize, under rules of the International Chess Federation, is the local equivalent of 10,000 Swiss francs ($2,300.)

The loser gets the equivalent of 6,000 Swiss francs ($1,300.)

QUICK AND HEALTHY

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Modern "convenience" foods are just as healthful as those dishes that grandma used to make, an Oklahoma State University dietitian says.

Miss Mary Currier tested such modern processed foods as dried meats and milk and dehydrated soup. She found that her test animals, white rats, thrived on the food.

"This should make homemakers feel more secure about using time and work saving prepared foods," she said.
